NEWS OF THE WEST.

An Owner Discovered to Unclaimed Deposits in Two Banks.

TRAMPS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

The Search for Coin Deep, the Outlaw—Silk "Grass" by Wholesale.—Miscellaneous.

Durango, Colo., papers want miners and prospectors sent to camps in the Animas gold belts before spring.

Glenwood, Colo., people wholesome is coming and run wet. New Castle owners intend to beat the market with $2.50 coal.

Reno, Nevada, is having a record of advancements with 3,000 people estimated and the most jingle of any town in town on every side.

Buffalo, Wyo., is new in the possession of booming times. Ninety per cent of the lots have been sold and business is brisk, writes an exchange.

At New Castle, Colo., the town hearted fathers have made it unlawful to ride on the back of a steer. He climbed upon a cow's back and rode from Wisconsinera to Reno, Nev., a distance of 175 miles, in the night time. When he got cold he dropped down among the cattle for warmth.

In Ireland, fowlers with milk and honey, says the San Francisco Chronicle, the honey is probably made by bees, but the milk is not always manufactured by cows. Over a third of the liquid sold as milk in this city never passes through the turbid distillery at all, but is compounded, to correct hourly burnt sugar, salt and water are needed.

Two of the cleverest and smoothest crooks and confidence operators that ever visited Southern California dropped into Los Angeles the other day, picked out their victims, "worked" them and then left. These two worthies are known in every city in the United States and Canada. They are Italians by birth and generally operate upon their own countrymen.

At the present time Riverside county, Cal., is overrun with tramps, and, as a consequence, the county jail is filled with the undesirable element. For some time past the tramps have been kept at work on the roads, but now they have refused to work and are locked in close confinement. They will be kept on bread and water until willing to go to work. The men are well and the success of the difficulty is a matter of conjecture.

Five members of Sheriff Smith's posse have just arrived in Fresno, Cal., from the mountains, where they have been waiting through snow and weathering storms of rain, in the hopeless search for the notorious escaped convict, Chris Evans. They have not caught a glimpse of the slippery convict, but have located him many times, but he always was just a little ahead of them and always vanished like a zephyr on the breeze.

Attorney W. H. Holcomb was publicly horsewhipped on the streets of Los Angeles, Cal., on Friday morning, by his divorced wife and a woman named Stylianos. Mrs. Hyman's work was brought to a climax by proceedings against Holcomb, whereby that he used his wife as a dummy to other women in divorce cases. It proved an expensive attorney and profession. The court granted the divorce, but refused to restore to Mrs. Holcomb any of her property. That Holcomb would attempt such shenanigan is clear, and presents a pretty case, with the court.

The end of the last season was rejoicing a large number of certain merchants in public. Out of seventeen deposits but already a few have failed to get their money, and in the Pacific Express Company. Away back in the William H. Harley died in Denver, leaving an estate to be wound. Mary A. Harley, and an administrator was appointed by the county, who, after had final account of administration, and received a decree of confirmation on June 5, 1893. It has now been discovered that the administrator has neglected to report to the Illinois heirs to whom he is owing a balance of $12,017.92, and to the German bank $10,000.00.

Warrants were received in Reno from that on one of the Ophir, Nevada mines and Lake Tahoe, and that the Reno Bank of Nevada, and Lake Tahoe, and that the Reno Bank of Nevada, and Lake Tahoe, and that the Reno Bank of Nevada,