Notorious Utah Convict Shot.

James Armstrong, Alias James Young, Shot While Attempting to Escape From Canon City-He Will Die-Led the Prisoners-Captured Warden's Wife-Dynamited Front Gate-Convict Keykendall Killed Outright.

Canon City, Colo., June 22,-The courage of Warden John C. Cleghorn and his guards today suppressed the most desperate revolt that has ever occurred at the Colorado penitentiary. For a time the maddened convicts swept away all opposition and a wholesale jall delivery seemed inevitable, but the warden railled the panicstricken guards, shot down the ringleaders of the mutineers un daverted the catastrophe.

The revolt had been carefully plan-ned. The signal for the attack upon the guards was given at 8:15 this morn-ing while some of the convicts were at work in the washhouse. There were only a few overseers present and they were quickly overpowered. Headed by James Armstrong the mutineers, six in number, started for the main gate, felling every guard who attempted to interfere with their progress.

Mrs. Cleghorn, the wife of the war-den, appeared when the gang was within a few feet of the gate. She was roughly seized by Armstrong and forced along in front of the maddened prison-breakers. The main gate was locked but dynamite was quickly produced and the structure was blown up. The convicts rushed through the opening to freedom. They were forced to carry Mrs. Cleghorn, who had fainted. News of the revolt had been carried to Warden Cleghorn and he rallied the guards and manned the walls. "Keep cool, boys,' 'he shouted, 'and shoot to kill, but do not injure my The guards followed instructions, and while some remained on the wails others rushed through the gates to head off the fleeing convicts, who abandon-

THE POPE HOLDS A CONSISTORY

Rome, June 22.-The consistory was specially important owing to the persistent rumors regarding the pope's Ill health and the previous postponements. Naturally a ceremony in which the pope, half hidden in vestments, is borne on a chair and is continually assisted, is not the best epportunity to judge of his appearance or the state of his health, but a man capable of undergoing the strain of such a function has plenty of vitality. The pontiff's features seemed slightly more clear cut and his hands trembled perceptibly, but his voice is plainly heard, though it has lost something of its power. The ceremony was shortened as much so possible and only lasted about 15 before the pope's appearance and they assembled in the consistory hall in order of precedence, and formed a strikpicture. The entrance of the pope, clad in white vestments and surround ed by his trusted compan on in their red robes, gave a finishing touch to the scene. # Invited Out, Was Westervelt

Sensation Caused in Grand Jury Room by Charge of Embezzlement Against the County Attorney, Made by Former Justice of the Peace Kroeger-What Westervelt Has to Say of It.

Gustave Kroeger, former justice of , against him, and which was dismissed the peace, appeared before the grand ury this morning and made charges of embezzlement against County Attor. ney Westervelt. When Mr. Kroeger enered the grand jury room to tell his tory, County Attorney Westervelt, the has charge of the jury, was asked retire from the room. He did so and emained in the main council chamber buring the time Mr. Kroeger was in the ury room, which was only about 20

The charge as made by the former ustice of the peace is that Mr. Wes-100 from a client for one C. W. Miles and that when Mr. Miles called for the money, Mr. Westervelt, it is said, told him that the draft had been lost. Miles made another call and, according to the story told, he was again informed that the draft had not been recovered, but Mr. Westervelt gave him a check for $20, which was later protested at the bank. Miles kept calling for the money until it was finally settled up by Mr.

Westervelt. In speaking of the matter this afterioon Mr. Westervelt said that there was absolutely nothing to the charge at all and intimated that Mr. Kroeger had probably been seeking an opportunity to settle up a grudge which he held because of a criminal prosecution recently instituted by the county attorney by the committing magistrate. In regard to the facts connected with the embezzlement story related by Mr. Kroeger to the grand jury this morning. Mr. Westervelt said: "A client of mine. Mr. Heickes sent me $100 to pay to Mr. Miles when he should dismiss a certain suit which he had filed against "Engineering and Mining Journal," of which Mr. Heickes was proprietor. Miles failed to dismiss the sult so I refrused to give him the money and did not give it to him until the suit was dismissed. He came to me once for the money and said he was hard up so I gave him a check for $20 but did not pay him the balance until the suit was dismissed."

Mr. Kroeger was evidently very much pleased with his reception by th grand jury, as he stated when he came out of the jury room that he had given the jurors "food for serious reflections." It is stated that the charge against Mr Westervelt was first brought to the attention of a county official during the last campaign before Mr. Westervelt was elected to office, but that the official refused to take any action in the matter whatever.

The other witnesses who appeared before the jury this morning are Stephen D. Coulburn, Peter Lochrie and Francis G. Luke. They were all exam-I ined in connection with the Luke case.

ON THE RAMPAGE.

Desperate Hack Driver Taken in Tow After a Lively Chase.

A hack driver known about town as 'Red" Gallagher, ran amuck late Satarday afternoon, beginning at the Orecon Short Line depot, and created a reign of terror before he was finally anded in the county jail. It is alleged that Gallagher violated the ordinance in relation to where hacks should stand. Officer Gillespie ordered him to move on and he refused, Gillespic then placed Gallager under arrest and mounted the box of the hack to ride to the station with his prisoner. At Second West and South Temple, Gallagher pushed Gillespie from the box and two wheels of the carriage passed over his body before the officer realized what had happened. Gillespie jumped to his feet and rawing his revolver ordered Galiagher o stop. The latter paid no attention to he commands, but began to whip his orses into a run. Glilespie tried to fire but the gun refused to work. Gli-lespie then burried to headquarters nd secured assistance.

In the meantime Gallagher had se-
