Auditing Committee Makes Flattering Report of Condition of Books of County Offices.

COUNCIL VS. THE RAILROADS.

Ordinance Before Solons Regulating Traffic on Streets—Damage and Other Suits in District Court.

Ogden, May 7.—The Weber county commissioners at their regular session yesterday received the following flattering report from the auditing committee appointed some time ago to go over the books of the various county offices:

"To the Hon. Board of County Commissioners of Weber County, Utah, Gentlemen:—Your committee, to whom was referred the auditing of the various county offices, records of chapter 122, subdivision 4, pursuant to laws of Utah, 1903, begs leave to report that I have carefully checked each item contained in the fee books and the monthly statements of fees of the county clerk and auditor's office from Jan. 1, 1905, to May 1, 1907, the county treasurer's office from March 1, 1905, to May 1, 1907, the county recorder's office from July 1, 1906, to May 1, 1907, the county sheriff's office from July 1, 1906, to May 1, 1907, and find that all money received by the county has been properly accounted for and turned into the county treasury, up to and including the quarter ending Feb. 28, 1907.

Great credit is due the above named officers for the accuracy and neatness that characterizes the books and accounts referred to.

Respectfully submitted,

"O. B. MADSON,
Chairman Board County Commissioners and Auditing Committee."

The board confirmed the appointment of John M. Grow of Huntsville as fish and game warden for the county. His appointment was made by the state game warden, but had to be confirmed by the county board before he could take the oath of office.

The appointment was made of the following road supervisors to look after the driving of sheep through the various canyons and to assess the damages done to the public highways by their being driven over the same. For Ogden and South Fork canyons, Andrew Allen; Weber canyon, William Bybee; North Ogden canyon, George Randall. The bids for building and plumbing work on the addition to courthouse were let to G. A. Whittemyer for the building work, $965; Louis Zitzman for the plumbing.

County Surveyor H. J. Craven submitted plans and specifications for the proposed new bridge over the Weber river at Utah, which were approved by the board, but as Davis county is equally responsible for the new bridge, the commissioners of that county will also have to pass on them.

Permission was granted the state industrial school to lay a watermain from its spring and reservoir along

COUNCIL VS. THE RAILROADS.

Ordinance Regulating Traffic on the Streets Passes First Reading.

Ogden, May 7.—At the meeting of the city council last night, an ordinance regulating railroad traffic over the streets and street crossings of the city passed its first reading, and was referred to the street committee. The ordinance was apparently created to force the management of the railroads from their selfish attitude with regard to the crossing of the city streets. It provides that trains shall stop on crossings only when compelled to do so, switching, to load or unload passengers or freight, and then only for a period of two minutes. It also provides that the railroad companies be prevented from building tracks, switches or spurs across the streets without permission from the city council.

The mayor vetoed a resolution providing for improvements on Twenty-sixth street between Washington and Jefferson avenues, on account of indifferences as to the amount of work to be done as well as the cost. The resolution was passed over the veto.

The mayor presented a bill for $25 for consulting an attorney with regard to the legality of the water franchise recently passed. Some of the councilmen censured the mayor for this expenditure, maintaining that this was the city attorney's work. The bill, however, was allowed.

DISTRICT COURT BUSINESS.

$25,000 Damage Suit for Death of J. W. Morgan—Other Suits.

Ogden, May 7.—A $25,000 damage suit has been filed in the Second District court against the Southern Pacific company by David Morgan and Agnes Morgan, father and mother of J. W. Morgan, the young car cleaner who on April 4 was caught between the vestibule of two cars in the Union depot yards in this city and instantly killed. The complaint sets forth that on the day mentioned a Southern Pacific engine without any warning backed into the cars between which young Morgan was standing and caught his head, crushing it, and he fell to the ground dead. Negligence on the part of the defendant is claimed.

Two causes of action have been filed in the district court by L. B. Smith and T. E. Tait against the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Wabash railroads. The complaints allege that on Sept. 30, 1906, the plaintiffs loaded at Colby, Nevada, 88 head of horses and 19 colts in an shipment to the market at St. Louis and at another shipment 115 colts. That the railroad companies provided unsafe cars which became slippery, and the horses were not properly secured in the cars, as a result a number of the animals suffered broken legs and others died and had lost in flesh, all to the damage of plaintiffs in the sum of $2,375, for which amount judgment is asked. The action brought by the Utah Light & Railway company against J. H. Bennett was dismissed at the request of the plaintiff by stipulation. This suit was brought to compel Bennett to deed to the plaintiff the piece of land located on the corner of Twenty-third street and Moffat's lane, purchased by plaintiff from an agent of defendant for a site for sub station. But after the sale was made the price did not suit defendant and he declined to sign the papers.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

A divorce suit has been filed in the district court by Kathryn C. Shurtliff against William J. Shurtliff. The allegations of the complaint are that they were married at Weber, Idaho, Nov. 3, 1905, that the following October defendant without cause deserted his wife and has ever since failed to provide for her. A decree of divorce, alimony and costs of suit are prayed for.

CARPENTERS ON STRIKE.

Want Weekly Half Holiday and Increase of Wages.

Ogden, May 7.—The carpenters employed to do the reconstruction work on the First National bank interior, went out on a strike yesterday because of a disagreement between the management and those doing the work. The carpenters throughout the city have demanded an increase of wages from $10 per day of eight hours work to $14.00 with Saturday afternoons off. To these wages an agreement could not be immediately passed upon, hence the walk out. There is so much building going on in Ogden at the present time that carpenters as well as the other classes of mechanics can get about any wage they demand, as well as other concessions.

County Assessor Personally Attended To Work of Assessment.

Special Correspondence.

Richfield, May 1.—The county commissioners held a special session last night to consider a list of property that had been sold to the county for delinquent taxes and which the law provides shall be sold at public auction by the county clerk. Several redempptions were permitted and a number of errors corrected.

The corporation takes over the entire business of the firm of Thomas Ogden & Sons who have been doing a general merchandise business.

The assessment of Sevier county has just been completed. All of the work outside of the office has been done by the assessor personally so that this year the people will not have so much cause for complaint on the ground that they have not been visited by the assessor.

PARADISE.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Thrilling Experience of John P. James In Little Bear River.

Special Correspondence.

Paradise, Utah, May 2.—Last Tuesday, April 30—John P. James had a very narrow escape from drowning. Mr. James' farm is situated about one and one-half miles south of town on both sides of Little Bear river. Mr. James attempted to cross with his team, wagon, a disc harrow, and about eight bushels of wheat. When he got into the stream, one of the horses stopped, and the whole outfit was washed down the stream. In a short time the team and wagon went out of sight into a deep hole. Mr. James swam and floated down the stream, being washed under several times, but providentially came up on the bank where he started in, about 40 rods below.

Mr. James' son William, a young man about 20, was on horseback and witnessed the accident. He crossed the river and rode down stream thinking to help rescue his father on the farther side, but, as stated above, his father came out on this side. The horses were drowned and the wagon, etc., submerged. Part of the wheat and horses were gotten out, the harrow and wheat are still in the stream. This is quite a loss to Mr. James. The horses were worth $300 and a short time ago, Mr. James lost a fine mare and colt worth $200.

The stream is much lower than it was two or three weeks ago, but higher now than it usually is at this time of the year on the ground, but the air is much warmer than yesterday.

The past few days the weather has been rather cold, retarding the growth of vegetation. This morning snow lay on the ground, but the air is much warmer than yesterday.

ARITHMETIC AND FOOD

School Children Must Be Well Fed.

A young girl in Newport says no one has a better right to speak of Grape-Nuts food than she.

"I was in school, but in poor health, until Mama began to give me Grape-Nuts food. I began to improve at once, both mentally and physically, and I improved so in my work at school that I got 100 in arithmetic and during that time I gained 3 or 4 pounds in weight and am still gaining."

"There is no one who has a right to recommend the food more highly than I do about three weeks, and I began to feel in health so I commenced the use of the food again, and now I don't intend to do without Grape-Nuts."

It is well for parents to know that Grape-Nuts food contains selected elements from the grains, prepared and cooked in such a way as to present these food elements so that they can be quickly digested and assimilated; the phosphate of potash obtained from the field grains, and contained in Grape-Nuts units, with the albumen of food to quickly rebuild the gray matter in the nerve centers and brain.

It is of the greatest importance that growing children and students be given a food that sustains both brain and nerves. "There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.
