

tendants were at first of the idea that she had been attacked by a burglar and had not yet recovered from her fright. She was unable to disabuse their minds, for the dislocation of her jaws had temporarily deprived her of the power of speech. Dr. Well said that it was not unusual for a person to dislocate one jaw while gaping, but it seldom occurred that both articulations were thrown out of place by such an act.

Willie Winn, aged 6 years, son of Mrs. Mary Winn, of Alameda, Cal., suffered a shocking death Friday afternoon under the wheels of one of the narrow gauge trains which pass his home. The little fellow was playing near the track with a companion Lloyd Murphy, when the accident occurred. He saw the 2 o'clock local from Park street running toward the mole approaching Willow street at full speed and ran out to watch it pass. "I guess I'll jump on it," he cried laughingly to his playmate, and as the cars were passing he went near enough to the first coach to touch it with his hand. He must have slipped, for he was immediately drawn under the second car. The wheels caught him and in a moment he lay dead by the side of the track with the top of his head out off. The Murphy boy ran screaming to Mrs. Winn and there was a heartrending scene when she rushed into the street and saw the cruelly mangled body of her little son.

Three atrocious murders were committed recently by Pedro Gutierrez, a bandit of Jalisco, Mexico, and officers are out after him in all directions from the town of Santa Maria de Guadalupe. A few days ago a commissioner of police, learning of Gutierrez's previous crimes, secured papers for his arrest and started out to serve them. Gutierrez went to a hall that night, browbeating the dancers and forcing the girls to dance with him. He learned that the officer was after him, and, securing his rifle, he went out into the street and fired at Antonio Tinajero. The latter fell with a bullet through the head. Senora Librada Ochoa was near by and went up to the dying man and tried to carry him into a doorway. The murderer shot and killed her. She was about to give birth to a child. The populace was terror stricken, and Gutierrez made his escape on horseback. He said he was going to find the commissioner of police. Soon afterwards he encountered a boy named Maximiano, whom he killed. He also wounded a man and woman passing by, though not one of his victims was trying to arrest him. Gutierrez escaped into the hills and may elude his pursuers.

E. E. McCullough and Duncan Davis were hunting birds and jack-rabbits down through the lava beds near Oroville, Cal., says the Oroville Register, and when near the old Chinese town they heard the tinkle of a bell from beneath their feet. Startled for a second, they quickly came to the conclusion that a cow had tumbled down a shaft and was walking about in one of the tunnels. A short search proved that a cow was in the shaft, but luckily it was not deep. Davis started for the nearest neighbor's house to borrow a pick and shovel and McCullough in the meantime strolled off to see if he could find a flock of quail. When the cow saw them leaving her she bellowed so pitifully that McCullough hadn't the heart to desert her, but sat on the bank and told her the story of the cow that jumped over the moon. He says the poor brute acted with human reason and seemed to know she was to be released, for almost as soon as they began digging she commenced to try to climb out. The shaft was about eight feet deep, and an hour or two enabled them to cut down the earth so the beller could get up the bank. From her looks she had been in the hole fully three days.

OBITUARY NOTE.

MARGARET HOPE WILLIAMS.

Died, at Hyrum, Cache county, Utah, on Wednesday, February 17, 1897, of general debility, Margaret Hope Williams, aged 64 years. Deceased was born January 19th, 1833, at Bristol, Gloucestershire, England; moved to Aberystwyth, South Wales, and embraced the Gospel there in 1851, and emigrated to Utah in 1853; settled in Cedar City, Iron county, and in the year 1860 moved to Hyrum, being one of its founders; she was mother of the first child born here; she leaves a husband and six married children to mourn her loss; also 31 grandchildren and one great-grand child.

The funeral was held at noon Sunday, Feb. 21, and a large congregation assembled to pay their respects to an old neighbor, friend and associate in the Gospel. Elders C. C. Shaw, Evan Owens, A. A. Allen, James Unsworth and Bishop J. F. Wright made consoling remarks.

Sister Williams died as she had lived, a faithful Saint, with a full assurance of a glorious resurrection with the just.—[Com.]

Millennial Star, please copy.

AGNES E. OVIATT.

CLEVELAND, Emery county, Feb. 16, 1897.—Agnes E. Oviatt, daughter of Henry H. and Sally R. Oviatt, born May 17, 1866, in Circle Valley, Piute county, Utah; died February 10, 1897, at Cleveland, Emery county, Utah, of inflammation of the bowels. Sister Agnes Oviatt was one of those young ladies who was loved and respected by all who knew her, being always on hand to give assistance to those in need. At the time of her death she held the position of president of the Y. L. M. I. A., which place she had filled for five years to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. She was also secretary of the Sunday school from the time it was organized in Cleveland until the time of her death. She also held the position of treasurer in the Relief society of the Cleveland ward for seven years; and in all her labors was always punctual and energetic. She was a faithful Latter-day Saint, and died as she had lived, in full hope of a glorious resurrection.—[Com.]

BIRT DAILEY.

MT. CARMEL, Utah, Feb. 11, 1897.—Birt Dailey, son of Milton and Mary M. Dailey, departed this life December 26, 1896, after six weeks of intense suffering, of typhoid fever. The deceased was 16 years, 7 months and 6 days old when he died, leaving a host of friends to mourn his absence. He was a good, faithful Latter-day Saint and his salvation is sure.—[Com.]

JOHN BLAKE.

SOUTH JORDAN, Feb. 22, 1897.—John Blake, son of Richard and Mary Ann Blake, was born November 5, 1821. He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Dorsetshire Conference, Aug. 31, 1852. He afterwards presided over the conference for a number of years. With his family he immigrated to Utah, arriving July 3, 1877.

He has been a faithful member and died in good fellowship with a strong hope of a glorious resurrection. Two paralytic strokes ended his career on Feb. 18, 1897. He leaves five sons, two daughters and thirty-two grandchildren to mourn his loss.

Funeral services were held Feb. 22, at the South Jordan ward house.

Many friends were present to pay their respect to the remains of the departed and condole with the bereaved family.

J. A. OLIVER.

Millennial Star, please copy.

WILLIAM SHIPLEY.

Died, February 19th, 1897, at his residence No. 837 Twenty-second street, Ogden, Utah, of catarrhal pneumonia, William Shipley. Deceased was born May 24 h, 1825, at Percy Main, Northumberland county, England; was married to Elizabeth Dixon at Alenwick, Northumberland, April 14th, 1855; he was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, December, 1836, by Elder Richard R. Hodson, at Radcliff, Northumberland county; emigrated to Utah, May 29th, 1853, and has resided in the Third ward of Ogden city ever since. The obsequies were held in the Third ward meeting house, February 23rd, 1897, Bishop R. White presiding. The singing was very appropriate, and under the direction of leader George Hyde. Prayer was offered by Elder Thomas Doxey. Elder John W. Taylor, Elder Joe. Perry, Bishop Winslow Farr and Bishop B. White were the speakers. The remains were conveyed to the Ogden city cemetery, followed by a large number of relatives and friends in carriages, where all that is mortal of Brother William Shipley was laid to rest in peace until the resurrection to receive the reward of the faithful. He leaves a wife and daughter and a host of friends to mourn the loss of a wise counselor, a good husband and kind father.

WILLIAM J. LEE.

Millennial Star please copy.

THE DEAD.

Peaceful be their Rest.

CARRINGTON.—In this city, of peritonitis shortly before midnight, March 4th, Edith T. wife of Calvin S. Carrington.

THOMPSON.—March 5, 1897, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, born May 24, 1829, at Hanton, Northamptonshire, England.

WILCOX.—Of brain fever, Myrtle Wilcox, aged 18 years, 9 months and 7 days; oldest daughter of Frank A. and Anna A. Wilcox, at Kureka, Sunday, the 7th inst., at 12:20 p.m.

ROCK.—In Center ward, Salt Lake county, Utah, March 6, 1897, of asthma, Thomas Rock, born February 6, 1821, Pondlane, Smithwick, Warwickshire, England.

Millennial Star, please copy.

DUNCAN.—March 6, 1897, at Woodland, Summit county, Utah, Mary Duncan; born May 11, 1811, at Trennet, Hiddingtonshire, East Lothian, Scotland.

Millennial Star please copy.

WARNER.—Vilate Warner, daughter of the late Isaac James and Jane Elizabeth James, died at Oakland, Cal., February 26, 1897. She was born and reared in Salt Lake City. She was 38 years, 2 months and 6 days old. She was a devout Christian woman and spent six years in Africa as a missionary laboring with the natives and accomplishing a great work. She was blessed and baptized in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints when she was 8 years old, afterward going to California. She married a Methodist minister and joined the Methodist church.