for a federal, Joseph P. Kamp, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said that the bill would not only help the steel industry but also the entire economy. He said that the bill would help the steel industry by providing a market for its products and by helping it to compete with foreign steel. He also said that the bill would help the entire economy by providing a market for steel products and by helping to create jobs. The bill was passed by the House of Representatives on April 17, 1954, and by the Senate on April 22, 1954. It was signed into law by President Dwight D. Eisenhower on April 23, 1954.
