

AMONG INDIAN AND BEARS.

Henry W. Bigler Tells the Story of Joseph Cunningham, a Victim.

Life Among the Aborigines of Australia.

How He and His Friends Found the Last Year with the Bush.

St. George, Utah, Dec. 11, 1898.

To the Editors:

Allow me to relate some events that took place in Harrison county, Virginia.

My story is for the most part the same as Joseph Cunningham's, who had been captured by the Indians about 1840 and lived with them about 18 years.

He was taken to a place called "The Cave" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Mountain" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Valley" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Plain" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Hill" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Lake" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The River" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Sea" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Sky" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Earth" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Sun" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Moon" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Stars" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Planets" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Universe" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Cosmos" and there he lived for some time.

He was then taken to a place called "The Galaxy" and there he lived for some time.
