MONEY MATTERS.

Shipment of Currency to the West and South Continent.

CHICAGO HOUSES ASK FOR TIME
Dealing in Government Bonds—Secret Meeting of the Clearing House Committee.

New York, June 14.—The shipment of currency to the West and South by the New York banks was continued today and excited much comment. The amount sent yesterday was estimated at more than $1,000,000 and another million was arrived today. The bankers agreed to say that the demand was largely due to the distress prevailing everywhere in our country, and especially in the West, where there have been great many failures both of banks and of commercial houses.

The stringency of the money market is being exerted at so many points in the country, owing to the fact that other banks out West are suffering as much as possible, and that is causing the hoarding of money in those places and a consequent drain upon the funds of New York City. As a result many New York banks are being compelled to call in loans in order to maintain their available reserves.

The sending forward of wheat, it is believed, will only account for a very small part of the demand for currency out West.

Last week the United States treasury took $1,000,000 from India banks as a result of the weekly operations, but this week it is expected that the banks will gain at least $3,000,000 from the treasury, and possibly more. Not a week is the time of remittance of the gold, and will reach its height next week.

It is reported that in Wall street today three large insurance houses in Chicago were endeavoring to get extensions in this city from wholesale brokers who had given them credit. A large insurance house in this city of Chicago, with abundant assets, had to pay 12 percent for an extension to this is over a tight place.

Lack of buying is also reported to be one of the unfavorable features of the market, especially attributed to the continuation of the bad state of affairs in the West and generally to the money stringency and lack of confidence.

Dealers say the transactions in government bonds may have been in excess of the amount mentioned above, but they did not know exactly what it was about $1,000,000 in the past fortnight. The supply came from the West, and there has been a sacrifice of about 1 per cent in the price.

There was a meeting of the clearing-house committee, which was called a special one and lasted more than two hours. None of the members would say why the meeting was called or what was done, but later in the day it was stated from a reliable source that the object of holding clearing-house meetings as regular intervals, in order to secure ready cash was the subject of discussion. So far as learned the committee did not desire to issue certificates of deposit, but the matter was left to the master going over to the second meeting to be held tomorrow.

C., June 14.—The attorney general's department is of opinion that the case of the Bering sea tribunal of arbitration will be concluded within the next ten days, and with the exception of General Agent Foster, all the officers named in the American case will return to the United States. It is also expected that the decision of the arbitrators will be announced by the first of August.

THE GOLD RESERVE.
The treasury gold is being built up by deposits in New York of gold bullion. It is estimated that the total gold in the West is now $22,100,000, an increase of nearly $1,000,000 over the day before.

THE BOBBIN BURDEN.
Damaging Testimony in the Case Yesterday.

New Bedford, Mass., June 14.—Mrs. Gilford, a dreamer, testified in court that she believed in her heart that she was a saint, and that because she's a saint, nothing can happen to her. "I don't have much to do with her," Lizzie further said she stayed in her room all day. While eating at the same table they never took their meals together. Alice Gilford gave the same testimony.

Witnesses who were in the neighborhood the morning of the murder, none of whom saw anyone enter or leave the Gilford house. A cross-examination, however, showed that such a thing was possible without being seen.

John Ragan, the police station master, testified that on August 24th, while Lizzie was in her church, Emma came, "I went into the toilet room and, hearing loud talk, looked out and found Lizzie trying to get away from her. Lizzie said, 'You can give me away, Emma, but I don't care; I won't give in to you.' Emma said, 'Oh, Lizzie, I don't.' They stayed together nearly two hours, but never spoke again until when Emma left on her good-bye, the maid ordered her not to do it.

On cross examination, Mrs. Ragan denied that she told a reporter she would sign a paper saying the "You gave me away" story was true. She said, "I didn't tell her to do it. She asked me to sign it, and I signed it." Emma's defense was that she had given Lizzie a gun and told her to use it.

Bridge Sullivan was recalled and identified the bloodstained handkerchief which was found inside Mrs. Gilford's body as the same which she was wearing.

In this, the dingy neck who was to testify that Lizzie tried to purchase poison from him the day before the murder, was called, but an objection was raised by the defense and after considerable argument the court ruled that he could not be allowed to remain in the witness box. The administration of state tactics was agreed to.

He returned with the defense that the evidence would be admitted. Lizzie flushed visibly, but an adjournment was immediately taken until he returned.
