TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!
From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 6, '81. R. FITZPATRICK

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters! (5)

THE LIVER AND ITS FUNCTIONS.

It has become a well established fact that the larger portion of diseases to which the human family is subject arise in the first place from some derangement of the Liver. This organ is not only the largest, but at the same time one of the most important. The venous blood, on its return to the heart, passes through this organ, and in the passage the impurities, as also the secretions which are necessary for digestion as well as for a cathartic to assist in the renewal of waste material &c. are eliminated. From this it is easily seen that the Liver is liable to get out of order to a greater or less extent, and when this occurs it is impossible for it to properly fulfil its office of removing all objectionable matter from the blood, but allows it to pass through, carrying with it the poisons of which it should have been relieved. With impure blood the whole system becomes affected, and no organ can properly perform its function unless it is supplied with pure blood to maintain its strength. So the Liver becomes all important, and when one has the feeling of being continually tired, worn out, is constipated, with tendency to Piles, Headache, Sick Stomach, Sallow Complexion, Eruptions of Skin, etc. they may be sure their Liver is out of order, and a remedy is required to assist nature in relieving itself of all accumulations, and restore it to its original Strength and Vigor. For all the complaints of this kind there is no medicine that equals

DR. S. F. SHERMAN'S PRICKLY ASH BITTERS. The result of years of study, experiment, medical research and practice of Dr. S. F. Sherman, its originator, and its success wherever used is sufficient testimony for its merit. Drastic Purgatives and that class of remedies can have but one effect—that is by their violent action to derange and weaken the system. Prickly Ash Bitters acts directly on the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, & Bowels, in a mild yet effective manner, and is so pleasant to the taste by any one, and is so easily taken by children as adults.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS is a medicine of rare merit, and not an intoxicating beverage, and being purely vegetable in its composition can be used at all times with beneficial results. It is not claimed as a cure-all, but for derangements of the organs mentioned, it is a specific and as a BLOOD PURIFIER ranks above all other preparations. Ask your druggist for it, and give it a fair trial. If he has none on hand, ask that it be ordered for you.

LODGING FOR TEN CENTS.

THE STIFLING BASEMENTS WHERE CHICAGO'S TRAMPS FIND NIGHTLY REPOSE AT A DIME A HEAD.

On Clark Street, less than two blocks south of the Grand Pacific Hotel, are a dozen stifling basements before which gleam after dark transparent signs announcing that lodgers will be accommodated there for ten cents a head. Below each sign a series of crazy steps lead down into a shabby door with a broken latch. Passing through this door one enters directly into the mysteries of the cheap lodging house.

First of all there is an immense stove whose ruddy sides send out volumes of heat which give the gloomy basement a tropical atmosphere. The apartment is long and narrow, and the ceiling is low and draped with dusty cobwebs. In the early evening a dense group of strange-looking beings cluster around the raging fire. They are hopelessly dilapidated as to clothing. They are supplied with indescribable head-coverings and impossible foot-gear. They smoke poisonous tobacco in pestilential pipes. They converse little, being either sober and stupid or drunk and dismal. But they glory in the heat. Though their smoking garments are almost ready to burst into a blaze from its intensity, they crowd still closer to the source of their enjoyment.

In the corner by a little desk stands the proprietor with his book of accounts, in which he is writing with the stump of a lead pencil. He has none of the gaudy garments and gleaming jewelry of the aristocratic hotel clerk, but he looks clean and comfortable enough. The long rows of figures on every page indicate that the house is doing a rushing business. By the proprietor's side are displayed a wooden pail filled with water, a tin basin, a rubber comb, and a broken blacking-brush. These compose the lavatory and toilet outfits of the establishment. On the other side of the proprietor are several tiers of pigeon holes constructed out of rough boards and containing various articles of wearing apparel which had been left there by the lodgers for safe-keeping. A kerosene lamp burns by the proprietor's book. At the back of the room another lamp of the same description is suspended from the ceiling. Their light reveals two long aisles with several rows of bunks, formed of heavy planks nailed together, rising on either side. The bedding of each bunk consists of an old quilt made double by a fold down the middle. On one of these sumptuous couches a weary tramp may purchase for a dime the privilege of reposing over night.

Slowly the circle around the stove contributes its dimes to the watchful proprietor and stumbles off to bed. Each man, when he has undressed, ties his discarded clothing in a ball and swings it from the ceiling above his couch by a piece of twine. This is a wise precaution against the danger of its being invaded by small a ragglers of the night. If he has any article of value, such as money or a whole coat, he leaves it in the care of his landlord. He would not trust it in reach of his fellow lodgers for less than its full value, rightly classing most of them in the ranks of the pickers and stealers.

Having disposed of his garments, the lodger consigns himself to the protection of the folded quilt. Around him lie dozens of his kind. The narrow basement being below the surface of the ground, and having only one entrance, is almost air tight. The huge stove belches forth its heat at all hours. The smoke of many tobacco pipes has defiled the imprisoned air, and the breathing of the hundred lodgers adds its horors to the tainted atmosphere. The heat and foul air of the room would make it an intolerable sleeping place to any one not accustomed to such surroundings. But the lodgers sleep, and sleep soundly. If a fire should start in the basement from any cause, as from a breaking lamp or a blazing match, the inmates would have small chance of escaping. They would most likely be smothered or roasted to death in their uneasy beds.

A few of the basements are better kept than those which have been described. The bunks of at least one of them are clean and supplid with pillows. In several the price of beds ranges from a dime to 25 cents, the dearer ones being of a fair quality. Many of the lodgers in the more respectable basements are honest laborers, but in nearly all of them the tramp element is largely represented.—Chicago Nation.

A FATAL WARFARE.

THE HAYTIEN STEAMER THE PATRIE PLAYING SAD HAVOC AT MIRAGOANE

Special advices from the seat of the Haytien revolution state that the war vessel of the revolutionists, the Patrie, arrived at Miragoane on the 14th of November towards eight o'clock in the morning. Two steamers, Esther and Egalite, were found in port. The first took a hasty refuge behind a battered island, while the second struck by a shell of the Patrie, was wrecked near Source Salee, where it was abandoned by its crew. A severe fire was opened on the Patrie from the batteries at St. Roume, Ilots and Source-Salee, but the vessel by its more powerful cannons silenced them one after another. Towards 3 o'clock in the afternoon an unknown steamer, which proved to be the Dessalines, recently bought by Prest. Salomon, was sighted in the east.

After a patriotic address by Gen C. Chessagne to the crew and troops on board the Patrie, the approach of the Dessalines was eagerly awaited. She came to within a distance of 50 feet and then opened fire with two shells from a mitrailleuse. The revolutionists responded with a hail of balls, sweeping the enemy's deck and obliging her to move off at great haste. This first action took place before Tron-Chou chou and did not last more than a minute. The Dessalines described an immense curve, grazing the shore to get to the rear of the Patrie. The combat was renewed at 4 o'clock but at first cannon only could be used. The two ships, however, approached near enough to bring the carbines into play. The enemy's fire became feeble and soon ceased, her entire crew seeking refuge below deck.

The Dessalines then sailed off at a distance beyond the range of the bullets and again sought to flank the Patrie. The battle lasted in this way until 10 o'clock in the evening, when, profiting by the obscurity of the night, the Dessalines definitely retired, leaving the Patrie uninjured and victorious on the scene of the encounter. The loss on the Patrie is five killed and six wounded; that on the Dessalines must have been considerable, for her crew had to take shelter twice below deck from the bullets rained upon her. The same night the Patrie continued her course, arriving at Jacmel on the 18th.—N. Y. World.
