Recruiting to aid the French—Probability of an action between French and German war ships—The money market.

New York, 18.—The excitement over the war news continues. Recruiting offices have already been opened in this city. At an agency on Broome street men are being recruited for an Irish brigade to aid the French. Col. Jas. Kerogan, Col. Billy Wilson, Col. John W. Byron and other noted Irish soldiers are said to be at the head of the movement. On the other hand a number of Germans are about to embark for their fatherland, to take part in the fray. Something sensational will possibly occur in this harbor, for there are in our waters the North German frigate Alcona, of four hundred horse power and twenty-eight guns, and the French frigate Zemaris and the school ship Jean Bart.

A London special to the Herald says the declaration of war by France, although it was expected, creates intense excitement: there was great agitation at the close of 'Change, and during the session of Parliament the lobbies were filled with excited spectators. The action of France is generally condemned. Extra official expressions of the ministry lead to the belief that England peremptorily forbids the occupation of Belgium by France.

The gold room was tolerably quiet today on account of news that England had obtained eight days' cessation of hostilities to mediate. War rumors were received and the price went up again. Money firm and active, 5% S. Exchange firmer and a fraction better. Government bonds have been strong and active, but are now weak. Stocks strong, Central Pacific mortgages 87 1/2 87 1/2; Unions 82 1/2 83.

Chinese warned not to come

SAN FRANCISCO, 18.—A meeting of the Laborers' Association last night organized an Anti-Chinese Convention and instructed the President to inform the six Chinese companies that it is considered unsafe for Chinamen to come to the United States, requesting them to notify the authorities of the Chinese empire.

Fire shot—Arrested on a charge of murder.

HELENA, MT., 18.—A large fire occurred yesterday at one o'clock p.m. It started in a mustang stable, owned by Baker & Seiguer, destroying that building and the adjoining shops and fences. A high wind was blowing at the time. One small building was torn down to prevent the flames spreading to the adjacent houses, which at one time was greatly feared. Loss about $3,500; no insurance. It is unknown how the fire originated.

A report has been received that a man named Jones was shot and instantly killed, at Henderson Gulch, by a man named Wilson, in a dispute over the ownership of horses.

A private letter brings an account of the arrest of three men at Louisville, on a charge of murdering a man near Sparrow Bridge, on the road from Walla Walla to Montana.

Declaration of the Minister to the Senate—Full Supplies Voted—New Developments—Mollard and Belgium Involved—The War Fever Raging—Interesting Proceedings in the Chambers—The Emperor Going to the Field.

PARIS.—The following is a copy of the declaration made by the Duke de Grammont before the Senate to-day: "Messieurs:—The manner in which the country received our declaration of the 6th of July led us to commence negotiations with Prussia to secure her recognition of the validity of our grievances. We did not treat with Spain, whose independence we have no wish to trample upon; nor with the Prince Hohenzollern, whom we consider to be under the shadow of the King of Prussia; nor have we advanced any other of France than that of the candidacy of the Prince for the Spanish throne. The Prussian minister for foreign affairs opposed to us a determination not to receive our Representative, pretending to ignore the affair. We then addressed ourselves to the King, who maintained that he was a stranger to the affair and that he could not intervene except as the head of the family; but he avowed that he had instructed Bismarck. We could not accept that answer, and we demanded that the King should influence the Prince Hohenzollern. We also demanded that the King should give a promise for the future. This moderate demand, made in moderate terms, we declared to be without a reservation. The King declined to say that he would refuse in future to interfere with the candidature, and he refused to authorize us to transmit to you the declaration that he would in future oppose the candidature. He declared that he reserved to himself the right to consider the circumstances. Even after this refusal we did not break off negotiations, but adjourned our explanations to you until this date. Yesterday we were apprised that the King of Prussia had notified our Ambassador that he would no longer receive him, and to render the rupture more obvious, he gave notice of his action to the Cabinets of Europe. At the same time he announced that Werther might take his leave, and that the armaments of Prussia had commenced. On our part, we yesterday called out the reserves and we have taken such other measures as the interest and honor of the country demanded."

A copy of this declaration has been presented to the Corps Legislatif by the Keeper of the Seal. The government asks a vote of supplies and the call to arms of all classes of the military service. The Corps Legislatif has voted the extreme demands, the Left voting in the negative.

The morning journals say that eight days ago Bismarck wrote to Werther to make no concessions to France.

Holland and Belgium have become involved in the war.

The Prussian fleet, of Prince Edeler, which has lately been in these waters, sailed for Kiel to-day.

The proceedings in the Chambers yesterday on the question of the war were interesting and important. In the Corps Legislatif Thiers, in a long speech, pronounced against the declaration of war by the government. He found he said that after all that was said that France had received satisfaction from Prussia, and war should not be made on her for a mere formality.

The prime minister, Ollivier, replied to Thiers and said that it was impossible for the government to do otherwise than it had done. Thiers again took the floor. He recalled Lexicon and Sadova, and said the government had made a new blunder. The majority interrupted the speaker, but he proceeded and said the greatest agitation.

When silence was blowing in Gambetta demanded that all the correspondence that had been had with Prussia should be laid before the Corps Legislatif.

Jules Favre seconded the motion in a long speech, asserting that France could not make a war on telegraph dispatches. The minister of foreign affairs replied that it was necessary to make war and to do so immediately, in order to give Prussia no time to arm.

If any other course was pursued he could no longer remain in the ministry. The question was then put to the vote; the demand for the correspondence was rejected 164 against 84. The Corps then adjourned till eight o'clock in the evening. On reassembling the following projects of law were brought forward: First, to call the garde mobile into active service. Second, to authorize the enlistment of volunteers for the term of the war; and third, to issue a demand for a loan of fifty millions of francs in aid of the army, and sixteen millions in aid of the navy. After a short debate all these propositions were carried by the following vote: for 246 against 10.

In the Senate yesterday after the Duke of Grammont had finished his declaration, Rouher asked if any Senator wished to speak. Loud cries of "no," "no" followed. M. Rouher then said, "as president of the senate I will state that the senate, responding for the nation, approves of the conduct of the government. We must place our hopes in providence and rely upon our courage for the triumph of our rights. He sat down amid the murmurs of the majority.

The Emperor is expected to lead the army in person and by a series of rapid movements to arrive at the Rhine before Prussia has completed her defenses.

The pupils of the second year at the military school at Saint Cyr, have been ordered to join the army with the rank of sub-lieutenants. The Emperor's attendants, last evening, received orders to depart for the seat of war forthwith. Steamers have been despatched to Algeria to bring home the troops now operating against that country. The minister of marine has ordered all vessels not useful in time of war, such as the imperial yachts, &c., to be disbanded.

Great popular manifestations in favor of war were made last evening on the streets and the Boulevards. The streets and all public places were crowded to excess till after midnight, and there was much enthusiasm.

The journals assert that the French government, as soon as the result of the vote on the infallibility dogma was known here, ordered a recall of troops from Rome.

The Bourse opened declining, rentes 65. Benedite arrived in this city last night. Coming from Ems instead of Berlin he did not receive his passports. He came to give the Emperor a verbal explanation.

Nothing positive has been ascertained yet concerning the alliance between France and Austria. It is reported again that Austria will remain neutral.

Baron Werther, the North German minister, and all the members of the embassy left Paris yesterday for Berlin. The French squadron in the Mediterranean has been doubled, Admiral De La Groviere in command. There is much activity at the War Department to-day. A large number of sealed orders have been sent in various directions.

Lord Lyons, the English minister, is still endeavoring to get his colleagues here to present a collective request for a congress of European powers to settle the question between France and Prussia.

PRUSSIA.

Extraordinary Enthusiasm in all parts of the country—Ovalons to King William.

BERLIN.—The government is in receipt of telegrams from all quarters assuring it that no sacrifice is too great for Prussians to make in this cause; the enthusiasm is intense and the volunteering extraordinary. Every male Prussian is demanding arms. The government advises that Bremen is a good port of refuge for Prussian vessels.

The King arrived here late last evening from Ems. The entire journey was a complete ovation. At Coblenz he was surrounded by an immense throng, which greeted him with cheers. At length the King came forward and said "I am pleased with this surprise. See to it that you have it as bravely elsewhere." On arriving here the King found fully a hundred thousand people at the station, waiting to escort him to his palace. The route lay through the splendid street "Vint den linden" which was covered with flags and grandly illuminated for the occasion. All along the march the crowd shouted and cheered, and sang the national hymns. The King repeatedly came forward and saluted the crowd from the palace windows.

GREAT BRITAIN.
England to help Prussia if necessary—English neutrality improbable.

LONDON.—The Times intimates that the recovery of Olisail and Sorraim, containing the modern provinces of Mosale, Weurth, Meuse and Voges, and the upper Rhine and lower Rhine are the real objects of the war on the part of Prussia, and in that she has the sympathies of all mankind. The Times hints that English intervention is probable in case of the Prussians losing strength.

LIVERPOOL.—There is much excitement in the markets here: breadstuffs are rapidly advancing.

LONDON.—The neutrality of England will be difficult and perhaps impossible.

THE "WORLD" MOWER & REAPER

E. BALL & COMPANY,
Manufacturers,
CANTON, OHIO.

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It Mows—It Drops—It Self-Rakes.

PRICES REDUCED TO A GOLD BASIS.

This machine is the harvest gathering of twenty years experience in the manufacture of Agricultural Machinery, and takes rank with the Printing Press, Engine Lathe and Locomotive in the qualities of precision, stanchness and durability.

Its foundation is a single piece of solid iron, of shape to resist all possible strains. It is geared in shape to standard gauge and each cut out of solid iron with mathematical exactness.

The working parts are permanently fixed and fully protected from water, dust, grass, and all other external causes of disturbance.

By these means we reduce friction to the lowest point—stop the self-destruction common to all rough cast machines—avoid breakages in harvest—secure easy draft and the same durability which pertains to cut gear in other kinds of machinery. The World has been tested four years in the hands of the most intelligent and reliable farmers in the land, who unite in declaring that, comparatively,

"THERE IS NO OTHER HARVESTER."
