FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 17.—Harris denied the truth of Mahone's statement that Tennessee had repudiated $11,000,000 or any other sum of her debt. Porter, of the census bureau, to whom the statement was credited, had in a personal note to him corrected several mistakes in it.

A motion for executive session was lost, 20 to 20.

Johnson was permitted to offer a resolution, which was adopted, asking the attorney-general for certain papers.

Beck argued against the right of the majority to elect officers at an extra session. Democrats would consider the question in December, but he believed Riddleberger would not then be a candidate, the Virginia election being over. Intimated that democrats might then tender as a candidate for sergeant-at-arms a conservative, or republican, between whom and the Confederate repudiator Riddleberger, republicans might choose. He believed, however, that man would be hindered by a republican senator. He gave out that Riddleberger's promises in Virginia would remain unfulfilled. Democrats would oppose him even after December.

AMERICAN.

CAPITAL CHATTER.

WASHINGTON, 18.—It was rumored that the republican senators would hold a caucus this morning to discuss the expediency of taking some steps to break up the deadlock, but the report proved to be unfounded, and Senator Dawes, who has charge of the pending resolution, asserts that no caucus meeting is now in contemplation. He further said, to-day, that he did not think there was any necessity for holding another caucus on the subject, as the republicans have no proposition to offer except that which they have been offering to the democrats so long, namely, to elect officers first and proceed to executive business afterwards. The democrats likewise say they have no proposition to offer, except to go into executive session and transact the accumulated executive business, and thus, according to present appearances, the deadlock stands as firm as ever. There is no doubt, however, that the pressure to set aside the contest for offices and obtain action on some at least of the 300 pending nominations is constantly gaining force and cannot very much longer be resisted. It appears there are several important agencies vacant, and a large amount of government property is left in the hands of persons not under bond, and must remain there unguarded until the Senate confirms the appointments to fill the vacancies. It arises from the fact that under the law an Indian agent does not hold office until his successor takes charge, his official tenure expiring with his term. The acting commissioner of Indian affairs himself has an appointment as chief clerk only.

Some of the republican Senators now express themselves in favor of an executive session for the confirmation of certain nominations, and the general belief seems to be that this policy will be adopted soon, though this conclusion may be reached without the necessity of holding a caucus. No criminal cases can be tried in this district, because there is no United States marshal to serve the processes, and the Indian bureau is embarrassed for want of a legitimate head to direct it.

Some testimony taken in the Christiancy divorce case, to-day, is regarded as important. Mary Alleyer, with whom Senator and Mrs. Christiancy boarded while he was in the Senate, testified that she spent nearly all of Christmas day, 1879, with Mrs. Christiancy at the residence of the latter's father. Mrs. Christiancy was sick and did not leave the house all day. That was the day, it is charged, that Mrs. Christiancy met Giro at the St. James Hotel. Mrs. Alleyer's testimony is considered pretty conclusive, but Christiancy's lawyers will produce testimony to rebut and contradict it.

Ex-congressman Munroe will be nominated minister to Brazil when the deadlock breaks.

Three westerners candidates for speaker of the House—Dunnell, Kasson and Keifer—have arranged to meet here next week and form an offensive and defensive alliance. Kasson is the administration candidate, while Hiscock is Conkling's man.

Beck's Union soldier candidate for sergeant-at-arms is said to be a citizen of Kansas and a republican, but Beck and his friends decline to give his name, saying only that he is a prominent and popular republican. Vest says he will nominate John D. Stevenson, of St. Louis, who was one of Logan's best fighters. Logan says he is game and a true republican.

The National Republican will publish, to-morrow, an interview with Captain Paul, one of the readjusters congressmen from Virginia, in which he takes a stalwart anti-Bourbon position, emphatically declaring the readjusters cannot be intimidated, being at least as good fighters as their opponents. The tone of Captain Paul's interview is in accord with the policy of Mahone and his position in the Senate. It is evident from what Captain Paul says that he and his colleagues from Virginia do not intend to support the democratic candidates until the House is organized, although he does not say in advance what his position will be.

The Denver and New Orleans Railroad.

NEW YORK, 18.—A Reporter recently interviewed ex-Governor John Evans, of Colorado, who said, in regard to the recently organized Denver & New Orleans Railroad, of which company he is president: The company was organized about a month ago, with a capital stock of $10,000,000, and arrangements for the construction of the road are being pushed. Engineers are in the field and when their surveys are reported contracts for building would be let. It was expected to connect the road with the railroads of Texas which were now building up toward the proposed Denver & New Orleans Road, which would almost make an air line from Denver to Galveston, and overland Pacific lines. It would be a very direct line from Denver to New Orleans. In this way Denver would be about as near to Galveston as it is to St. Louis, and as near to New Orleans as to Chicago. The new road would connect the system of roads centering in Denver with all the railroads in Texas and the South. It is expected that the railroad will be built next year and Arkansas will probably be reached this year, where east and west connections will be make with the Atchison & Topeka Railroad. One hundred and fifty miles of steel rails have been already purchased. Evans said that the road was one of the most important lines running out of Denver, going as it would through a great cattle country and having access to coal and the products of the south.

Marine News.

A dispatch says: No fears are felt at the navy yard for the safety of the frigate Constitution. Last fall she sailed from Fortress Monroe for League Island, and meeting with heavy weather, was two weeks making the trip. When she left Delaware breakwater a week ago she was in a seaworthy condition.

A Savannah dispatch says: The steamer W. T. Wheeless, with 5,000 bales of cotton and general freight, was burned to the water's edge. No life lost. The steamer ran between Savannah and Augusta, and was only in service three months. She cost $35,000; insured for $15,000. A warehouse on the wharf containing guano and several hundred tons of cotton seed was also destroyed. The Wheeless drifted to the opposite side of the river, setting fire to two schooners and several tugs.

Anti-Monopoly Success.

The Times says: The success of the anti-monopoly party at the recent municipal election in Jersey was special. It nevertheless has much significance. The city in which this organization had its origin is simply railroad-ridden. It is a railroad centre, and the rights of citizens are not weighed at all when the demands of the corporations are in the question. It is alleged that the Pennsylvania pays no taxes whatever to the Jersey City treasury, while the other railroad corporations contribute only a fraction of what they ought to.

A correspondent says: The growing feeling among the masses, not only in Jersey City, but also throughout the State, is that corporations have gone far enough, and that it is high time to teach them the rights of the people. The feeling is shared by the bulk of the republican party just as much as it is by the anti-monopolists themselves. Undoubtedly this movement will have an influence on the election this fall, and perhaps be on the elections after that.

French Wines.

The Times publishes statistics from the consul's report, showing the extent to which adulterated wines are imported in France, and says there is unquestioned evidence that the deficiency in home products is supplied by millions of gallons of wine had in Spain, Italy, Hungary, Turkey and even in Algiers, brought into France, and thence they are doctored, watered and drugged until it assumes the appearance and taste of the product of French vineyards, and become suited for the markets once honestly supplied. This is the substance of the reports made to the State department by consuls and agents of the United States stationed in France.

THE DELUGE.

MILWAUKEE, 18.—Specials to the Republican from the interior of Wisconsin report an alarming flood at Fon Du Lac. The river is a raging torrent. At 5 p.m., the river was a fearful sight. The water had overflowed the banks and submerged a great many streets. The entire western portion of the city is under water, which is still rising. Families in the Third, Fourth, Sixth and Seventh Wards have been compelled to evacuate their premises, and lumber yards along the river are converted into floating wood yards. The narrow-guage track is under water, and several washouts have already resulted. On the south and western parts washouts are reported. The damage will be immense, and it is useless to estimate it now, as the flood just seems to be coming. Fortunately, none of the city bridges have been washed away. In some localities the streets are being navigated with boats.

A Republican special from Watertown says: Rock River has risen five feet in the past two days, causing a sudden break up of ice, which comes down in large masses. The bridges leading to Oak Hill cemetery and Boughton were both swept away to-day. The river is still rising and threatening much damage.

Specials to the Republican continues to come in from all parts of the state. Rivers all through the southern half of Wisconsin are rising remarkably fast, and trains on all lines are more or less delayed. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul track, between Milwaukee and Chicago, is covered with water in the vicinity of Wadsworth, and trains are delayed on the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western. The tracks in the north are in a flooded condition for miles.

The Kansas Exodus.

BURLINGAME, Ks., 18.—The Chronicle learns from Rev. G. W. Hennig, of the state board, having in charge the care of freedmen coming from the southern states to Kansas, that the board has received, cared for and distributed 100,000 of these people, since the exodus began and been the means of turning 10,000 more into other states. Mr. Hennig also states that the board has done all in its power to check the incoming of colored people from the south, spending much money in the effort but without avail. They are bound to come. They say Kansas was the home of old John Brown. He further said the exodus has begun, and that large numbers of these people are now moving. The board has received tenders from southern commercial centres of the United States to check the exodus, but this, Mr. Henig says, is beyond their power.

Sunday Violators.

CINCINNATI, 18.—Warrants have been issued for the arrests of the proprietors and actors of the Coliseum Theatre, the exhibitors at Robison's Opera, and the opera house proprietors of El Dorado—eleven persons in all—for violation of what is known as Stubbs' Sunday law, which forbids places of amusement being kept open on Sunday. The arrests will be made and prosecutions follow.

Sara's Sister.

PHILADELPHIA, 17.—The talk of the town, to-night, is the departure from the hotel of Jeanne Bernhardt, sister of Sara, with Count De Beaulieu, of the French legation at Washington. As only one section of a sleeping car was engaged by both, club men want to know if this is a double elopement match.

AN EPITOME OF EUROPEAN NEWS.

NEW YORK, 17.—The Tribune's London says: Though the Greeks have accepted the European terms, their ungracious recriminations are said to be very offensive. Their note is regarded as a virtual submission. Certain Vienna telegrams say the Greek acceptance is surrounded with reservations. This is possibly the case, but they are not such as are likely to prove fatal to the maintenance of peace. Several of the Powers are willing to exercise pressure on the Porte to carry out its proposals.

The Tunis difficulty causes friction between Italy, France and England, but Italy will seek her revenge in diplomacy rather than in war. The revelations of Lord Salisbury's policy, his secret assurance to Minister Waddington on the one hand, and to the Boy on the other, compromise seriously that statesman's reputation. Not only do the disclosures again associate him with secret undertakings, of which the Salisbury-Schouvaloff arrangement was the type most offensive to Englishmen, but unless he makes a good explanation they will convict him of actual dishonesty, and will seriously interfere with his chance of the conservative leadership. Though the conservatives are not overburdened with political wisdom, they can appreciate honorable conduct and the limits of statesmanship.

The correspondence between France and Tunis is published. Barthelemy St. Hilaire, French minister of foreign affairs, in a dispatch to Rouslan, dated 6th inst., says: French Generals will give the Tunisian troops notice of the time when strategetic exigencies will lead them to borrow, for their operations, Tunisian territory, either near Lacalle or in Medjerda Valley.

The Indian government has made such strong representations in favor of the retention of Pishin Valley and all posts between Khojak and Quetta; that it is thought the home government will sanction this arrangement, which would be a decided modification of their views in regard to the abandonment of Southern Afghanistan. The news that a compromise is probable has given decided satisfaction in India.

The British war office officials experience some consolation for their own inherent shortcomings in the difficulties which have confronted the French military authorities in dispatching 15,000 troops to Tunis. The mobilization is alarmingly defective.

Criticisms on the land bill increase. One set of critics point out that inasmuch as the tenant's interest must be deducted for the rent as assessed, this arrangement will reduce the value to the landlord one-third. In cases where the estates are encumbered, landlords may be forced to sell out or accept bankruptcy. It is likewise urged as that the commission cannot purchase property until the tenants agree upon the price, the tenants may be in no hurry to decide upon one, knowing that if they let the landlord simmer in his difficulties the estate may pass to them for a mere trifle. Another set of critics consider that competition will arise for the newly-created tenant interest, which is held to be really so much plunder from the landlords. The present tenants are the more likely to sell their interest in the hope of getting ready money. A new race of tenants will then spring up, who will have parted with their working capital in purchasing the preliminary interest. The answer to these objections is obvious, namely, That the equitable powers granted to the land commission are extensive and may cover these cases of supposed injustice. The most serious practical objection to the bill seems to be that it will encourage much litigation. The law journals anticipate that much of the effects of both landlords and tenants will pass to the lawyers.

The irreconciliable attitude of Messrs. Dillon and O'Kelly finds little support among moderate liberals of the Shaw school. The meeting at Belfast expressed approval of the bill. Mr. Parnell and T. P. O'Connor regard the measure as a substantial installment, holding out good prospects for Irish tenants. The second reading is now assured. An obstinate fight is expected in committee, but the bill is certain to pass in the House of Commons. Dillon's followers show no signs of irreconciliable hostility to the broad and most striking feature of the measure.

Mr. Goschen's coming return from Turkey is regarded as the turning point in the eastern question. The fact that Lord Dufferin succeeds him tends to destroy the belief in Lord Ripon's return from India, which was expected in midsummer. As Lord Dufferin is credited with the revision of the viceroyalty, Lord Ripon's early return is now improbable.

The news from Transvaal continues very satisfactory. The maintenance of peace is far from assured Mr. Gladstone, in writing to Mr. Tomkinsons, the liberal candidate for West Cheshire, said the government will adopt no apologetic tone. The Transvaal settlement, he says, was a question of saving England from sheer blood guiltiness.

Mr. Bradlaugh's re-election will occasion a controversy regarding his right to take his seat. The liberal papers are calling on the Speaker to allow Mr. Bradlaugh to take the oath. The dispute regarding his affirmation can only be settled by legislation.

A fierce dispute is raging in the papers respecting Sir Wm. Jenner's refusal to meet Dr. Kidd, because the latter is suspected of treating Lord Beaconsfield homeopathically. Dr. Kidd seems to have been ungraciously treated by the orthodox allopaths, but bore himself well and has the gratification of having pulled Lord Beaconsfield through the worst phases of his sickness.

The new Victoria University at Manchester has decided to grant academical degrees without demanding from students a knowledge of Latin or Greek. This causes a sensation among old pedagogues. The degrees are to be for science and not art.

Ottawa, 18.—A black list is printed by the department of customs and sent to every collector in the Dominion. It contains the name of all United States exporters who have, at any time, given invoices under value. Collectors are directed to pay particular attention to all entries of goods, machinery or merchandise made by suspected parties.

Six political prisoners will be tried at Moscow at the end of April.
