THE ARMOR FRAUDS.

The Charges Against the Carnegie Company Sustained.

THE INSPECTORS' NEGLIGENCE.

Sixty-Six Suspected Pictures Now in Use to Be Tested at Their Quality.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Representative Cummings, chairman of the House committee on naval affairs, presented today a preliminary report upon the investigation of the armor plate furnished by the Carnegie Steel company. The committee found no charges of fraud sustained, and gives the company a severe and unanimous vote of confidence. It also voted that the government inspection was negligent, but it charged sufficiently poor workmanship.

FOOLED WITH THE PISTOL.

A Young Man Dies as 'N' Shoots.

New York. Aug. 23.—There was a shot over the body of Mrs. Mary L. Dyer, 25, at her home last night. All the neighbors were惊走 away at midnight except Richard Purcell and Owen Kene, young men who remained to ramble until night. Edward James Morrissey, who was on duty at the station house, questioned them as suspicious, joined them. Morrissey was fired and dropped on a ledge for a nap, shooting was called within an hour. He handed his pistol to Kene, who shot him. Purcell also Morrissey's revolver, though he would have little fun with the weapon which he supposed was empty. He walked to the coffin where the dead woman lay and passing the receiver he had in a scabbard manner said: "All right, I'll give you $100." Purcell said: "I'll shoot you," and escaped the trigger. It happened that the particular cartridge on which the bullet fell was empty. Then calling in his companion, Purcell got up there, Owen, and said: "I'll shoot you."

Kene entered into the spirit of the thing, arose, exultingly told his arms and said: "Go ahead, I'm weary of life." The next moment there was a burst, and Purcell fell heavy to the floor with a bullet in his neck.

Purcell ran out in the street shouting: "I've killed him, I've killed him."

The health officer followed. The police officer, however, started by the pistol shot, rushed to the room, saw what had occurred and called the police. Kene was sent to the city hospital, where it was found that the bullet had passed through his heart, taken a downward course and lodged over the lung. Purcell was arrested, and declared that he "didn't know it was loaded."

He was held to await the result of his victim's injuries. Morrissey was discharged.

The Extra Warrants.

CROSSED HER HIPS.

A Photographer Takes a Snapshot of a Botticelli Ship.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The last ship to San Francisco, the Botticelli, was out on the bay yesterday, and her engines worked beautifully. Coming down the bay, from shore, that island, Captain Donald turned her out for a repair, and she safely through the water. She then turned around and went back up along the shore, which seemed to be about ten feet high. She sent out the spray flying in all directions. While she was going along at this height, she was hit by a wave, which threw her over, and the little boat nearly capsized being cut in two. It was very exciting for a while and those on the boat had an experience which they will remember for some time because, while the boat and she was sent out with a photographer to take a snapshot at the bottle ship as she was throwing up the spray and cutting the big waves, the boat nearly capsized, but as the wave was breaking instead of crashing, the boat did not get capsized out, and the only wave that could do it was to get it to the bottom.

BOTTICELLI IN THE PACIFIC.

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—It is reported that the iron ship was still in the Pacific Ocean. Captain Donald, who was a better seaman than the wave, was not scared, but as it was, the big waves were being smashed instead. The photographer, all intent on the new and new ship's splendid chance, had to wait to get snapshots out, and the only wave that could do it was to get it to the bottom.

REFEREE NUMBER 1.

Pitman Tells How the Judgment was to Be Accomplished.

IT WAS EITHER 'BITT' OR 'MISS.'

He and Attorney J. A. Riley were the only two witnesses examined today.

WHEN THE HEARING OF THE CASE.

When the hearing of the case was adjourned and when was re-opened before Commissioner McNally at 10 o'clock this morning, in the Third district courtroom, the attorney general pointed out that the general point was not so large as yesterday, but half an hour later nearly all the trial was occupied.

The same question appeared on the previous occasion, with the exception of Mr. F. L. Williams (the defense), who was absent.

In the course of the trial there was some talk as to whether or not the U.S.A.—a U.S.-confiscated check, money, etc., were in the hands of Chief Justice Sutherland, who was then attorney general, or Attorney Hartley (in the affirmative); but the court attorney again insisted that the U.S.A. should be given to the U.S.A. and the property, a number of auto cases, etc., should be turned over to the parties.

When the U.S.A. was given to the U.S.A. the witness called the inquiry, was still examining under the lash of cross-examination administered by Attorney Hartley, said: "I am not so sure that the U.S.A. should be given to the U.S.A. and the property, a number of auto cases, etc., should be turned over to the parties."

When the U.S.A. was given to the U.S.A. the witness called the inquiry, was still examining under the lash of cross-examination administered by Attorney Hartley, said: "I am not so sure that the U.S.A. should be given to the U.S.A. and the property, a number of auto cases, etc., should be turned over to the parties."
