

TERRY MCGOVERN ON YOUNG CORBETT

Says Little Denverite Invoked
Anger of Ring Hoodoo By His Talk.

NOW PAYING THE PENALTY.

For Insulting Language Which He Used to Gain Advantage Over Opponents.

"I told Young Corbett that he would never have a day's luck in the world when he fought the last time, and it is coming true all right, and while I am naturally sorry for anybody that seems to be down and out, I have no sympathy for his troubles. Any man who talks to an opponent in the ring the way Corbett talked to me when we met in 'Eisen, deserves all the hard luck that he can get."

That is what Terry McGovern thinks of Young Corbett and his downfall. He made the statement to a sporting writer who calls himself Sol Pex. The little ex-champion has never forgiven the Denverite for the way the latter talked to him during their last fight. It will be remembered that Young Corbett made pugilistic capital of Terry's hot temper and addressed all the insulting taunts and opprobrious epithets to the Brooklynite that he could think of the result being that Terry flew into a rage and threw caution to the winds, leaving just the openings that Corbett was looking for, and got well punched for doing so. It had been newspaper gossip before the battle that this was what would happen and it turned out just as Corbett said it would. Consequently, Terry holds Corbett in no high place in his favor. And it may be said right here that Terry would rather fight Corbett again than Jimmy Britt or Nelson—just to even up old scores. It would be no financial match, this. It would be a fight of great bitterness. It is seldom that personal enmity plays so great a part in the pugilistic game as between these two little fellows.

Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons profess to hate each other cordially, but it is just possible that the two wily old campaigners did this kind of talk very lucrative in their theatrical affairs. People like to hear such things and they realize it. But with Terry, it is all in the square. Although he is in the theatrical business himself and probably appreciates the use of such things, he is a different little fellow and would rather get square for all the indignities Corbett put on him—would rather get back at his conqueror—than almost anything else in the world. And then Terry does not think he is a "dead end" by any means. He points to his easy victory over Eddie Hanlon in Philadelphia.

Terry is a thorough little sportsman. In addition to his pugilistic tendencies, he owns a couple of fast horses here and is willing to bet large sums that driving them himself, he can beat anything on the speedways with the same margin.

Just now, however, with the theatrical season drawing to a close, Terry's hands are itching to swing bats and jabs at some of the big ones in the ring. He has been challenging all along the line, directing his denials at Britt, Nelson and Corbett, but none of them has yet made answer. It may be that they do not care for the Brooklynite's game. Certainly Terry is as good a drawing card today as Young Corbett or Eddie Hanlon. And right here let me state one thing more, that if Corbett and McGovern came together in the ring, again, the Terror could reverse the score. He has a clean life and keeps himself in condition, while the Denverite is just about at the end of his string in the line of dispositions. Not only is Terry in earnest about fighting the toughsters, but he is willing to bet a goodly sum of the chunk of the coin of the realm on his chances.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

Big Game Between Salt Lake and Eureka Scheduled for Saturday.

The association football enthusiasts are anticipating witnessing one of the best match games of this season with Eureka on Saturday afternoon at the U. of C. campus. The home team is having daily practice on their grounds at the Tower Hill, and are confident they will put up a stiff battle with the rabbers' crack eleven. No doubt this will be a closely contested game, the two teams being pretty evenly matched. It will be remembered that when they played last month that both sides failed to score, so the spectators are assured that they will witness the greatest game of the season.

Eureka has a team that just country may well be proud of, but Salt Lake boasts of a sturdy eleven also and there will be something doing when they come together again.

The first annual contest and ball of the Salt Lake Association Football club will be held Saturday at 8 p. m. in the M. V. A. hall, Jennings block.

Special to the "News." Butte, Mont., April 5.—According to Manager Heilbroner of the Thornton bowling alley, a seven-team telegraphic bowling tournament is now practically assured. San Francisco, Seattle, Spokane, Salt Lake, Portland, Denver and Butte will participate in the tournament, being conducted under the management of the sporting editors of the principal papers in the towns contesting. If the scheme goes through the match will be rolled April 14, according to present plans.

TERRY AFTER BRITT.

Little McGovern Anxious to Sign Up
Slippery Jimmy.

"I will fight Britt or Nelson at 12 pounds ringside for $500 or for any sum that they will agree upon," said Terry McGovern, in Milwaukee last Saturday. "My theatrical engagement expires May 7, and then I am going to re-enter the field for championship honors in earnest. Britt is the man I want most to meet."

Terry seems to be cut after the toughsters in earnest, and he is in excellent trim at present. He appears to go for anything he looks over. He is gradually preparing himself for a meeting with Britt or Nelson, which he hopes to arrange some time in June.

"I will not fight in San Francisco, but I have received an offer from the Eureka club of Butte, and would like to arrange a match there," he said. McGovern has a new departure in the shape of a fast pace which he carries with his company. The horse, which he has named "Terrible Terry," has a mark of 2:22, and his owner says he will back him to beat anything with a mark of 2:18 for a large sum. He also recently received a present of a handsome gelding from Billy Roche, and this new livestock carries the terrifying nickname which his master loves for so long a time.

Terry also said that he would be willing to arrange a match with Jabez White and would agree to put him out in ten rounds.

"SOCKER" FOOTBALL.

"Strathclyde" Pleads for Formation of Association Clubs.

To the Sporting Editor: All lovers of the "Socker" game of football will have a splendid opportunity of witnessing a hard contested game between two teams representing the Salt Lake Football association and the Eureka association clubs on Saturday at the U. of C. campus. Cummings Field, which has been tendered to the clubs on condition that half the gate receipts go to the gymnasium fund. English, Irish, Welsh and Finnish people are all interested in the grand old game, so turn out and assist in popularizing the game that is clean and sportsmanlike, and which does not have a tendency to brutalize as some outdoor sports have.

It is a well known fact to many residents of this and neighboring towns that both the English and Scottish football associations have the matter of rough or foul play well under control, and considering the thousands who take part in the game the list of suspensions of players for violations of these rules is comparatively small. Indeed, it is no uncommon thing to hear of 30,000 or 40,000 people paying admission to the national

The Danes Jewels Co. has very kindly offered to put up a challenge cup for competition in the state if enough clubs can be organized to make an interesting competition. Now the what is the matter with Ogden, Provo, Layton and other of the cities and towns of the state organizing? Surely there are enough "Socker" football players in the various towns mentioned to produce several teams. If this kind of thing can be taken up, please communicate with Chas. V.
