STRAWBERRIES.—Strawberry plants may be set out any time from the middle of August to the first of October. The vigorous growers, such as Wilson's Albany, Hooker's seedling, Tiomphe de Gand, etc., can be safely planted in the fall, and should be put out in hills from two to two and a half feet apart. Such varieties as Hovey's seedling do better put out in the spring, and as they do not require so much room, may be cultivated in beds. No fruit better pays for careful cultivation than the strawberry. The ground should be deeply trenched, well pulverized, and enriched with fine manure; and when the beds are to be planted in the spring, spading the ground in the fall will prove beneficial. In exposed situations the strawberry bed should be lightly covered with straw during winter.—N. Y. Argus.

REPORTED BAND OF DESPERADOES.

A report was circulated in Carson a few weeks since, according to the Age, which seems, from the source from which it was derived, to have been entitled to some credence, that a band of desperadoes existed in the Humboldt country, who were responsible for the murders and depredations of late committed in that region, charged, in the first instance, upon the Indians. The band was said to consist of about two hundred and fifty men, well armed and equipped, and their headquarters were in a small mountain valley in the Humboldt range. The objects of their organization were alleged to be, murder and pillage, the emigrants being their first object, and then the stock on the Overland route is to receive their special attention, after which, they will, if successful in their plans, go east.

Governor Nye, immediately on the receipt of the report, which was said to have been made on the authority of two men who had deserted from the band, took measures to ascertain the truth of the matter, and if any such organization should be found to exist there, the next thing to be done would be to cause them to be captured that they might execute late for their crimes by pulling hemp.

There are circumstances, connected with the murders and robberies committed in the vicinity of the place where it was stated the guerrillas were encamped, which were considered corroborative of the report of their existence. The Age also says that two or three months ago, a "loud-mouthed" Secessionist, who at that time resided in that town, went so far as to inform the Indian agent that they, the Secessionists, could use the Indians and through them could create a great deal of trouble.

How much truth there may be in the rumors and statements thus made, if any, cannot well be determined; but if not entirely untrue, it will, probably, be found that the matters and things represented to exist have been greatly exaggerated. That outlaws or bandits have associated with and encouraged the red men on the northern routes, so called, to commit the murders and robberies which have been reported within the last few months, and aided them in their diabolical deeds there is not much doubt, from circumstances which have been reported; but it seems improbable that so large a number as are represented to exist in the Humboldt mountains could band together in that region without having been discovered before their arrangements could have been completed.

PSALM II.

Translated from the Hebrew of Michaelis by W. W. Phelps.

1. Why do the nations rage and the people meditate evil?
2. The kings of the earth have taken a stand, and the rulers consult together against the Lord and against his anointed.
3. To break up their daily covenants and scatter them from their portion: perversion daily.
4. He that sits in the heavens will laugh; the Lord will mock at their confusion.
5. Then will he speak unto them daily in his anger; and in their fear he will confound them.
6. But I will let my kingdom rest on my holy mount—Zion.
7. I have written this mighty decree: the Lord said unto me, my son, come, I have this day brought thee forth.
8. Ask thy portion of me, and I will give unto thee the nations, thine inheritance, and all the parts of the earth—thy possessions.
9. Thou shalt thunder with an iron scepter; thou shalt break them to pieces like a potter's vessel.
10. So, now, ye kings, be wise: ye judges of the earth be admonished!
11. Labor for the Lord with fear, and resolve with joy.

12. Join the Son lest he be angry and ye be destroyed when he goes forth: he will burn when his anger is but little. He baptizes the soul that confides in him.

THE WOMEN OF A NATION.—I do not hesitate to say that the women give to every nation a moral temperament which shows itself in its politics. A hundred times I have seen weak men show real public virtue, because they had by their side women who supported them—not by advice as to particulars, but by fortifying their feelings of duty, and by directing their ambition. More frequently, I must confess, I have observed the domestic influence gradually transforming a man naturally generous, noble and unselfish, into a cowardly, common place, place-hunting self-seeker, who thinks of public business only as a means of making himself comfortable, and this simply by contact with a well-conducted woman, a faithful wife, an excellent mother, but from whose mind the grand notion of public duty was entirely absent.—[De Tocqueville.]

—A Californian adventurer was recently lamenting to another his folly in leaving the comforts of a home, with a kind wife and two beautiful daughters. The other, after listening in silence replied, "My case is much worse than yours, for I have a wife and six children at home and never saw one of them." "How can that be?" said the first speaker. "Were you ever blind?" "No, sir." "Then, pray, what can you mean by saying that you have a wife and six children, and yet have never seen one of them?" "Why, simply that one of them was born after I left home." The querist considered himself "sold."

THE COMET.—"This Space-Card of the Interior was last visible to the naked eye on Friday evening, Sept. 12th, at 8 o'clock, near Antares, in the Scorpion. Its latitude was about 25° 10' S; longitude, 245° 15' W., giving its R. A. xvi. 1-3. Its magnitude appeared about the size of a pica-yune, showing it was near some other system. It was visible about one month, and came within 500,000,000 miles of the earth. Not having the instrument's necessary to calculate its diameter, we will suppose it to be three times as large as our earth. If its speed was 100,000,000 of miles a day, a space of 2,500,000,000 of miles was passed over in almost telegraphic time."

PHILIPS.

COLOR OF THE EYES.—That the color of the eyes should affect their strength may seem strange; yet that such is the case need not at this time of day to be proved; and and those whose eyes are brown or dark-colored should be informed that they are weaker and more susceptible of injury from various causes than grey or blue eyes. Light blue eyes are generally the most powerful, and next to those are grey. The lighter the pupil, the greater and longer continued is the degree of tension the eye can sustain.
