LOCAL BRIEFS.

The contractor has broken ground for the new Whitaker & Dallas building on west Third South street, to be used as a cigar factory.

The graduate nurses of St. Mark's hospital training school will meet next Tuesday afternoon, to organize an alumnae association. There are now 46 graduates of the institution, a number of whom reside in this city.

The United States marshal's office is looking after a gang of counterfeiters which has been circulating spurious 25 cent pieces since the first of the year. The counterfeit may be detected by a faulty ring. Numerous local merchants have been deceived.

James Johnson, N. P. Gudmundson and S. B. Tuttle were arrested yesterday for driving on the sidewalk. At police headquarters they said that the condition of State street in the vicinity of the Salt Palace made it necessary to drive there. The pedestrians say they must have a place to walk and the teamsters say that they must have a place to drive.

The following citizens were elected yesterday afternoon members of the Commercial club: Henry M. Adkins, Fred A. Slade, William Hill, T. W. Partridge, Dr. A. J. Shores, Ernest Crisp, H. T. Boulton, W. H. Young, Mr. LeVelle, W. J. Tuddenham, James Langston, A. E. Weby, D. C. Jackling, Dr. E. S. Wright, George F. Goodwin, W. B. Andrew.

F. W. Silver, who is under arrest charged with disturbing a religious meeting, may be examined by the authorities as to his sanity. He is alleged to have passed the Salvation Army barracks yelling strange and meaningless phrases, such as "Can you lay bricks, and asking peculiar questions. He says the Army owes him money and that he can't collect it. This is his way of "howling them out," as he expressed himself in court.

An Austrian hired a horse at 8 a. m. yesterday from a Murray livery stable and drove to this city. When he returned at 9 o'clock last evening the horse fell to the floor of the stable as it entered, drew in its hindquarters, and in a dying condition. The Austrian was intoxicated, and was held by the stable keeper until he could be arrested by the city marshal. When searched $100 and a dagger were found on his person. He was held on charge of cruelty to animals and carrying concealed weapons. The fellow refused to give his name.

John Creps, the boy charged with exhibiting a deadly weapon, and who is said to have threatened the life of his father, mother and little baby brother, is thought to be insane. The authorities will have an examination conducted for the purpose of determining this fact. In police court yesterday afternoon the boy acted so strangely that this conclusion was arrived at. As the boy is under arrest at the request of the father and as he is under age, it is possible that a guardian ad litem will be appointed to enter the boy's plea and to conduct his case.

The careless firing of a gun by L. R. Metz at his home, 22 1/2 N. Grande avenue, on Jan. 6, 1905, is the basis of a damage suit which was filed in the district court yesterday afternoon by John Connolly. Plaintiff alleges that he was passing Metz' house when a stray bullet from the latter's gun struck him in the left leg. He was confined to his bed for some time by reason of the injury and his loss of time and the cost of the bill are figured at $100. He alleges that his leg has become stiffened and the injury is permanent and he asks damages in the total sum of $2100.

BITTERNESS OVER LAND BOARD BILL

Roberts and Miller Clash During Consideration of the Measure.

WAS FINALLY RECOMMENDED.

Wootton's Bills Enlarging Powers of City Councils Passed—Favors Private Bank Bill.

As stated in last night's "News," the house went on record yesterday afternoon as favoring H. B. No. 3, by J. A. Anderson, providing for the examination of private banks. A majority of the committee recommended that it be not passed, while the author of the bill brought in a minority report, which he pressed for adoption as a substitute for that of the majority. The gentleman invited debate on the proposition but there was none on tap, so the report of the minority was declared adopted. It is now up to the author to prepare for a vigorous fight when the bill comes up for final passage.

Some bitterness was aroused over H. B. 62, which had been made the special order for 3 o'clock. The bill in effect for Mr. Roberts and provides in part for a reorganization of the state land board. When introduced it was referred to the committee on public lands, of which Representative Miller of Kanab is chairman. The committee had had it under consideration but it developed that certain members of the committee were opposed to its passage at this time. McCrea opened the bill by moving that it go over for one week. Miller seconded the motion. He stated that the bill had not had proper consideration as it had been rushed through the committee and its author had insulted a senator, who had a bill to the same effect under consideration. It developed that certain members of the committee were opposed to its passage at this time. McCrea opened the bill by moving that it go over for one week. Miller seconded the motion. He stated that the bill had not had proper consideration as it had been rushed through the committee and its author had insulted a senator, who had a bill to the same effect under consideration.

ROBERTS REPLIES.
Arising to a question of personal privilege, Mr. Roberts denied that he had insulted the senator. He said if any insult had been offered it had been to himself and the governor, as the committee had paid more attention to Senator Walton's bill than it had to his. "There seems to be a suspicion of ulterior motives in this matter," continued Roberts.

This brought Mr. Miller to his feet with the remark that so long as he was chairman of the committee, he did not propose to have any man come in there and dictate to him.

The motion to defer was put to a vote. The bill was read the third time and brought up for final passage. The committee had recommended an amendment striking out the provision that more than two of the three members of the board should be of the same political party. Wilson opposed the amendment. He thought the board should be non-partisan. The gentleman declared against partisanship in state affairs and notified his colleagues that Republicanism would not always be triumphant in this state. During his remarks he spoke of the employment of incompetents to fill positions of trust and said that a prominent gentleman of Salt Lake had told him that $80,000 appropriated for roads and bridges had been wasted simply because the work was conducted on a political basis.

Mr. Cottam was also opposed to the amendment, and said that the success of the Democrats in Washington county was largely due to the fact that they employed good men, regardless of their politics. The amendment was stricken out.

BILL RECOMMENDED.
At this point McCrea called attention to the fact that the bill was in conflict with a law passed in 1905. To make it right Roberts sought to amend the title, but as the amendment was of a serious nature, Tolton moved that the measure be recommitted. The motion carried.

During the session Roberts sought to have the bill recommitted to the committee on judiciary, but Miller objected to the transfer, so the effort failed. Wootton's bill, No. 42, enlarging the powers of city councils, was next considered. Carroll Kano, whose bill for fire inspectors in unincorporated towns, was killed Monday, moved to strike out all of the legislation which allows city councils to prevent the dangerous construction and condition of chimneys, fireplaces, hearths, stoves, etc. He explained that as the members had not considered it necessary to allow such inspection in unincorporated towns, it could hardly be necessary in cities. Mr. Kinney argued that the cases were not analogous. In cities, he said, careless construction might endanger the neighborhoods, while in isolated districts this was not the case. Mr. Carroll replied that some of the unincorporated towns had more people and houses than incorporated towns. His motion was lost.

Joseph moved an amendment striking out the section providing for the inspection of steam boilers, as he feared it would conflict with Cromar's bill on the same subject. Wootton replied that this clause was not mandatory, whereupon the motion was put to a vote and lost.

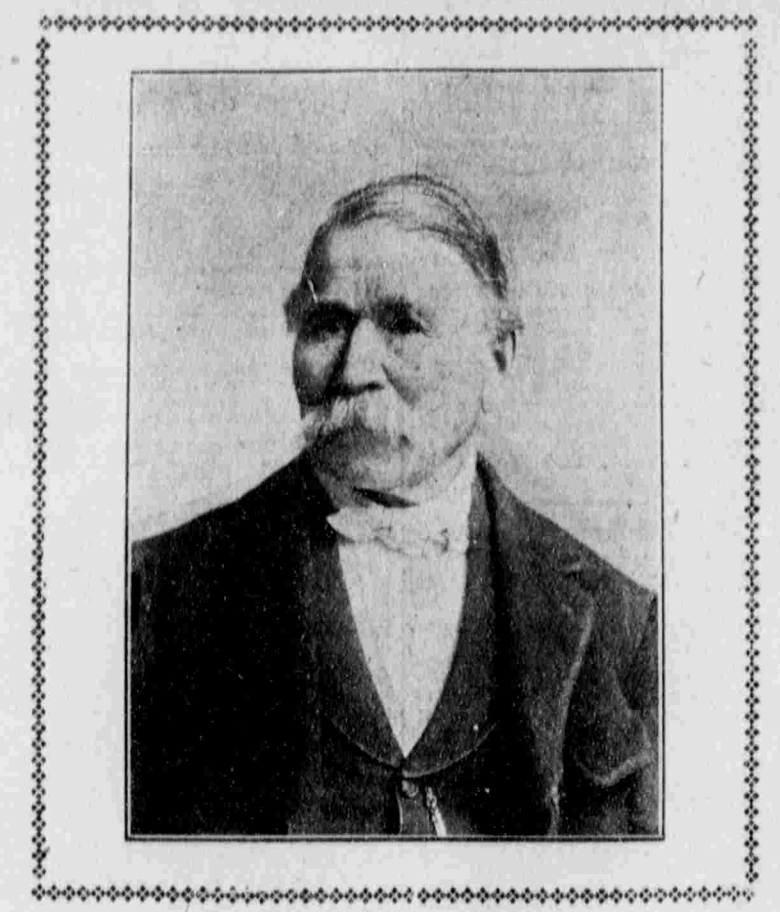

WOOTTON'S BILL PASSED.
The bill was passed by a vote of 34 ayes and 5 nays. Those voting "no" were Dalley, Joseph, Kuehler, Panekake and Hull.

The measure gives city councils the power to increase the tax for irrigation from 30 to 75 cents per acre; to license insurance companies and agencies; to regulate the speed of automobiles; to invest in canal companies; to require bonds from junk dealers; to regulate the running of steam and street railways within the city limits; to license, tax and regulate billboards, billposting and the distribution of advertising matter; to provide against the offense of obtaining money under false pretenses, and to create the offense of embezzling money or property under $50 in value.

H. B. 45, by Kinney, providing an additional method for taking depositions without the state, was passed by a vote of 36 ayes and 11 nays, the latter being Fishburn and Panekake.

Another bill passed by the house was H. B. 77, by Hawley, providing that where county treasurers fail to make reports to the state treasurer their compensation for one quarter shall be withheld by the county commissioners.

Before adjournment the house accepted an invitation to visit the University of Utah on Friday morning, special cars to leave the corner of East Temple and First South streets at 9:30.

ISHMAEL PHILLIPS DEAD.
Old Time Saltwater Citizen of Salt Lake County Gone Beyond

The death of Ishmael Phillips occurred in Union ward Feb. 5. The deceased was 89 years and 9 months of age. He was born at Sutton's Lakes, Hereford, England, May 22, 1815. In 1834 he married Mary Goodsell who embraced the Gospel in the same year. Elder Phillips was a member of the United Brethren and was converted to "Mormonism" by Elders Wilford Woodruff and Willard Richards in 1840. A few days after his baptism he was ordained a Priest and later took the field as a missionary and president of his branch of the Church. He continued to travel in the missionary field until 1853, when he moved to Birmingham. There he continued to labor in the interest of the Church for 10 years.

In 1863 he left his native land and started on his long journey to America, leaving London June 4, and arriving in Salt Lake City Oct. 4, with Capt. Edward Woolley's train of pioneers. On arriving in this city he took up his residence in South Cottonwood, where he continued to labor actively for the advancement of his cause. In the capacity of Teacher he labored with Andrew Cahoon and Joseph Rawlins. Elder Phillips was ordained as Bishop July 1, 1877, and sustained in this position the same day. He was placed with Union ward which then consisted of Sandy and Union. This position he retained until 1900 when the stake was divided and he was ordained a Patriarch under the hands of President Lyman.

Ishmael Phillips was one of the stalwart old timers of Salt Lake county. He was made of the stuff that makes pioneers successful. In all the work that reclaimed the county in which he lived so many years he was much interested; and in a great deal of it he personally participated. Above all he was a good man and all who knew him will revere his name. His funeral takes place from the Union ward meetinghouse this afternoon.

STALWART SALVATION ARMY WORKERS.
Commissioner Kilby and Wife—The Former Will Lecture at the Grand Theater Tonight

Tonight in the Grand theater Commissioner George Kilby of the Salvation Army will deliver a lecture on the world-wide work of the Army, dealing especially with personal experiences in England, Ireland, New Zealand, Australia, Java and South Africa. Traveling with Commissioner Kilby is Brigadier Ashley Peabbles, a noted Salvation Army singer, and composer of many popular Salvation songs. The two men are traveling together across western America, where they are now assigned to duty as supervisors under the direction of Commander Booth Tucker. They arrived in Salt Lake this morning at 2 o'clock, and will leave after the lecture for a tour of Idaho and Montana, where the Army has recently acquired extensive property holdings. Mrs. Kilby accompanies her husband on the tour.

of this act the sum of $8,000 is appropriated. Referred to the committee on education and art.

STREET CAR MEASURE.
H. B. 125, by Kinney, regulating the running of street and electric railways and the collection of fare thereon, provides that said companies shall run cars in sufficient number to furnish each passenger with a seat; that where such seats are not available the passenger shall be entitled to ride to his destination without the payment of fare, provided he claims such exemption at the time the fare is demanded. The bill makes it a misdemeanor for any employee or officer of said companies to refuse to take on passengers at indicated stopping places whether there be unoccupied seats in said car or not. The bill was referred to the committee on railroads and common carriers.

Hawley's bill, No. 126, increases the salaries of county superintendents of schools in counties of the ninth class from $300 to $1,000 per annum; in counties of the tenth and eleventh classes, from $600 to $1,000; in counties of the twelfth class, from $500 to $1,000; in counties of the thirteenth class, from $200 to $750; in counties of the fourteenth class, from $250 to $500; in counties of the fifteenth class, from $200 to $500. Referred to committee on salaries and fees.
