

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

The late John Black will live in history as the only gleam of intelligence Buchanan ever had.—Ex.

A one horse rig collided with a street car at Jennings' corner last evening, causing a little consternation among the passengers of the car and other vehicle. No one was hurt.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

False Report.—We are pleased to be enabled to inform the many friends of our esteemed fellow-citizen, George Dunford, the merchant of Main Street, that the report of his having been strangled by the rupture of a blood vessel is without any foundation in fact.

Still Improving.—We learn from a private note received by Brother Brockbank, that Bishop George Halliday, of Hantsburg, continues to improve, and has a prospect of being able to be around again next week. If the present favorable symptoms are maintained.

The Base Ball Boom.—At 2.30 p. m. to day there was an interesting game of base ball on the new ground of Washington Square between the Red Boys and Brown Stockings. On the 30th inst. will come the deciding tug of war between the Athletics of Ogden and the Olympics of this city. It will doubtless, as usual, call out a large company of the admirers of the two clubs, and their name is legion.

Railroad Accident.—A report has reached this city to the effect that a train was wrecked on the Utah & Northern, north of Dillon yesterday morning. A fireman had told him that he had not called sufficiently from the wreck to be able to undergo the operation of amputation, which would have to be done upon both members should a reaction occur.

Twentieth District.—By a notice of the trustees of the 20th District it will be observed that the school will open on Monday, August 27th at 8 a. m. It is one of the most popular educational institutions of the city, a fact always evinced by an exceedingly large attendance. It continues to be under the able direction of Prof. T. B. Lewis, the experienced and Principal, who is aided efficiently by two excellent assistants, Miss Emma Finch and Miss Ella Rimey.

A Kindly Reference.—Sister Ellen May Whitney has a cousin in Victor, Ontario County, New York, to whom she regularly sends the Woman's Exponent. It appears she has handed a copy of that paper to the editor of the Victor Herald, which makes some kindly references to the late President Haver C. Kimball, noting the fact that he was a former resident of the town of Mendon, near Victor, and inserts quite a lengthy extract from the papers published in the Exponent (based upon data from her father's diary) from the pen of Sister Whitney.

The Crank Identified.—We have been informed by Mr. Youngberg, of the firm of Youngberg & Shadle, of the identity of the Matthew McCune who was recently picked up in Chicago in a demented condition, claiming to have been a "Mormon." Mr. Youngberg is well acquainted with the man, who was in this city and the neighboring mining camps for about a year, and was some time in Park City. When here, he exhibited symptoms of insanity, and Mr. Youngberg states that, to his knowledge, McCune had never been at any time a "Mormon."

He Took the Bystrochnine Route.—On Tuesday, John F. Harper, a miner, shuffled off his mortal coil by a large dose of strychnine, at Butte. At the time he took the fatal drug he was under arrest for wife-beating. He swallowed it in a quantity of water which he dipped from a brook with a tin cup. Harper had become brutalized with drink, subjected his family to horrible abuse, and he had few if any mourners, with the exception of the woman he had so cruelly maltreated, who clung to him even in death with peculiar womanly tenacity.

A Fearful Shock.—Last Sunday evening Caroline Mary Larsen, aged forty years, with others, was riding in a wagon from Hyrum to the College Farm, in Cache Valley. She was overcome by a feeling of weakness, and as the vehicle was crossing a ditch she tumbled out, striking on the back of her head and shoulders. The fearful concussion caused by the fall instantly resulted in complete paralysis (both as regards motion and sensibility) of all the body from the upper part of the trunk downward. The Utah Journal which gives the details, says she is attended by Dr. Ormsby, and signs of recovery had begun to appear.

Furnace Builder.—The Iron Company of Utah have secured the services of an experienced and skillful mechanic in that line to erect their furnaces at the proposed works in Iron County. We refer to Richard Robinson, who constructed the furnaces for an extensive iron manufacturing establishment, about ten miles from the City of Glasgow. He also understands the process of making iron. Some time since he paid a visit to the Ogden works and gave it as his opinion that they were defective and could not be operated any length of time in their existing condition. He has gone south to make preliminary arrangements to begin the erection of the proposed new furnaces for the Iron Company of Utah.

A TRIP SOUTH.

ATTENDED BY SOME EXHILARATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

Mr. W. B. Bartles, with Mr. S. P. Teasdel, recently returned from a business trip in the interest of the Eagle House, as far as Marysville. In the course of his journey he met with some interesting experiences. As he was approaching Glenwood, Sevier Valley, on the stage, he saw a great cloud of dust rolling toward the town. The driver said he believed it was a flood from the canyon caused by the bursting of a cloud, and the great volume of water was raising the dust as it rushed along. So, it proved to be, and by the time the stage reached the town the water was above the hubs of the vehicle. The flood careered along the main street and spread until every house in the main part of the village was surrounded by water and all the cellars within the radius of the inundation were filled. According to the statement of Bishop O'Leary the damage would amount to $3,000.

A little boy named Peterson saw the approaching volume of water as it came carrying destruction to its course. He immediately became oblivious to every other fact than that his pet rabbit in the cellar of the house was in danger of being drowned, so he dashed downward to the rescue. Before he could emerge with the valued animal he was in his arms there was a whirl and a roar, the cellar was filled and the little fellow was jammed in such a position that he was rescued from his perilous place with great difficulty.

From the town of Monroe, Mr. Barton proceeded to climb the divide which separates that place from Marysville. The vehicle was a buckboard, of which the mail was carried, driven by a boy. Unfortunately the horse was not only unused to the business, but frantically incited. However, all went well until the animal was reached, about 1,800 feet above the level of Monroe. No sooner was the descent begun than the refractory beast changed his tactics. His hind legs flew out with great rapidity, and it took him long time than it takes to tell it, to make a wreck of the buckboard, winding up by breaking loose and running away. He was captured, however, and after a repetition of the kicking and plunging operation, the boy was dispatched to Marysville with the horse and mail sacks and instructions to bring back assistance without delay.

Meanwhile, Mr. Barton stuck his open umbrella overhead in the branches of an adjacent tree and squatted under its grateful protection. Gradually he sunk into the arms of morpheus and, "dreaming the happy hours away," when he was awakened with a suddenness that made him feel as if he had been struck on the side of the head with a fall in the hands of a giant and had the drums of his ears burst. It was simply a deafening peal of the artillery of heaven, for the elements had decided on a fierce conflict, and the battle had begun. Just as he was thinking over a proper line of action there was one of those tremendous and startling cracks which fill that the electric field has struck somewhere, and the objective point of a thunderbolt seemed but a few feet from him, his system sustaining quite a peculiar thought not infrequently shock.

He took the lead hint and waited not upon the owner of his going, but went at once down the canyon, part of the way in a drenching rain and some of the time pelleted with large hailstones. He arrived at his destination, however, not a great deal the worse for wear. On the whole he had a successful and interesting trip.

The Coroner's Verdict.—The following verdict was rendered by the coroner's jury at the inquest held over the late Ellen Gillespie Lewis:

TERRITORY OF UTAH,
 Utah County,
 Provo Precinct.
 An inquest holden at the residence of Wm. Harrison, in Provo Precinct, Utah county, on this 21st day of August, A. D. 1893, before Albert Jones, coroner of said county, upon the body of Ellen Gillespie Lewis there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed. The said jurors upon their oath do say that the said Ellen Gillespie Lewis, on the 21st day of August, A. D. 1893, came to her death by a pistol shot fired by policeman Siler J. Aldred on the evening of August 20th, A. D. 1893; and that it was done accidentally while in the discharge of his duty, in securing the arrest of two truants, as night watchman of Provo Lumber Manufacturing and Building Company.

In testimony whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands the day and year aforesaid.
 REED SMITH,
 R. T. THOMAS,
 J. E. DANIEL, Jr.,
 Jurors.
 Attest:
 ALBERT JONES,
 Coroner.

A Dangerous Practice.—Fruit men complain of the senseless conduct of some men and boys who go on excursions. They tamper with the brakes, sometimes having competitions with each other to see who can pull them up the tightest. Occasionally trains have been brought to a stand by such foolishness, and much liability to dangerous accidents created. One experienced train man informs us that he has been at times so annoyed by such "pranks" as to be inclined to administer rough treatment to those he has caught indulging in it. The parties guilty of this meddlesome and senseless conduct do not appear to know the danger of the practice.

The Wonders.—The Congress of Wonders continues to draw good and delightful audiences at the Theatre every afternoon at 2 o'clock and evening at 7. The Mirages are truly peculiar and all the features of the show are attractive. The Water Queen has a marvelous faculty of staying under water in which element she does some extraordinary things. The whole entertainment is worth seeing and the children should be indulged in a treat which costs so little. The doors are opened at 7 p. m. and the performance begins at 8 o'clock.

THE CACHE EXCURSION.

NOTES AND OBSERVATIONS ON THE WAY.

A friend who accompanied the Cache Valley Excursion party yesterday sent us word from Hot Springs, Weber County, that the company arrived at that point at but little behind the time anticipated.

There were 18 cars, all crowded, and upwards of 1,000 people aboard. At Ogden it was feared that, owing to the multitude, many would have to be left, on account of a scarcity of excursion cars, but this unpleasantness was happily obviated by putting on a number of cars belonging to the regular train. A delay was occasioned at Ogden by this circumstance, but nothing disagreeable. The foremost band, headed by Mark Croxall, enlivened and dispelled the tedium with their inspiring strains.

An accident occurred between Ogden and that point, which though not serious, occasioned considerable alarm until it was ascertained that the result was such as it proved. A brakeman named Edmonds, of Ogden, was walking along the narrow ledge or step which extends along each side of the excursion car. The train was moving, and just as he was grasped for one of the iron handles on the side of each compartment, another man coming from the opposite direction got his hand on it first. Mr. Edmonds missed his hold and fell backwards. The car struck him in the back and rolled him over several times. He lay helpless until the train had passed on for a quarter of a mile or so, when the alarm having been given it was stopped. Edmonds was taken aboard, and though seriously hurt, it was found necessary to leave him at the Springs, while an express from Ogden was sent for to take him home. This was the only mishap, so far. The day was fine, the people, who were from all points of the compass (not forgetting those from Candland from Samspe), were happy and expected a fine time. Ogden Angeli, the Logan Temple architect, was aboard. He had been spending some time in Salt Lake, and was going home on a brief visit, and will return to Salt Lake with the excursion.

More Excursions.—We take this opportunity to notify the fish and game between here and Snake River that there is another band of marauders preparing to "go havoc and loose the dogs of war" upon them. They are four in number, but the mentions of fish-hooks, worms and ramrods carried by the marauders is formidable in the extreme. They are provided with a large wagon and a powerful span of mules with which to haul home their fish-stories.

To-day the Times printing office was in process of removal from the old stand on First South Street to the Times Building, a new brick structure, on Second South, between Commercial and Plum Streets. The new premises are much more commodious than those vacated.

 The success of the John W. Lowell Wagon Co. in making sales of the J. I. Case Agitator Thresher has been most remarkable. Their traveling agent, Mr. E. A. Kesler, leaves for Nephi to-day, for the purpose of making a delivery of Eleven of these famous Machines, destined for Sanpete and Sevier Counties. From all parts of Utah, Nevada, Idaho and Montana, orders are being daily received for the Agitator. Although the sales for 1893 were unprecedentedly large, the sales in 1894 thus far show an increase of over thirty per cent, and from present indications an increased sale of fifty per cent. can be looked for before the season closes. No other thresher ever introduced in the Territories has attained such a wonderful popularity as the J. I. Case Agitator. d & w
