

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

To the Ladies of Salt Lake City and vicinity.—We call your attention to the largest and best selection of Boots, Shoes and Slippers for the Fall trade, ever brought to Salt Lake City, and in prices, quality considered, we defy competition.

Geo. Dunford.

Z. C. M. announce that they will pay the highest market price in cash or merchandise for dried peaches, apricots, and plums, and will call for them at the owner's residence, and will also pay the highest market price for wheat, oats, barley, corn, eggs, hides, and wool, in any quantity. Read the advt.

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "common cold" in its first stage, that which in the beginning would yield to Brown's Bronchial Troches, if neglected often works upon the lungs. The peculiar finish of the Elmwood collar makes it thoroughly perspiration proof. All first class furnishing stores sell them.

GENTLEMEN, we wish to notify you that we are daily receiving all the latest novelties in Hats and Caps issued by the leading hatters of eastern cities. In prices, the quality considered, we defy competition.

IMPORTANT TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.
It is the duty of all persons before starting on a journey to ascertain by what route they can reach their destination with the least trouble, and if there are two or more roads leading to the same point, to decide which is the safest and pleasantest to travel.

We take pleasure in stating, that the CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY is the oldest, and several miles the shortest, route between Omaha and Chicago. Within the last two years the road has been put in admirable condition, and almost the entire line has been re-laid with steel rails.

The Depot in Chicago is central ly located, and as their trains arrive there thirty minutes in advance of all other lines, passengers can always be sure of making East coast connections.

Close connections are made at Chicago with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, Kanabake Line and Pan Handle Routes, for all points EAST and SOUTH-EAST.

If you are going to Chicago, or East, you should, by all means, purchase your tickets the Old Pioneer Route.

The Chicago and North-Western. You will find on all through trains Pullman Sleepers, new and magnificent Day Coaches, and the best Smoking and Second Class Cars now on any road in the United States.

Particular information with maps, time tables, etc., may be had of any of the Through Ticket Offices in the West, or upon personal or written application to J. W. Irons, Ticket Agent, Salt Lake City, A. H. Earl, Ticket Agent at Ogden, or to J. H. Mountain, Western Traveling Agent, Omaha, Neb., or to W. H. Stennett, General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

Don't BE IMPOSED UPON!!—H. Reiser, opposite the Herald Office, has Watches and Clocks for all who want reliable timepieces. Repairing done on short notice. Everything warranted. d30

EVENING NEWS.
Saturday, September 4, 1875.

Local and Other Matters.
THERMOMETER 86 degrees F in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Fine.

Funeral Services.—At ten o'clock to-morrow morning the funeral services of President Geo. A. Smith will be conducted in the New Tabernacle, and there is every indication that a great concourse of people will be present to pay their last respects to the departed.

The Remains.—From eight to ten o'clock to-morrow morning the remains of President George A. Smith will be at the New Tabernacle, to be seen by those of the people who may desire to view them.

Religious Services.—Meeting in the New Tabernacle at 2 p.m. to-morrow, and in the evening at the various Ward meeting houses.

Real Estate and Mining Journal for Sept. 1 contains a number of articles bearing on the resources of Utah.

The Last Company.—The last company of this season's emigration will sail from Liverpool on Wednesday, Oct. 13.

For Australia.—Elders Welling, Stead and Miller go on board the S. S. Great Britain, at Gravesend, on the 24th of this month, and sail on the 25th for Australia.

Return It.—Should anybody pick up a piece of a silver watch chain, with key attached, they will oblige by leaving it at this Office for the owner.

Utah Educational Journal for Sept. contains, among many other things, "Theory and Practice of Teaching" by Carl G. Maeser, and "History of Education in Utah," by Supt. O. H. Riggs.

That Beating Affair.—We are pleased to learn that Mr. D. McAlister had nothing whatever to do with the beating of John C. Lambert on Wednesday evening, but acted rather as a peacemaker.

More Cheap Trains.—The Utah Western Railroad Company will run special trains to-morrow from the terminus of the line and return at half the usual fare, to enable the people of Tooele Co. to attend the obsequies of President Smith.

Will Start Again.—On Monday morning President D. H. Wells and Elders Lorenzo Snow and Franklin D. Richards will leave the city again on their proposed trip through the south. They will visit the settlements of Sevier County, will also go to Kanab and St. George, returning to this city on or about October 6th.

Ward Sunday School Superintendents.—We remind the superintendents of the Ward Sunday Schools of the notice of the Superintendent of the S. S. Union regarding the suspension of Sabbath school meetings to-morrow, to give the teachers and children an opportunity to attend the funeral services at the New Tabernacle.

Cactus.—The following note and accompanying specimen cactus, a fine one, were received this morning:

"Editor Deseret News:
"I have received a consignment of cacti from Mr. J. E. Johnson, of St. George, by whom I am requested to give the editor of the News a nice plant. I have selected one from the 'Bee-hive' variety, which I beg your acceptance of, in his name."
"Respectfully,
"JOSEPH L. HANFORD,
"Museums."

"Sept. 14th, 1875."
The cacti received by Prof. Barfoot embrace four varieties—the "cholla" cactus, the "millaria," the "opuntia" and the "corona." We understand they are on sale at the Museum.

The Work in England.—Elder Henry C. Fowler, now on a mission in England, and laboring in the London Conference, writes to a friend in this City, under date of August 15th. We extract the following:

"Sunday was at home, a small house, about eight miles inland from Hastings. We had out-door meetings and a congregation of between two and three hundred. Some of the people were from two to three miles to hear the word. I believe good will be done in that neighborhood. I am told it was the largest meeting ever held there."

"To-night I expect to hold an open air meeting here (Ashburnham). A Methodist parson came to me last evening, and the result will be more hearers to-night. He made so much noise that I advised my presence and lost no chance to announce the meeting to the people."

Our Country Contemporaries.
Ogden Freeman, Sept. 3—

A blue heron was discovered in the slough just back of the Beardsley House, Wednesday, by Mr. L. W. Craig, who obtained a gun and brought down the heron. He took the bird to St. Louis with him.

A fine mountain sheep was among the recherche of the Beardsley House dinner table yesterday. It was brought down by Mr. Wm. Sadler, conductor on the C. P. R. He caught sight of it while driving out with a little pleasure party, and hired a man to watch it while he came to town and procured a gun at Carroll & Dees' and went back and shot the last range.

On Sunday last a little nephew of Mr. John Johns, of North Ogden, went in bathing while a number of other boys were undressing on the bank. It is supposed the water chilled and cramped him, for he sank almost instantly, and his playmates saw he was drowning. Before assistance could be given him he had sunk for the third time, and when his body was brought out of the water, life was extinct. The position of his limbs indicated that he had been seized with severe cramps. He was an orphan son of Mr. Johns' sister.

Mr. Tibbals a Pullman conductor on the U. P. R. informs us that when he went to Omaha, a trip or two ago, he saw at Grand Island myriads of grasshoppers, and that when he came back the next day almost every one of them had been killed by very small parasites, that ate of their wings and otherwise defaced their anatomy. It may be a providential act that these parasites are to annoy our country but little more, by reason of these parasites devouring them. It is stated that a thousand of them infest the body of a single grasshopper.

Correspondence.
Visits to London, Swindon, Scotland, and Newcastle.

NEWCASTLE ON TYNE, August 18th, 1875.

Editor Deseret News:
Permit me to say that I am well. After staying two days in Liverpool, I took train for London, to visit my wife's sister, where I spent twelve days. I also paid a visit to Swindon, the Great Western Railway depot for the manufacture of their locomotives and carriages. The works are very extensive and well worth a visit. While there I visited Brother H. Cox's (of the Deseret Telegraph) father and mother, also an aunt and uncle. I also visited a friend who resides at New Swindon. I also lived at a hotel, and did a great deal of first-class preaching, and was well received by all parties. While in London I had the privilege of speaking to the Saints of that great city.

On the 3rd of June I left London for Edinburgh by steamship for Leith. After a pleasant voyage of two-and-a-half hours, I landed at Leith. I visited the following places where my relatives were living—Bridge of Johnston, Glasgow, Stirling, Doune, Dunfermline, Leith and Leven, after an absence of twenty-five years. I found many of my relatives, and as a general thing was well received by them. Of course many questions were asked and as many answers given relative to Utah and the "Mormons," but no particular desires were made manifest by the relatives to the gospel. I had the privilege of meeting with the Saints in Glasgow and speaking to them in meeting. I also accompanied Bro. David McCune to the Glasgow Green, where he delivered a discourse on the gospel to a respectable audience.

While visiting an uncle and aunt at Stirling I visited several scenes famed in Scottish history, such as the castle, monuments in the cemetery, the Field of Stirling, Cambracken Abbey, and the Field of Bannockburn. The castle I was much taken up with, for there I spent many an hour when a boy. "The castle stands on an elevation of 30 feet above the plain. The rock is chiefly of a greenstone trap. Here several of the Scottish kings were born and crowned. Here the unfortunate Mary was crowned Sept. 9, 1543." Sir Walter Scott says,

"As down the steep descent, fair Scottish kings and nobles went."
From the castle hill there is a very fine view of the Field of Bannockburn. I spent several hours in the field, viewing the scenery and the "Borestone," which held the standard of King Robert Bruce on the eventful 24th of June, 1314.

"High in his stirrups stood the king, And gave his battle axe the swing."
I visited the battle field of Sheriffmuir, about two miles east of Dunblane. The battle was fought on the 13th of November, 1715, by the Highland clans under the command of the Earl of Mar and the royal troops under the Duke of Argyle. It is amusingly described as follows:

"That at Sheriffmuir,
A battle there was I saw, man:
An' us ran, and us ran,
An' us ran, an' us ran,
An' us ran, an' us ran, man."

That is, both parties claimed the battle. Several days in Edinburgh, hunting among the records of the past. I collected a number of names of my ancestors, but not as many as I would like to have had. But I will try again before I leave this country.

The old town, from a historical point of view, is the most interesting part of Edinburgh. Two or three days ago I took a walk down from yonder windows. If we but knew it, every crazy teatant has his tragic story, every crumbling wall tells a tale unfiled. The Canongate is a Scottish history fossilized. What ghosts of kings and queens walk there! What strife of state, what nobles' Montrose was dragged up thither on a hurdle, and smothered with disdainful glance his foes gathered together on yonder balcony. It was here the redoubtable Jenny Geddes, on the 22nd of July, 1687, hurled her stool at the head of the Dean of Edinburgh, when he came to read the collect, exclaiming: "We did so, 'Geddes!'" The doll colle the we me o' ye. Wud ye say man at my lug? The Pretender rode down here, his eyes dazzled by the glitter of his father's crown, while his big pipes skirted and fair ladies looked from yonder windows. Down this street, too, often limped a little boy, called Scott by name. The visitor starts a ghost at every step. Nobles, gave senators, jovial lawyers, had once their abode here. The Canongate once seen is never to be forgotten.

On the 15th of June I left Edinburgh for Newcastle, my present field of labor. Twenty-two years ago I traveled in this conference and preached the gospel. In my travels through this conference I find a few of the old Latter-day Saints that were here during my former labors. They are still faithful and looking for deliverance, and singing the song,
"The thought that such a day will come,
Makes even the exile's portion sweet."

Since I came to this conference I have traveled a great deal through it. I have had some excellent outdoor meetings, from fifty hearers up to five hundred, who listen very attentively. There are very few baptisms, but I trust that the seed sown will one day produce the desired effect. I find that there is not that anxious desire to investigate the doctrines as there was when I first began to preach the gospel, about thirty years ago. I can assure you that I will leave no stone unturned that will advance the interests of the work of God. I have just returned from the northern part of this conference. Brother Nelson is in Westmoreland. Brother McFarlane, President of the conference, is in the south part, where I expect to meet him the end of this week.
