THEATRE.—There is a deal of business in the play of "Fate," and considerable variety, running from grave to gay, from the ridiculous to the sublime, from tragic to comic and burlesque. Misses Walters and Kent, and Messrs. Bates, Thorne and Dudley did the tragic, while Messrs. Graham and Forster, and Miss Voeller did the comic and burlesque. The latter furnished abundance of fun, and the former was at times exceedingly impressive and affecting. This play seems to take very well. It will be presented again to-night. Independent of our own views of the play, we have heard several who have seen it speak in complimentary terms of it, of the way in which it is put on the stage, and of the manner in which it is rendered.

During the evening, Prof. Hugo Heimerdinger will perform a Solo on the Zither.

TWO DAYS' MEETINGS.—We are requested to state that a general invitation is extended to the Saints of Mill Creek, Sugar House, South and Big Cottonwoods and adjoining settlements to attend the two days' meetings to be held in the first named Ward to-morrow and Sunday, Nov. 23rd and 24th.

AN ASSAULT.—Franc Jacomo, an Italian, who some time since suffered injuries as reported in the Junction, was assaulted yesterday evening by parties unknown. He was enjoying a quiet siesta in front of Mr. Bergstrom's place, when a number of men attacked him. They drew a knife, evidently with the purpose of doing him bodily harm. The interference of Mr. Bergstrom and others probably saved the unfortunate man from assassination. As far as we can learn, a dispute arose between Jacomo and some passengers on the train on which he came some days ago, regarding the merits of Garibaldi and the Pope. The quarrel ended by the ejection of the Italian from the cars, and threats were made that he would not be allowed to live. An attempt to carry out the threat was made last night, but frustrated by timely interference. The assaulting parties escaped.—Ogden Junction, Nov. 20.

EXTRAVAGANT.—Some people appear to have extravagant ideas regarding the duties of the city watermaster. Numerous complaints have reached us from various parts of town concerning the overflowing of the water from the sects upon the streets, caused by the freezing over of the ditches. Some people seem to imagine that the watermaster and his assistants should be omnipresent and see to the clearing out of all the water sects in the city at the same time. If the big growling public could see that if each property owner composing it would only take the trouble to free the ditch along side his own lot, &c., the cause for complaint would soon be removed. At this season of the year, when keen frosts are liable to set in suddenly, it is next to impossible for the watermaster to keep all the water courses free from obstruction, even if it were his duty to do so.

EDUCATION—THE DESERET UNIVERSITY.—At a meeting of the Chancellor and Board of Regents of the Deseret University, held on Wednesday night, Professor John R. Park made a report of his late trip to the Eastern States and Europe to examine the various school systems, and his ideas as to the best method of conducting the University in this city. In furtherance of his views a vote was taken to immediately reopen the University, and committees were appointed on text books, course of instruction, finance, teachers and salaries, and buildings, and the intention is, if a sufficient number of pupils present themselves, to commence a new term at the University on Monday morning.

We regard this as a matter of great importance to the rising generation of this city and Territory. Professor Park is a man of great experience and ability in his profession, and during his extended tour in the east and in Europe he gained a large amount of information as to the methods of instruction adopted and proved by experience to be best in the most advanced schools in the world. This fund of information will be used in improving the University system in this city and Territory, and it is safe to say that henceforth the course of instruction and the method of imparting it will be equal to the best in Switzerland, Prussia, France, Germany, Britain and the Eastern States. These facts will give the University still greater claims than it has possessed heretofore, and there is no doubt that it will receive a proportionate increase of patronage and support from an appreciative public.

For the benefit of children whose parents are unable to pay for their tuition in the University, we republish the following clause from the constitution and curriculum of the institution, printed in the year 1870:

"In order to assist persons in the Territory, who may be desirous of attending school, and yet are unable to bear the cost of tuition, the Chancellor and Board of Regents have established a Beneficiary Foundation. By its provisions indigent persons are admitted as students in the University free of charge. Satisfactory evidence, however, of their pecuniary inability must be given to the Executive Committee. Those who are desirous of availing themselves of this provision, may first apply to the President of the Faculty."

THE BISHOPS, AND COAL FOR THE POOR.—At a meeting of the Bishops, held last evening, the subject of the great scarcity of coal in this city, and the likelihood of suffering resulting therefrom, especially among the poor, was considered, and a resolution was adopted appointing Bishop John Sharp, assisted by counselor P. A. Mitchell, to immediately take steps to ascertain what measures are necessary to be taken at the Coalville mines to increase the supply of coal from there, and to make whatever arrangements are requisite to furnish miners and teams, if by so doing a larger and more regular supply can be obtained. It is anticipated that, when the new track is laid from Echo to Coalville, many of the difficulties which now interfere with the shipment of coal from Coalville will be removed, and that a regular and cheap supply will be furnished. To see that the poor do not suffer for lack of fuel or any other of the necessaries of life falls within the province of the bishops' duties; their prompt action in the present emergency is highly commendable, and we trust will prove efficacious in preventing any suffering or privation which now seems to threaten on account of the scarcity of fuel.

FINED.—There was a row last night in a saloon on Second South street, kept by one Metz. J. P. Christenson got quarrelsome and Metz essayed to put him out, but found himself unequal to the task, and called on others to assist him. Among those who responded was Louis Abrams, who is employed as a night watchman by the store-keepers in the locality. This individual struck Christenson over the head with a slung shot or club of some kind, cutting clear to the skull. The facts were elicited at an examination before Justice Clinton this morning. Christenson was fined $25, for making a general disturbance, and Abrams was fined in the same sum for striking Christenson over the head with a dangerous weapon.

A LADY'S Brooch found this morning. Owner can have it by calling at office of DESERET EVENING NEWS.

MODERATING.—The cold is gradually moderating in the day, though the nights are still sharp. The mercury rises a notch or two daily, and it has become quite warm and pleasant in the sun.

BRICK.—We were shown, to-day, by S. Ward, of Kaysville, a couple of specimens of red building brick of his manufacture. The specimens are sound, and appear to be of excellent quality. Mr. Ward purposes manufacturing the article very extensively, having recently imported a brick machine from the east and being in possession of almost unlimited material to carry on the manufacture at his kiln, which is near Kaysville, about two miles from the track of the U. C. R. R.

FRATERNAL.—We had a fraternal call, this morning, from Mr. Lawrence, editor of the Flushing (Long Island) Journal. This is Mr. Lawrence's second visit to Utah, he having been here about ten years ago. He is well and favorably known to quite a large number of our citizens, and he appears to enjoy his visit greatly.

PROTECTIVE.—Workmen are engaged to-day building a temporary roof over the walls of the Temple, in order to protect them from the action of the weather until the laying of another course of rock.

FAVORABLE.—Dr. Anderson returned last night from American Fork, to which place he went to visit professionally James Robbins, the man who was severely cut last Saturday by one Greenwood. The Doctor is of opinion that Mr. Robbins may yet recover.
