I. The newspapers, asturally nough, have something to say upon the supposed results of the late visit of President Grant to this city. But how far the reports as to President Grant's Intentions are orrect does not yet appear. As he is proverbially reticent, it is just as likely that he has kept his thoughts upon Utah, whatever they may be, to himself, as that he has communicated them to others. 2. The "Mormons" do not trample under foot the Constitution and laws, nor are they in the habit of so doing. On the contrary, they sustain the constitution and all constitutional laws more sincerely and more firmly than any other community in the Union.
