NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Labor Reform Party.

CONCORD, N. H.—The labor reform party have opened the campaign in the State; they claim to be able to throw the election of Governor into the Legislature and to elect enough members to defeat the election of United States Senators next June.

WASHINGTON.

Military changes—Increase of Internal Revenue.

WASHINGTON.—The Secretary of the Interior has decided that where an invalid pensioner dies without filing his claim for arrears, the right belongs to his heirs. The following are among the assignments of the Pacific, by order of the President: Gen. Kelton, from Washington to the Pacific; Gen. Williams, from Washington to Virginia; Gen. Brock, from Washington to Missouri; Major Curtis, to the Pacific; Major Swaine to the Department of Missouri; General Robert Allen, from the Pacific to Washington; Gen. Tavis, from Missouri to relieve Gen. Allen on the Pacific; Gen. Elliot, from Washington to the Department of Texas; Gen. Percy from Washington to the Pacific; Gen. Dana, from Washington to the Pacific; Gen. Myers, from the Pacific to Washington; Captain Thomas, from Washington to Dakota; Col. Dabary from Washington to Missouri.

Washington specials say that both the nominations of Judge Strong and Bradley will meet strong opposition in the Senate.

The House Pacific Railroad Committee have agreed to report a bill authorizing the Northern Pacific Railroad Company to issue bonds to be secured by the lands of the said company, and to change their western terminus from Puget Sound to the Columbia River.

The following have been relieved by Major McClure: Surgeon Morris of Washington to Dakota; Surgeon Gray, of Dakota to Washington; Assistant Surgeon Billinger, from Washington to the Pacific; General Potter, from Washington to New Mexico; Major Steinberg, from the Department of the East to Dakota; Major Rogers, from New Mexico to Washington; Major Hodges, from Washington to Louisiana; Major Hamlin, from Dakota to the Lakes; Major Meyer, from the Department of the East to the Department of Columbia; Major Mears, from the Department of Columbia to Cumberland; General Humphreys is assigned as a member of the light-house board. Vice Dulles relieved; General Balford has also been assigned to the light-house board, vice Bache, relieved.

Supervisor Man reports to the commissioner of internal revenue that during January last, the receipts show an increase of a hundred percent over the same month last year.

MISSOURI.

Partial Woman Suffrage.

St. Louis.—In the House yesterday, a proposition to pay the interest on the State debt in gold, after July 1st, was rejected, 82 to 72. The general school law was amended so as to allow all women over twenty-one years old, owning property, to vote on all questions affecting the raising of taxes or for school purposes.

NEW YORK.

Crimes on board ship.—Death of a sporting character.—Relapsing fever.—Travel interrupted.

NEW YORK, 9.—Eight sailors, belonging to the crew of the ship Neptune, which arrived from Liverpool last Saturday, preferred a charge against the captain and two mates, who, it is said, have perpetrated the most atrocious outrages. Their statements read like a page out of the history of the black-hole of Calcutta. The complainants are natives of different nations; two are Americans; but there is no evidence of malice or collusion on their part.

Matt. Green, a well-known sporting character and a Republican politician, who kept an opera saloon in this city, died yesterday.

One hundred and fifty cases of the relapsing fever, are reported now in the city.

The Body of Lieut. Gen. Windham, late commander of British America, arrived from Havana on the way to England for burial.

Travel was interrupted by the storm yesterday, and still continues; trains are all behind time at every point.

OHIO.

A Wretch Arrested.

CINCINNATI.—Valentine Klien has been arrested on a charge of murdering his own child, seven months old. The testimony before the coroner shows that Klien came home drunk and his wife asked him for money to buy bread for supper. Klien was enraged and took a pot of boiling coffee and poured it over the face and breast of the child.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Speech and the Lords.—John Bright ill.—A Harbor destroyed by a Hurricane.—The policy of the Government discussed in the Commons.

LONDON, 8.—After reading the Queen's speech in the House of Lords, the Marquis of Hainley moved an address to the Queen. The address referred almost solely to the Irish question. An appeal was made to the House of Lords to treat the question generously and justly so as to content the tenants and give peace and prosperity to the people. The Lord Chancellor said he regretted the absence of the Queen; and hoped she would soon be well. He said the relations of Great Britain with foreign powers were satisfactory. It was unfortunate that the Queen's speech made no allusion to affairs in the colonies; he also regretted the absence of any reference to the distress prevailing in the country. It would have been well to have told the sufferers that their case was understood and sympathy was felt for them. The reference to national education was commendable, but he was surprised to see Scotland and Ireland left out of the scheme.

Earl Granville congratulated Lord Cairns on his resignation of the leadership of his party in the House of Lords. He proceeded to vindicate the policy of the government towards Ireland, which he said was already producing the best effect.

Earl Grey feared the action of the last session persuaded the Irish that the House was intimidated; nothing was now left but vigor in maintaining order.

The Duke of Marlborough deprecated any forbearance; through the remedial measures of the government visionary hopes were rampant.

Lord Monck replied to Earl Grey, quoting the speech made by him in '45, in which he expressed a preference for remedial to coercive measures. Lord Monck thought the ministerial plan an effective one. The debate closed and the address was agreed upon.

Lord Redway was elected Chairman of the Committee of the House of Lords.

John Bright, III; he has been forbidden, by his physician, to attend parliament.

Wick harbor has been destroyed by a hurricane.

In the Commons many new members were sworn in. A new writ of election for Dublin University was issued. Gladstone was cheered upon entering the Chamber. He gave notice that he should vote for the expulsion of the member from Tipperary, because he was serving a term of penal servitude, and his seat was consequently vacant. Notices were given of the introduction of the Irish land bill, the education bill and a bill for the repeal of the minority clause of the reform bill.

Captain Francis Edgerton moved a reply to the Queen's speech. He said the programme was most satisfactory. The royal speech was marked with care and ability. The measures promised were sure to be framed with care and prudence, and he was confident they would have the approval and support of the house. Chas. Wentworth Tillman seconded the motion and declared that the programme of the government was the most elaborate ever laid before the house. The country required that they should carry the measures proposed, including the abolition of university tests. He hoped for legislation also, on trades unions and several other questions. He was confident of justice and fairness on the part of the ministers in all things.

Disraeli rose and was heartily cheered. He thought that discussion on important topics at such a moment was untimely, he would only refer briefly to Ireland. The Government had tardily admitted that the state of that country was unsatisfactory, and such as made reform a contingent in future laws. Ireland was full of disaffection and murder. Irish juries were now inadmissible; the loyalists were depressed and insulted and Catholic priests heartily supported by the government. Agitation was made desperate by the Whig policy; Fenian influence, which originated in America, and had been checked by the Marquis of Abercorn when Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, was now reviving; the land tenure still remained unchanged, therefore we could not be held responsible for the troubles there, unless Ireland had gone mad; she certainly cherished hopes, the suggestions of the Government, which it would be unreasonable to realize.

Gladstone replied. He admitted the difficulty of the position; their opponent admitted the gravity of the situation, to remedy which, the present, said he, may be our last opportunity. He complimented Disraeli on the moderation of his government. This government, he added, desired to try further remedies. He asserted that the tone of Disraeli's speech indicated no wish to prevent extremes and a craving for coercion. He eulogized the Catholic clergy in Ireland for their loyalty and good sense. The present government, he declared, was misunderstood in Ireland. He then proceeded to answer, verbatim, the charges made by Disraeli.

After speeches from some of the new members the session closed.

FRANCE.

Tranquillity Restored.—More Disturbances Quelled and quiet Restored.—Factions of the Right in Paris.

PARIS, 8. Midnight.—Tranquillity is restored in all the districts where the disturbances occurred last night, and the city remains quiet.

PARIS, 9.—Disorder has broken out again at Belleville and the Rue du Faubourg Du Temple. This point is fully a mile or so distant from the scene of disturbance yesterday; many additional arrests have been made. Gustave Flourens, the leader of the disturbances, is still at large, though the authorities are making every effort to arrest him.

Later, 3 p. m. The police and military have the rioters under control, and the city is tranquil. At midnight several additional barricades had been erected in the narrow streets; the troops are still in the neighborhood of the scene, but up to this hour they have not fired on the rioters. The police are active and there are rumors of killed and wounded on the Boulevard Montmartre and of the police having made several charges on the position of the rioters.

The morning journals have the following details of the disturbance last night: There had been much excitement among the people during the day, which culminated about midnight in new outbreaks; these were not confined to one locality, nor were they on the scene of those suppressed yesterday at Laflite and Belleville, but were nearer the centre of the city, only a few squares from the Palais Royal. New and stronger barricades were thrown up and tenaciously defended; the police at last charged several of these but they were quickly driven off. The military forces were then brought into requisition and carried all the barricades without firing on the crowds. There seems to be an indisposition on the part of both troops and rioters to resort to the use of firearms. A strong detachment of police has been placed on all the boulevards, with orders to forcibly disperse all crowds. Hundreds of rioters have been arrested, and several wounded, mainly in conflicts with the police; it is reported that some are killed. The Marseillaise will not appear to-day, all its editors being under arrest for aiding the rioters. One of the editors of the Raphael is also arrested for the same offence. The city is now tranquil.
