LONDON, 8 .- Lieutenant General Sir James Pope Grant died yester-

In your evening issue of March 2d appears an article headed, "Dis-graceful," from which it appears that a Mr. Clark and his son were insulted and mistreated, while pas-sing through Mill Creek Ward, by three drunken rowdies. Sir James Pope Grant died yester-day, aged 67. The archbishops of Canterbury and York, and all the bishops ex-cept two have issued a pastoral, congratulating the clergy and laity on the presperity and progress of the church, and strongly admonish-ing the former against alleged ritualistic practices, causing the isolation of the clergy from the people. In answer, allow me to say, through your columns, that we have made inquiry concerning the affair, and find that the perpetrators of the outrage are not me of the Ward, consequently cannot be handled by the Bishop. If they could be, rest assured, that Bishop Miller would feel after them sharply, so far as their church fellowship is concerned. But if Mr. Clark
