

JOINT MANEUVERS THING OF THE PAST

Recent Boston Campaign Taught
Some Valuable Lessons but At Too Great Cost.

LOSSES EXCEED THE GAINS

War Department Officials Convinced
Militarymen Could Have Learned
As Much Otherwise.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Joint maneuvers of the regular army and the national guard are a thing of the past; at least there will be no repetition of the recent Boston campaign, as long as the present directing forces in the war department are in control.

Some valuable lessons were learned in that period of stress and privation, but the cost in human suffering is held by the war department officials to have been out of all proportion to the benefits derived.

And besides they are now convinced that all of real utility taught to the soldiers could just as well have been imparted through other means and without filling the hospital columns during the campaign and without causing the dreary lists of absentees on company roll call in the national guard armies since then, attributable to sickness.

Wherefore it has been decided that hereafter the participation of militia in an encampment with the regular soldiers every second year will limit the intermingling of these forces.

Critics of the maneuvers now declare that the brunt of the suffering fell upon the private who, it is claimed, did not need that sort of instruction, while the officers could have gotten it otherwise.

ATCHISON DIVIDEND

New York, Oct. 6.—The directors of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad today declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock. This is an increase of 1/4 per cent over the last previous semi-annual dividend. It was announced that dividends hereafter will be declared quarterly instead of semi-annually.

T. Dewitt Cuyler of Philadelphia was elected a director in place of the late H. H. Rogers. Mr. Cuyler is also a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

ONE MORE DEATH DUE TO TYPHOID

Marion Willey Succumbs Today—
Eleven New Cases Reported
To Health Board.

One more death and 11 new cases of typhoid fever were reported in the last 24 hours. The epidemic is gaining headway again and the city health department seems to be unable to cope with the situation. Dr. M. R. Stewart does not seem to be very much exercised over the matter. He and two deputies are doing some good work. It is probable that the state board of health will be called in to handle the situation. The death is that of Marion Willey, 5 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willey, 258 west Second North. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. from the residence.

The victims reported in the last 24 hours are:

Clarence Wordworth, 16, 152 west Third South street.
J. C. Burkland, 145 north Fifth West street.
Lee Chamberlain, 454 east South Temple street.
Marion Doyle, 127 F street.
R. R. Rankin, 10 Narver court.
Leonora Bardley, 412 south First West street.
John Bridge, 51 Eleventh East street.
Esther Smith, 856 east Eleventh South street.
George R. Knight, 21 years old, 529 west Seventh South street.
Florence Jacobson, 15, 23 north Eighth West street.

HARVARD HAS NEW PRESIDENT

Before Great Concourse of People
Abbot Lawrence Lowell Inaugurated.

CEREMONY OUT OF DOORS

Over Scholars, Scientists and Theologians Waved Crimson Banner
Of the University.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 6.—Scholars, scientists and theologians today paid tribute to Abbot Lawrence Lowell, as he pledged himself before a great concourse of people in the old Harvard yard to the work of president of America's oldest educational institution.

It is 40 years since the old brick buildings looked down upon the then youthful Charles W. Eliot at a similar inauguration.

The ceremony today was held out of doors, with the principal actors on a temporary stage built against the walls of the university hall. The stage extended the entire length of the building with a depth sufficient to seat nearly a thousand people, including a chorus of 200.

Over them waved the crimson banner of the university, with the great Veritas seal resplendent in colors on the broad wall behind. In front white, eagle tipped staffs bore the seals of the eight next oldest American colleges, William and Mary, Yale, University of Pennsylvania, Princeton, Washington and Lee, Columbia, Brown and Dartmouth.

Two taller staffs supported the Indian seal of state and the eagle emblem of the nation.

Before this stage were rows of seats for the spectators.

The preliminary interest centered in the great assembly in front of the old halls of Massachusetts, Stoughton and Holworthy. It was here that the full brilliancy of the academic gowns was seen. The following was the order of the principal exercises of the day:

Choral—Laudate Dominum (Converse), the Alumni chorus.
Prayer—Rev. W. W. Fenn, dean of the faculty of divinity.
Oration in Latin—Lester Burton Struthers, senior.

Induction of the president—By John D. Long, president of the board of overseers.

Response—The president.
Choral—Domine Salvum Fac Praesidentem Nostrum (Gounod), the Alumni chorus.

Inaugural Address—The president.

Choral—Great is Jehovah (Schubert), the Alumni chorus.

Conferring of Honorary Degrees—The president.

Benediction—Right Rev. William Lawrence.

FOREIGN DELEGATES

The foreign delegates were easily distinguishable by the color of their gowns. James Bryce, the British ambassador, prominent in the center and crimson of a doctor of Oxford university and a hat of black velvet.

The procession was of great length. Thomas N. Perkins, of the board of overseers, the chief marshal of the day, marched alone. Following in line by two came the president of the alumni association and the president of the university, the fellows of the corporation, the governor and lieutenant governor of the state, the governors, military staff and the dignitaries, civil, educational, military and naval.

Sheriff Farber, garbed in a blue brass-buttoned "awallow-tailed" coat, and wearing his official sword, called the gathering to order.

The ceremony of induction having been complete, President Lowell delivered his inaugural address.

LOWELL'S ADDRESS

He dealt largely with the development of the college of the old type and in the course of the address, said:

"A discussion of the ideal college training would appear to lead to the conclusion that the best type of liberal education in our complex modern world aims at producing men who know a little of everything and something well. Now, if this be taken in a rational rather than an extreme sense, is it impossible to achieve this within the limits of college life?

"That a student of ability can learn one subject well is shown by the experience of the honor schools of Oxford and Cambridge, but for us this alone would not be enough because our preparatory schools do not give the same training as the English and because the whole structure of English society is very different from ours. For American students the wise policy would appear to be that of devoting a portion of their time to some one subject, and taking in addition a number of general courses in wholly unrelated fields."

FALLS FROM STREET CAR

While attempting to board a moving Wampanoag car at Second South and West Temple streets this noon, W. W. Rivers, 75 years of age, father of Deputy City Recorder Ben Rivers, fell from the car and was hurled against a pole by the force of his fall. He was badly cut above the left eye and bruised several places about his upper body. He was taken to the emergency hospital and given prompt attention and will be removed to his home. His injuries, while painful, are not dangerous.
