

14 tables. Autumn leaves and nasturtiums were arranged with artistic effect throughout the rooms, and the scores and tables were hand-painted cards. Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Cousins and Mrs. Gridley were prize winners. Assisting the hostess were Miss Pinkerton, Miss Willis, Miss Lee, Miss Crandall and Miss Kirkendall.

Mrs. Myra Rosseter entertained this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Martineau and Mrs. Will Preston of Logan. The rooms were prettily decorated with autumn leaves and the entire lower floor was thrown open. Eight tables being laid in each room. The house was beautifully decorated, each room having its distinct tint, the candelabra shades on the tables corresponding with the room's color. The drawing room was in red, with American Beauty roses as the decoration, and yellow chrysanthemums aided in carrying out the color scheme in the hall. In the breakfast room pink roses were used, and the dining and smoking rooms were done in green and white, with roses, ferns and palms artistically arranged. Lace spreads covered the tables, lined with the prevailing tint of the respective rooms, and the place cards were in the chosen colors. A string orchestra stationed in the music room furnished beautiful selections and the entire affair was delightful.

The week has been a notable one in social annals, every day having been marked by one or more elaborate affairs. Receptions, card parties, Kensingtons and luncheons have been the chief events, and opening dancing parties of the season were held at the Ladies' Literary club, the Mesdames Druehl and a dancing club, a society of Salt Lake's young people, being the hosts of the occasions. Next week promises also to be a busy one, several large events being planned.

On Tuesday Mrs. W. S. McCormick and Miss Keogh were hostesses at an elaborate luncheon at their home on North Main street. Eighty guests were present and the entire lower floor was thrown open, small tables being laid in each room. The house was beautifully decorated, each room having its distinct tint, the candelabra shades on the tables corresponding with the room's color. The drawing room was in red, with American Beauty roses as the decoration, and yellow chrysanthemums aided in carrying out the color scheme in the hall. In the breakfast room pink roses were used, and the dining and smoking rooms were done in green and white, with roses, ferns and palms artistically arranged. Lace spreads covered the tables, lined with the prevailing tint of the respective rooms, and the place cards were in the chosen colors. A string orchestra stationed in the music room furnished beautiful selections and the entire affair was delightful.

Another elaborate affair of Tuesday was the reception given by Mrs. F. A. Druehl and Mrs. Walter Druehl. The affair took place at the home of the former, and a large number of guests were present during the afternoon. Autumn leaves were the sole decorations, and these with varied tints shading from pale yellows and greens to russet and deep scarlet, created a most artistic effect. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Ferdinand Dickert and in the dining room Mrs. Milton Oglesby and Miss Preston presided, assisted by the Mesdames Parker, Kearns and Sinclair. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. I. N. Parker and Mrs. A. W. McCune, Jr., about 200 guests calling through the afternoon.

Mrs. A. H. Tarbet was hostess at a delightful affair on Tuesday given in honor of Mrs. Donohue of Park City. The home was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers, ferns and palms, American beauty, white and pale pink roses being used with greens in the different rooms, and making a picture of each. An orchestra on the upper landing rendered delightful musical selections, and punch was served. Mrs. George Reed and Miss Marie Luce performing this office, while Mrs. Dickert and in the dining room Mrs. Milton Oglesby and Miss Preston presided, assisted by the Mesdames Parker, Kearns and Sinclair. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. I. N. Parker and Mrs. A. W. McCune, Jr., about 200 guests calling through the afternoon.

A delightful event of the week was the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Park on Wednesday night in honor of Dr. and Mrs. K. G. O'Brien. The hours were from 8 to 10, and a large number thronged the prettily decorated rooms, brilliant with flowers and shaded lights in yellow, pink and green, with American beauties, cosmos, chrysanthemums and greens being used in the artistic arrangement. Lemonade was served in the library by Miss Stanchfield, and assisting in the diningroom were Mrs. Milner, Mrs. Edwin Kimball, Mrs. E. E. Calvin, Mrs. E. W. Whitney, Mrs. George Steiner, and the Mesdames Kimball and Calvin. Receiving with the hosts and guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. McMahon. The Deseret Mandolin club was stationed behind a large of palms in the hall and furnished music during the evening.

Among the delightful events of the week was the reception given by Bill club at the Ladies' Literary club. The affair was for members only and was the first of the usual series. Franklin served punch and Christensen's orchestra furnished the music. The punch booth was prettily decorated with autumn leaves. The affair was enjoyed by everyone, and was a decided success. Those present were Mesdames Elliott, Agnes Watson, Teresa Taylor, Eliza Griggs, Teresa Taylor, Hilda Whitney, Emily Whitney, Bessie Pett, Dorothy Dwyer, Christy Patten, Genevieve Horlick, Nana Chapen, Naomi Pett, Edith Hart, Lucile McChellap, Flossie Mitchell, Nan Jaensch, Jean Taylor, Lulu Peterson and Sarah Williams. Durr, Frank White, Jimmie Nelson, Westly Wilson, Bill Bay, Ernie Burton and Robert Wilson.

On Thursday night Mesdames F. A. and Walter Druehl gave the last of their series of parties of the week, the event being in the nature of a large dancing party at the Ladies' Literary club house. Nearly two hundred invitations were issued, and the brilliant throng with its setting of beautiful decorations made an effective picture. The reception room was done in palms, ferns and autumn leaves and these last were also used in profusion in the large hall and basement, refreshments being served in the latter place from small tables prettily adorned with leaves, flowers and shaded candelabra. One of the rooms was converted into a smoking room for the male guests, and cozy corners everywhere added to the attractiveness. Assisting Messrs. and Mesdames Druehl in receiving were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Franken. The event was in every way a most elaborate and delightful one.

Mrs. W. S. Henderson was hostess at a pretty afternoon function on Thursday. "G" was played, there being Classy, Mrs. Melvin, Mrs. Hobbs, Miss Pointer, Miss Hackett, Miss Smiley.

Miss Dooley was hostess at an elaborate luncheon at the Commercial club today, given in honor of Mrs. Samuel Adams of Denver. The decorations were in white and green, white chrysanthemums being used with ferns and smilax, the candelabra with pink shades making a pretty note of color in the scheme. Present besides the guest of honor were: Mesdames Murray, Rob Walker, Channing Stout of Fort Douglas, Pearsall, Cunningham, Franklin, Ned Terry, Rykert, Hempstead, Robert Smith, Arthur Bird, Pardee, McCutcheon, and Misses McCormick, Burke, Giddes, Jacobs, Zane, McMillan, Read, Sherman, Derr, McGrath, Williams, Noble, Nason.

Mrs. James W. Neill and Miss Neill were hostesses at a most enjoyable afternoon function on Thursday, the entertainment being the game of "hearts," supplemented by an informal reception for a number of the men who dropped in, and with the other enjoyed a musical program given by Mrs. Kate Bridwell, Anderson, Mrs. Agnes Osborne, and Miss Phyllis Young, tea being served after vespers. At the close of the game prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hepburn, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Butler. About 70 guests were present during the afternoon and the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Officer, Mrs. Coray, Mrs. Taggart, Mrs. Hepburn and Mrs. Franken.

Wednesday was a red letter day at the Country club, the entertainment was in charge of the members from Fort Douglas who proved themselves ideal hosts. Mrs. Barth served tea and in the putting contest Miss Judge
