FUNERAL OF JOSEPH HALL.

Impressive Services in Second Ward Meetinghouse on a Well Spent Life.

Ogden, Sept. 6.—All that was mortal of the late Joseph Hall was consigned to the silent tomb yesterday afternoon in the family burial ground in the Ogden city cemetery. The second ward meetinghouse was crowded with relatives and friends who assembled to pay tribute to his memory and to express words of sympathy to the sorrowing family. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings and many large designs were arranged on tables at either end of the casket, evidencing the high esteem in which he was held in this city, where he has lived since the early fifties.

The funeral services were commenced at 2 o'clock, Bishop Robert McQuarrie presiding. The choir sang, "Rest, Rest, for the Weary Soul." Opening prayer was pronounced by Elder John

THE LATE JOSEPH HALL.

Elder Joseph Parry reviewed his association with the deceased for more than half a century, working with him in the high council, high priests' quorum and in many other religious capacities, and had always found him a faithful laborer both in Utah and his native land, England, where for years he served untrillingly as a missionary.

Elder Charles H. Greenwell spoke feelingly of his years of association and friendship with the deceased and his high esteem for him as a worker in the church.

Mrs. Mary Farley sang sweetly, "Not Half Has Ever Been Told."

Elder Charles C. Richards eulogized the excellent service rendered by the deceased in many public offices, in which he was true and honest.

Elder Charles W. Penrose, who had been a close friend with the deceased for almost his entire life, having been associated with him in newspaper work, and in ecclesiastical duties, after briefly referring to the same, preached a powerful and comforting sermon on the resurrection, assuring those present that Joseph Hall will receive a glorious crown for his true devotion to his religious principles.

Brief eulogies were given by Pres. C. F. Middleton and Bishop McQuarrie each testifying of the many sterling traits of character possessed by him.

The choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and benediction was pronounced by Elder H. W. Naisbitt. A large funeral cortege followed the remains to their last resting place.

CEDAR CITY.

TWO WEEKS OF STORM.

Iron County Fair Opens Sept. 19—Educational Lectures.

Special Correspondence.

Cedar City, Iron Co., Sept. 5.—After a storm period of nearly two weeks' duration, the sun shines brightly today, and indications are for good weather. Considerable lumber was damaged on account of the rain, but the good done by the rain to the ranges for cattle and sheep is estimated to be of greater value than the loss inflicted. Grain has not suffered much through the wet weather. Preparation is now going on to commence the threshing of grain and the yield will be reasonably fair.

IRON COUNTY FAIR.

A county fair is scheduled to be held here on Sept. 19, 20, 21. Conspicuous posters are in evidence throughout the town announcing the event, and the various committees having the matter in charge are working for a successful exhibit.

The Bank of Southern Utah has displayed in its window a design for its new building to be erected on Main street, and it is completed according to the plan. It is a 2-story brick building, up-to-date in every particular. It is now being solicited for its erection.

POLITICS.

Notices are out calling the Republicans together tomorrow evening for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend a county convention to be held here to elect delegates to state and senatorial convention to be held at a time and place to be determined hereafter. The Democrats and Socialists have not yet announced their dates for local conventions.

The damage done to the highway road connecting this and Kane counties has been repaired and the highway is now open for travel.

On account of the unfavorable weather the past 10 days, many of the citizens who are engaged in the dairy business are moving into their town residences from the mountain ranches.

Frede Bennion and Foster of the state university were here recently in the interest of higher education. They spoke to the people here and told of the necessity of a more modern method in agricultural pursuits, contrasting present facilities with those obtained in earlier days of the settlement of the state. They directed attention to the special advantages this valley offers for the system of dry farming.

DIXIE EXCELS IN FRUIT.

Transportation Lacking—Stupendous Irrigation System.

Special Correspondence.

La Verkin, Washington Co., Aug. 31.—The fruit crop here is good, and it would be hard to find a better showing of grapes than that made in the vineyards here. A fine lot of grapes were sent from here to Boise, Ida., to be put on exhibition at the irrigation congress. Hon. Thomas Judd of this place is now there looking after Utah's fruit exhibit. The raisin grapes are doing exceedingly well, and it is demonstrated that the Thompson seedless raisin grape can be produced here to perfection. All the better varieties of grapes also do well. If produced in commercial quantities, for which no facilities are lacking, this country could produce enough to make it a staple for a railroad to be built. The people of the north would be glad to get the delicious fruit, for which Dixie is famous. The finest peaches in Dixie and flavor

PENSION ROLL IS DECREASING.

THE United States pension roll is again beginning to shrink. The increases caused by the Spanish-American war are now being offset by deaths of veterans of old wars. There are fewer pensioners on the rolls at the present time than at any period since 1898. The list is fast decreasing, having shrunk more than 10,000 during the last year. On July 1, when the last count was made, there were only 254,200 persons drawing pensions.

One year ago there were 298,431 pensioners on the rolls, which was within about 2,000 of the high-water mark. During one month of 1904 there were more than 1,000,000 pensioners, but since then the total has been steadily declining. Commissioner Warner is now convinced that at last the pension roll is on a permanent decline, and unless it should be bolstered up by new legislation, he believes it will run down a hill at a rapid rate. During the last year commissioners of pensions have announced at various times that they believed the high-water mark had been reached, but Mr. Warner's prediction seems to be the only one that was founded on a real understanding of the situation.

It is 41 years since the close of the Civil war, and the soldiers who survived that struggle are feeling the heavy weight of years. The pension roll should show a big decrease since July 1, 1905, but for the fact that it has been added to by a great many Spanish war veterans. It is significant that in spite of the allowances made to soldiers of the 1898 war, their widows and dependents, the pension roll shrunk more than 12,000 in the single year.
