TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I Could not move!

I shrunk!

From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 6, '81. R. FITZPATRICK

HOW TO GET SICK. — Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters! (5)

THE LIVER AND ITS FUNCTIONS.

It has become a well established fact that the large portion of diseases to which the human family is subject arise in the first place from some derangement of the Liver. This organ is not only the largest, but at the same time one of the most important. The venous blood, on its return to the heart, passes through this organ, and in its passage the impurities, as also the secretions which are necessary for digestion as well as for a cathartic to assist in the renewal of waste material &c. are eliminated. From this it is easily seen that the Liver is liable to get out of order to a greater or less extent, and when this occurs it is impossible for it to properly fulfil its office of removing all objectionable matter from the blood, but allows it to pass through, carrying with it the poisons of which it should have been relieved.

With impure blood the whole system becomes affected, and no organ can properly perform its function unless it is supplied with pure blood to maintain its strength. So the Liver becomes all important, and when one has the feeling of laziness continually tired, worn out, no ambition, stomach sick, with tendency to Piles, Headache, Sick Stomach, Yellow Complexion, Nervous Prostration, Eruptions of Skin, etc. they may be sure their Liver is out of order, and a remedy is required to assist nature in throwing itself of all corrupting matter, and restore it to its original Strength and Vigor. For all the complaints of this kind there is no medicine that equals

DR. R. F. SHERMAN'S PRICKLY ASH BITTERS. The result of years of study, experience and medical practice of Dr. R. F. Sherman, its originator, and its success wherever introduced is unparalleled for its merit. Drastic Purgatives and that class of remedies can never but one effect that is by their violent action to disarrange and weaken the system. Prickly Ash Bitters acts directly on the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels, in a mild yet effectual manner, and by its tonic properties, all impurities and obstructions disappear, and Health and Vigor prevail. Prickly Ash Bitters is a medicine of rare merit, and not an intoxicating beverage, and being purely vegetable, can be used at all times with beneficial results. It is not claimed as a cure-all, but for certain diseases of the organs mentioned, it is a specific and a BLOOD PURIFIER unsurpassed by all other preparations. Ask your druggist for it, and give it a fair trial. If he has not on hand, and will not procure it for you,

A LUNATIC'S PRANKS.

Martin Pindar, one of the most noted characters of Winchester, is now in jail here awaiting trial on a writ of de lunatico inquirendo. Years ago Pinder was one of the foremost citizens of Winchester, until one unfortunate day he got into a difficulty with a man named Madgan, who struck him a terrible blow on the head, fracturing his skull. Pindar was carried home insensible and for a long time it was thought he could not recover. Finally, however, his bodily injuries were healed but his mental faculties were destroyed, and he soon began a series of crazy freaks, which have characterized him up to the present time. The last episode in the career of this strange being occurred at his home a few days ago. Some time ago Pinder leased the lower rooms of his house to an Irish widow and her son, and he and his wife moved to upper rooms. That part of the upper floor over the dining room below was made of green poplar boards loosely laid. These have shrunk, leaving numerous and wide-gaping cracks. One day last week Pindar's tenants had company for dinner. In the morning of the same day, Pindar procured two coal-oil barrels and put them in the room over the dining-room. Then he carried water up stairs by the bucketful until both barrels were filled. The barrels being in position to suit his designs, he took a stand and waited for the auspicious moment of action. Things below progressed serenely. The hostess and guests felt happy and secure, without a single suspicion of the storm that was about to burst upon them. The dinner, a substantial feast, came on smoking hot, and the party gathered around the table to do justice to the occasion. Then there came a maniacal yell from above, and a flood of water that drenched them to their skins, and literally washed the dinner from the table. Pindar ran out and danced for joy, and shouted at the top of his voice that he was having lots of fun. Just then he caught sight of Marshal Oden, who was approaching the scene of the deluge, and he ran back up the stairs. Oden followed, and was met at the head of the stairs by Pindar with an ax. Oden then went away, but soon returned with his deputy. Pindar was still at bay, and hacked about him furiously with the ax when any attempt was made to arrest him. Finally, at the risk of losing their lives, the marshal and deputy made a grand rush at Pindar, and were fortunate in securing him without the loss of blood. He was put in jail, where he will remain until sent to the asylum.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

FISHING IN CHINA.

In China they have a method of fishing that possesses much originality. The fishermen on the rivers take a species of cormorant to fish for them, and bind a leather band about the neck, and when the fish is sighted the bird is sent over, and they show much intelligence. If the fish is too large for the bird and her goes to its assistance, striking it with its bill about the head and clinging to it despite its struggles. But the most remarkable method is that seen in some of the boats near Canton. They set low in the water, and from the gunwale, extending off at an angle of forty five degrees is a board painted to resemble the water, so that it appears a continuation of it. Now when a school of fishes approach, the birds are sent out, not to catch them, but to drive them towards the boat, and as they near it the birds come with a rush, the fish, jumping fairly into the boat, evidently mistaking it for water. Fish themselves are not far behind as fishermen. There are several that use rods and lines and are the genuine Waltons of the sea. One of the most interesting is the the lophius, that has several front spines that work exactly like a hook in a staple, and bend forward, working back and forth in obedience to the will of the angler. The first rod is about ten inches long, and the end is baited with a piece of fleen that seems to attract the fish. In fishing, the angler lies flat on the bottom, its form being concealed by its resemblance to the general surroundings, and the rod is slowly lowered over the mouth and waved slowly up and down. The small fish seeing it, dart at it, and it is slowly raised until the victim is directly over the enormous mouth, which opens and engulf him. The malthea or hat fish of the southern coast has a similar arrangement. Its rod is not so long, consisting of a mere bait that lies over the head and can be raised and lowered at will.—New York Sun.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUNG MEN.

There are plenty of young men who would become experts in the rearing of improved domestic animals if they could have the right kind of reading matter within their reach, and would make a beginning, which they could do with half the care and self-denial incurred in the city undertaking. Young men do not sufficiently consider that the rearing of the better classes of farm stock, while properly managed is one of the most remunerative branches of farming, is in its infancy, and very far from being even moderately well developed. One conspicuous evidence of this is seen in the very small proportion of farmers in any county, no matter what State you look over, who have stock suitable for exhibition at agricultural shows, or for sale for breeding purposes, the purpose being to raise other than the lower grades. The idea so commonly entertained that high bred farm stock belongs properly in the hands of a few who have made it a special study and have unlimited capital, is an error. There is no valid reason why the smith at the cross-roads should not make as good a horseshoe as is turned out at the factory, where they make a thousand or more an hour, and where large capital is involved; neither is there any reason why the farmer's son, on a plain, unadorned farm, with a cow stable costing a hundred or two, should not be able to breed and rear animals of any race or breed, equal to those to be found in the largest breeding establishments anywhere.—The Country Gentleman.

THE RUSSIAN JEWS' COLONY.

The colony of Russian Jews in Middlesex County, Va., has now been finally abandoned. The colonists, ten families in all, have from time to time returned, till all but two families are there. One family will at their own urgent desire be sent back to Russia within the next few days by the Hebrew Benevolent Society, which has steadily befriended these people. The Society has provided the remaining men with positions and several of the women will be taught the use of the sewing machine, so that they can at least earn their living. When the colonization scheme was started the colonists contributed to the general fund about $750. This, it was understood, was to be on instalment in payment for land, implements, etc., furnished them. Several thousand dollars more was contributed by the Hebrews of Baltimore. The colonists now demand their money back and it is said have shown themselves quite troublesome to Joseph Friedenwald, who is now at the place arranging the affairs of the colony. Two families will remain there to take care of the houses and such of the stock as will still be kept. The parchment scroll of the Thora, or laws of the Hebrews, which are read at the religious services, was returned last week by one of the colonists—Goldman—to the Hebrew Hospital Association who loaned it to the colonists. Its surrender indicates the dissolution of the colony as a religious congregation.—Baltimore Sun.

PHOTOGRAPHY AND ACOUSTIES.

Till recently no one ever dreamt of applying photography to acoustics; but it is now possible to photograph sound vibrations, and Professor Blaumann is now announced as the discover of what at first might well be regarded with incredulity. The sound vibrations are communicated to a thin plate, after being magnified by a solar microscope, are reflected on to a screen and photographed by rapidly drawing a sensitive plate across the image. Every letter when pronounced gives a separate and distinct impression, every vowed showing regular undulatory vibration, while the consonants give curves and lines of very varied forms. The uses of an arrangement like this may be innumerable. We can almost imagine that when the process is prefected, eaves droppers and spies will have a very easy time, and need to run no risks in order to obtain secret information; a small instrument secretly placed in a room, and acting automatically, may copy down every word spoken; nay, it is far from chimerical to expect that photography may one day take the place of shorthand reporters.—[Cornhill Magazine.

New Life

is given by using BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. In the Winter it strengthens and warms the system; in the Spring it enriches the blood and conquers disease; in the Summer it gives tone to the nerves and digestive organs; in the Fall it enables the system to stand the shock of sudden changes.

In no way can disease be so surely prevented as by keeping the system in perfect condition. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS ensures perfect health through the changing seasons, it disarms the danger from impure water and miasmatic air, and it prevents Consumption, Kidney and Liver Disease, &c.

H. S. Berlin, Esq., of the well-known firm of H. S. Berlin & Co., Attorneys, Le Droit Building, Washington, D. C., writes, Dec. 5th, 1881:

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in stating that I have used Brown's Iron Bitters for malaria and nervous troubles, caused by overwork, with excellent results.

Beware of imitations. Ask for BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and insist on having it. Don't be imposed on with something recommended as "just as good." The genuine is made only by the Brown Chemical Co. Baltimore, Md.
