Those Fighting on the Rate Bill Are Veterans and Are Determined.

OKLAHOMA IS DEMOCRATIC.

on of Committee, Senators ad a Difficult Time in Finding A Bible.

Special Correspondence. Washington, Feb. 21 .- "They are not dealing with babes," is a remark heard bout the senate, reference being made o Senators Elkins, Aldrich, Kean, Foraker and Crane, the Republican members of the interstate commerce committee, who differed with Senators polliver and Clapp on the railroad rate bill. "Dolliver and Clapp are more than seven years old," was the response of a man who has been watching the entest between these opposition forces. Both sides acknowledged that an exceedingly hard contest is on between the contending factions. They may seem to agree at times, but it is well known that the actual differences be-tween them are irreconcilable and that they cannot move in the same grooves. It is a battle of brains, and that is the of a contest that is enjoyed in Capitol

WILL BE DEMOCRATIC

There seems to be not the slightest There seems to be not the slightest question that the new state of Okla-homa, if it ever gets in, will be Demo-eratic. Oklahoma Territory now has a Republican delegate, but he is elected by the western portion of the proposed new state, while Indian Territory does not vote. This eastern, or Indian, country has been peopled by white men from the south almost exclusively, and they are naturally Democrats. In fact, Oklahoma alone has a very strong Democratic population, as Del-erate McGuire received 51,454 votes and his opponent 49,555 votes. The margin was not very wide, considering margin was not very wide, considering the large vote cast.

The Cycle included 10 numbers, and the "Lovers Emblems" number was received with such special favor, that it had to be repeated. The plano accompanying of Miss Judith Evans was very creditable. This was the first appearance of Miss Berkhoel since her return from the east, and she seemed to have profitted in and she seemed to have profitted in every way by her trip.

The enormous stone shown in the pleture, weight about forty tons, has been placed in South park, Chicago, by Ossian Guthrie, geologist and glacier expert, as a memorial to his father, Dr. Samuel Guthrie, the discoverer of chloroform. The park commissioners tried their best to decline the honor, but the donor was firm and sent the great rock on a four horse truck to the park, had it unloaded at his own expense and enjoined the objecting park commissioners from disturbing it.

A GIANT SALT BED IN LOWER CALIFORNIA.

The picture shows a great salt bed, a dried up lake, in Lower California which has recently been converted into a salt sea by the mistake of some engineers who were trying to divert the course of the Colorado river. The river did not flow in the direction desired, but instead ran into the salt bed and created a great saline pond. Before the overflow a company engaged in the manufacture of salt obtained it from the bed by plowing the surface.

TAWNEY WONDERED.

Chairman Tawney of the house committee on appropriations is very much inclined to think that the large expenditures for the government are due to lack of system and discipline. The other morning he watched a newsboy in front of the treasury selling papers to the clerks as they entered one door for the day's work. "How many pers do you sell every morning?" asked Tawney. "Four hundred and fifty," responded the boy.

WHAT CLARK WOULD PAINT.

Senator Clark of Montana has loaned to the Corcoran gallery here a large number of his most famous paintings. and in speaking of his collection and love of pictures he said he sometimes wished he had studied art and been a painter. Asked what kind of pictures he would have painted, he re-piled: "Oh, I would have chosen great sub-jects. I would never have painted sheep or peasants: I would have chosen And yet some of his best paintings are of pensants, sheep, cattle pas-toral scenes. It is these subjects that the great artists have chosen rather

During the closing days of the Smoot evestigation some questions came up as to whether there was a Bible in the committee room. After there had been an unsuccessful search Senator Burrows remarked:

We seem to be a little short on Bibles."

"There is one in my committee room," said Senator Dillingham. "Oh yes," put in Senator Knox; "you moved into the room that I had been occupying.

We responded Dillingham, "you took away everything when you left that would be of any use to you."

DIVERSE WESTERN VIEWS.

They were discussing the pure food bill between themselves—Senators Hansbrough of North Dakota and Clark of Wyoming. "I'm for it." said Hansbrough. "I'm not," said Clark. According to the testimony, it is claimed that Clis-sold gave a deed to the property to his wife, Mary E. Clissold, with the under-standing that if she died first the prop-erty was to revert to him, but if he died first the deed should be recorded and thus secure her title to it. She died first, but in some manner the deed was recorded and thereby the title passed to Mrs. Clissold. Her hueband claimed that the deed had been stolen from him and placed on record and he asked to have it set aside and his title to the property quieted. The court found in his favor.

The Master Plumbers' association of this city has again been made defend-ant in a suit in the district court filed by A. T. Lawrence, who alleges that the association has conspired, with the Crane company, to prevent him from purchasing any plumbers' supplies in this city at all and thus endeavoring to drive him out of business. It is alleged in the complaint that Lawrence is a master plumber, but not a member of the association, and be-cause of that the association, which is composed of practically all of the plumbers in the city, entered into an agreement with the Crane company whereby the latter would either refuse to sell any supplies to Lawrence, or to charge him an exorbitant price for any that were sold.

A College Man's Experience. "All through my high school course

"All through my high school course and first year in college," writes an ambitious young man, "I struggled with my studies on a diet of creasy, pasty foods, being especially fond of cakes and fried things. My system got into a state of general disorder and it was doubt for me to annly myself to school dicult for me to apply myself to school work with any degree of satisfaction. I tried different medicines and food prep-arations but did not seem able to cor-rect the difficulty.
