BREVITIES.

A white man, named Musgrave is, said to be the leader of one of the bands of hostile Indians on the Western Plains.

The fifth-avenue Jewish Synagogue, in New York, cost $685,000. Besides selling for $100,000, the seats are subject to a tax of five per cent.

"What church do you attend, Mrs. Partington?"
"Oh, any paradox church where the gospel is dispensed with."

Three hundred and forty-eight thousand seven hundred and fifty-three bushels of peanuts were received at Norfolk, Va., during the six months ending March 1.

At an editorial convention in Switzerland it was stated, a few weeks ago, that there was not in the whole country an editor who received a salary of five thousand francs.

A Vienna gentleman, previous to hanging himself, converted all his property into bonds and burned it up, so as to keep his unpleasant family out of an inheritance.

A new rifle is being brought out in Prussia, with which, at a recent trial, thirteen shots were fired in thirty-six seconds, and all the bullets struck the target. Good-by, Chassepot.

There was once an independent old lady who, speaking of Adam's naming all the animals, said she did not think he deserved much credit for naming the pig—any one would know what to call him.

John Knox was violently opposed to the political power invested in females, and abused Mary Queen of Scots without stint. He used to say that "No man ever saw a lion stoop to a lioness."

An interior journal mentions a lamb "which is only three weeks old and has already five well-formed legs." If that lamb lives until he is two years old, and keeps on as he has begun, he will not be a sheep, but a centipede.

On the 1st of February a severe clap of thunder broke over the city of Antwerp, which was followed by such a violent gale that several carriages were blown over in the streets and innumerable chimneys were destroyed.

The portable theatre built in Sacramento for Thomas Maguire will soon be completed and ready for transportation to White Pine. It is a commodious building, and will be erected in Hamilton city.

Drunkness has become fearfully prevalent among the wine growing districts of California. Even the young girls are sometimes seen reeling through the streets under the influence of the "pure California."

The English people are beginning to talk of the propriety and expense of bringing from Egypt the celebrated bit of stone called "Cleopatra's Needle," which lies half imbedded in the sands. It is thought it might be got to England for about $7,000.

The New Mexican says everybody in New Mexico is planting fruit trees and vines this spring. Over ten thousand of the former have been planted, and one hundred thousand grape vines, or more, have been set out in the "Rio Abasco" alone, this spring.

If there is a man who can eat his bread in peace with God and man, it is the man who has brought that bread out of the earth. It is cankered by no fraud, it is wet by no tears, it is stained by no blood.

An English paper says the area of London is 77,997 acres, or 122 square miles. The population is 3,150,000, living in 400,778 houses. The increase of population in 1868 was 44,263, of which 40,836 consisted of the increase of births.

The principal of the Russian convent at Jerusalem has just purchased, near Hebron, the celebrated oak which local tradition declares to have existed since the time of the Patriarch Abraham, whose name it bears. The tree is to be surrounded by a wall, and the inclosure will become a place of pilgrimage.

The phrase "going snacking" originated at the time of the plague in London. A noted body-snatcher then resided in that city, named Snacks. His business increased so fast that he offered to any person who should join him in his hardened practice half the profit; those who joined him were said to go with Snacks. Hence, going snacking, or dividing the spoils.

The "lady pick-pockets," of Boston, dress magnificently, and then go upon the streets early in the evening, where they grow faint, and request for a few moments the support of the arm of any gentleman likely to wear a fat pocket-book. Gentleman feels flattered, gives the required support, and fondles the lady as much as he dares. Lady recovers, and departs very thankfully for the aid, and the gentleman's watch and greenbacks.

The first railroad in Greece was opened on Thursday, the 11th ultimo. The entire population, apparently, turned out, presenting a curious appearance, in the mixed costumes of Frank and Greek, Albanian and Cretan. A raised platform was erected, and on it a throne was improvised. This platform was occupied by the Queen and Bishop with their attending dignitaries. Holy water was sprinkled over buildings, cars and rails. The day was lovely. The Athens terminus of the road is within a stone's throw of the famous temple of Theseus, the imperishable columns of which, erected two thousand two hundred years ago, contrast singularly enough with the wooden depot.
