FRAGMENTS.

THE current number of the Exponent is out.

ROBERT DYE has had some valuable plants stolen from his garden.

S. R. THURMAN was in attendance at the Third District Court to-day.

LOGAN, Cache County, is considering the question of opening a city park.

S. H. WHITTAKER was down from the penitentiary to-day on business.

THE Janish company will arrive at 7:30 this evening, on the Utah Central.

ROLAND REED plays "Humbug" in the capital of Cache County this evening.

THE Thalia Opera Company leaves for the east to-morrow. The stop-over was to see Janish to-night.

HYDE & GRIFFIN, fruit dealers, are moving to their new quarters, 129 and 131 East Temple Street, their increase of business necessitating removal to the larger building.

ALL who desire to participate in congregational singing at the Tabernacle are invited to attend the choir practice to-morrow evening, and bring their hymn books with them. The practice commence at 7:30 o'clock in the Tabernacle.

THE excursion to England, which leaves in the latter part of this month, has been extended to include Scotland, Ireland, Germany and Denmark. Those who intend to take advantage of the opportunity for a cheap trip to Europe should read the advertisement of Messrs, Rossiter and Spence in to-day's issue.

WE formerly called attention to the fact that there are hardly ever enough programmes distributed in the Theatre and we hope the management will take note of it and see that the custom is changed. Last night, when the house was not over half full, there were not half enough to go round in the parquette alone, and this is a great annoyance to the auditors and ushers too, one that occurs continually.

At Liberty.—Brother James May, of Call's Fort, Box Elder County, was released from the penitentiary to-day having paid his fine of $100. He has served his term of six months' imprisonment, for violation of the Edmunds law. He will leave for home in the morning.

Admitted.—William Enders, Christopher C. Foster, William Weaver, Jacob Bai, Niels M. Johnson, John Barrel, Henry J. Walk, George W. Willis, Theodore Tobiasson, Thomas Teskie, Robert Sherwood, George Smith, L. M. Iversen, and William H. Guiver were admitted to citizenship in the Third District Court to-day.

The Dean Case.—The trial of Jos. H. Dean, of this city, for polygamy, was taken up to-day, in the First District Court, at Ogden. A jury was obtained by noon, and the examination of witnesses for the prosecution was proceeded with this afternoon. F. S. Richards introduced Deputy Exum to Florence Ridges, who was in the court-room, and was subpœnaed as a witness in the case.

Personal.—Hon. A. O. Smoot, of Provo, came up from Provo on Thursday morning.

Mr. D. L. Mauger, of the Philadelphia & Reading, has been making a visit this far west, and to-morrow returns east over the D. & R. G. This is his first visit and he has evidently enjoyed it. His home is Reading.

Mr. Otto Fass, of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, has been in this city for a few days past, making his maiden visit here. He turns his face Denverward to-morrow and will be accompanied by the well known and popular P. J. Flynn, of the same road.

Releases and Appointments.—Elder John Tanner, of the Manchester Conference, and Elder Orvil S. Thompson, of the Glasgow Conference, are released to return home with the May company.

Elder William Wood, jun., is released from the London Conference and appointed to labor in the Irish mission.

Elder Joseph Graham is released from the Nottingham Conference and appointed to labor in the Liverpool Conference.

Elder Edward Clyde is released from the Irish mission and appointed to labor in the London Conference.

Elder Thomas Y. Stanford is released from the Liverpool Conference and pointed to labor in the Glasgow Conference.—Millennial Star, April 25.

Registration.—Mr. Duncan Noble, Deputy Registrar in the Fourth Precinct, has made arrangements to open an office at room No. 4, Hooper & Eldredge block, Friday and Saturday. Those living in his precinct who have not seen him, can meet him there between 12 and 3 o'clock on the days mentioned, and have their names placed upon the list.

Less progress is apparently making in the Fifth Precinct than in any other in the city. Mr. Wilkes, the Registrar there, was taken to task on Monday last by the Commissioners for the manner in which he retarded registration by asking questions, and he was plainly told that 15 regestrations a day were not sufficient and that he should expedite his work. If but 45 persons were registered on Wednesday, as is reported, Mr. Wilkes has hardly been bothered by voters, as alleged, or he has discovered a way of standing them off.

Mr. Jos. H. Hurd, Deputy Register of the First Precinct, will be at the Eight Ward schoolhouse on Friday, Saturday and Tuesday evenings next, from 5 o'clock until 8, to register persons applying.

Sanpete Oolite. — This beautiful rock is being shipped to this city in considerable quantity. Messrs. Watson Brothers inform us that they have already this season received eight carloads of it for their business alone. They are using it principally for the facing and ornamentation of buildings, though it is also employed for monumental and other purposes. The great advantages of it over other kinds of stone for this class of work lie principally in the facts that it is nearly white in color, of comparatively uniform texture, not too gritty and consequently easily cut into the various shapes required, while at the same time it has the great advantage of becoming harder and firmer the longer it is exposed to the air. Messrs. Parry & Sons, of Manti, Sanpete County, are working two large quarries of this rock, the supply of which is practically inexhaustible. It is forwarded on wagons a distance of eight miles to Chester, whence it is shipped by rail to this city. The Manti Temple is constructed exclusively of this beautiful stone and many buildings in this city are decorated with it, while specimens of it in mounted form adorn the residence of ex-Mayor Little.

THE AUSTIN LIBEL SUIT.

THE PLAINTIFF TELLS HOW HE WAS PERSECUTED BY BOWERS.

The jury in the libel case of Edward Austin vs. The Tribune Publishing Company was completed last evening, and the case opened this morning. Mr. Rawlins, counsel for the plaintiff, stated the case to the jury, in effect as follows: Mr. Austin had been accused by the Tribune of "scooping a lone woman," prior to his departure for Europe; he was charged with having collected interest on her loans; with stealing $8,000 from her on a Mammoth mining stock transaction, and of swindling her of about $8,000 altogether; and of sundry mismanagements in the affairs of the London Bank of Utah, and with a Mr. Tyndall, and of disposing of his property to his wife. The lady whom he was said to have swindled was a Miss Sarah J. Williams, of Massachusetts.

The defendant's story is that he received money from Miss Williams at her urgent request, and invested it to her best advantage, chiefly in real estate security. He collected the interest and remitted to her monthly, receiving receipts therefor. He had advised the lady not to invest in mining securities, but she insisted, and he bought Crescent, Rebellion and Mammoth stock at the lowest market price, these being what he considered the safest investments in that line. Some of these securities appreciated greatly in value, so much so that in one instance she refused to part with Crescent for double the price she had paid for it. In fact, the business of Miss Williams was conducted in a most careful manner, she received the profits, and Mr. Austin never charged her anything for his trouble.

The transactions of the London Bank of Utah were shown up in an equally favorable light. The bank had been closed on an attachment issued at the instance of W. H. H. Bowers, who sued it for $66,000. The owners, being non-residents, were unable to secure bondsmen to the amount demanded, $120,000, so the bank was closed. The suit of Bowers was prosecuted to a conclusion, and, instead of showing the bank to be indebted to Bowers, revealed the fact that he was a debtor to the amount of over $14,000. It had taken so long to determine this that the bank never reopened. It had, however, paid all local creditors in full, and the few debts still owing were more than covered by the assets on hand. Thus what was heralded as a mammoth swindle on the part of Mr. Austin was really the result of manipulation on the part of Mr. Bowers, who was animated by a feeling of enmity.

This is, in brief, the story of the transaction as told by the plaintiff in this case, and which he says he can prove by indisputable evidence. He had endeavored to have the Tribune retract its libelous articles, but was refused. Mr. Tyndall had also asked that the statements made with reference to Mr. Austin and himself be corrected, but this was not done. Mr. Kirby, who came on in the interest of the London Bank owners had also requested that justice be done to Mr. Austin, but he too met with a rebuff.

Mr. Lannan, president and manager of the Tribune Company, was the first witness for the plaintiff, and was called to show that the articles were published in the paper and to what extent it circulated.

A STOCK FAIR.

A PROPOSITION TO HOLD ONE HERE THIS FALL.

Mr. A. J. Stewart, of Utah County, president of the Stock Association in that County and vice-president of the Territorial organization, has been in Salt Lake for two days with a view to getting up a Territorial stock fair during the coming fall. Yesterday he was among the stockmen in this city and there was a general disposition to encourage the project. The Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society, which formerly conducted these exhibitions, has done nothing for a few years back because of the difficulty of securing a proper place and the great personal risks which the members of the society ran. The veto by ex-Governor Murray of the bill which passed the Legislature, giving a sum of money to the society, and which, in connection with the donation of ground made by Salt Lake City, would have placed the organization in a position of reasonable safety and justified the erection of permanent exhibition grounds, had a [illegible] for since then nothing has been done in the matter of giving a Territorial fair. The stock industry has developed with great rapidity and there is no longer a good reason why this interest, at least with its wealth and active organizations, should not show the progress it has made and excite the public to the laudable ambition of higher breeding. No better method can be devised than to bring conspicuously before the public the advantages of good breeding in horses and cattle by a Territorial exhibition, with friendly competition for reasonable prizes. Thus the people will see and appreciate the great strides that have been made.

Bishop J. R. Winder, president of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society, states that the Society will give its race track and grounds and structures to the stock men for the purpose, and that as a stockman he will cheerfully encourage the project individually. Other stockmen expressed themselves in the same manner and there is no reason why the undertaking should not be pushed ahead. It will undoubtedly prove a grand success and be of incalculable benefit to the Territory at large.

"The Bat."—Surely Momus never held higher or more undisputed carnival at the Salt Lake Theatre than he did last evening, when the above opera-comedy was presented to a large but not crowded audience. From the beginning to the end the piece sparkles with wit, fun and hilarity of the most rollicking description, and to those who are familiar with the ins and outs of the drama in all its phases, there was but little difficulty in penetrating through the mist of foreign language which enveloped the performance and appreciating and enjoying it almost as thoroughly as a native of Fatherland. Certain it is that the applause and laughter, which were at times tempestuous, were not confined to any one or more elements, but were the common tribute of all. The kissing chorus at the end of the second act was so much enjoyed that three curtains were called on it. It is a fixed fact that the Thalia Opera Company have scored a grand success in Salt Lake, and will be warmly received whenever they may return.

The Verdict.—The following is the verdict of the jury impaneled by a justice of the peace to determine the cause of Mrs. Anna Steinstrom's death, an account of whose injuries by the Sanpete Valley Railway recently appeared in the NEWS:

TERRITORY OF UTAH,
Moroni Precinct,
County of Sanpete.

An inquisition of Moroni City, Moroni Precinct, Sanpete County, on the 5th day of May, 1887, before the Justice of the Peace in Moroni Precinct, in said county, upon the body of Anna Steinstrom, there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereby subscribed. The said jurors upon their oaths do say that Anna M. Steinstrom came to her death accidentally, caused by a fall by being pushed over by a locomotive on the Sanpete Valley Ry. No blame attached to anyone. Her age being 76 years.

In testimony whereof we, the said persons, hereunto set our hand, the day and year aforesaid.

A. L. JENSEN,
GEO. P. SIMPSON,
GEO. H. BRADLEY.

Attested the 5th day of May A. D. 1887.

HENRY M. LARTER,
Justice of the Peace.

NOTES FROM ST. DAVID.

DAMAGE BY EARTHQUAKE — TRYING FOR ARTESIAN WATER.

Brother Peter A. Lofgreen, writing from St. David, Cochise County, Arizona, under date of May 5th, says:

The earthquake which took place on the 3d inst. in this locality, and of which you have learned by telegraph, was first felt at this place at 2:45 p.m., and lasted between two and three minutes. First the waves appeared to come from west to east, and after that from north to south.

The damage to buildings at this place and vicinity is considerable. Our commodious schoolhouse was demolished; the west end fell out. All the adobe houses in the place were cracked and rendered unsafe to live in.

We have had slight shocks at intervals ever since. The first night seven distinct shocks were felt. Yesterday and last night five more came, some of them quite heavy.

I have just returned from a visit to a clay flat two miles below St. David, on the San Pedro river, where I saw the earth all cracked open, and through the crevices water and white sand had been thrown up. We could see that large quantities of water had come out of the openings, and the earth appeared to have raised about six inches on each side.

The earthquake caused quite a scare among the people, but fortunately no one was injured. The school was in session, but it happened to be recess, and all the children were outside of the house.

Nearly all the people sleep outdoors at night now for fear the houses will fall.

The schoolhouse was also used as a meeting-house, and its demolition is quite a blow to us, as we have now no place to meet in on the Sabbath day and no place to hold day school.

Our crops look splendid, and there is good promise of an abundant harvest. Late frosts have injured our early peaches; strawberries have been ripe for over a week, and a great deal of the grain is headed out.

The health of the people is good.

All the Associations are in running order and doing much good.

Our Ward is presided over by Bishop M. H. Merrill. His Counselors are P. A. Lofgreen and Jos. G. Allred. We have about forty families belonging to the Ward.

We have some 500 or 600 acres of land under cultivation. We have plenty more land, but water is scarce.

We are now trying to sink for artesian water. If we succeed in obtaining it, this will be a desirable country to live in, as it can then sustain a great number of people, for land is plenty, and we have the best of markets for all our produce. Eggs sell for 30 to 50 cents; butter 35 to 70 cents; grain averages $200 per 100 pounds; beef at present is cheap.

We have a durable climate, and those who suffer from rheumatism would profit by coming here. There are a few places for sale cheap on account of some moving into Mexico. Those having a little means would do well at this place.

Another slight shock of earthquake has just occurred (5 p. m.). The weather is quite warm.

Utah County Association.—The Utah County Stock Growers' Association met in Booth & Brown's office at Provo, on Monday last. There was a fair attendance, and the discussion was quite spirited. Among the subjects brought up for discussion were the holding of a county fair, the establishment of fair grounds, and the appointment of a board of directors for the transaction of business; the propriety of publishing a farm and stock journal, brand sheets, etc. A committee was appointed to confer with the Territorial committee, with a view to ascertaining their ideas on the subject of establishing the paper mentioned.

The president, Andrew J. Stewart, was appointed a committee of one to call upon the railroad superintendents in the interest of county and territorial fairs, and of the association generally, and to ascertain if special rates could be obtained to certain points in Utah County, and also ask for the erection of cattle chutes at Provo and elsewhere.

The members were unanimous in their views as to the benefits of fairs, in their tendency to encourage an improvement in stock, farm products, fruits and flowers, as well as the latest improved machinery.

The president was instructed to call together the executive committee as soon as convenient—after he gets the information necessary to complete further arrangements as to the county fair.

There is an increasing interest manifested throughout the Territory on the subject of improved stock, and Utah County's stock growers have done much to encourage and strengthen this feeling. A. J. STEWART.

An Ordinance that should be Enforced.—There is a city ordinance forbidding parties leaving animals or teams unfastened on the public streets which badly needs enforcement. In fact, very little attention is paid to it, and several accidents have already resulted. As to the danger, an incident that occurred yesterday afternoon will serve as an example. Commissioner Thomas drove up in front of a store on First South Street, west of East Temple. There were quite a number of teams close by, and he noticed one—a large span of horses attached to a heavy wagon—in front of him start up. The team was loose, the driver having gone into a store. As the animals came directly towards him, Mr. Thomas turned his buggy just in time to avoid a collision. Then a team just behind him started up; then a third and then a fourth—all without drivers—and it was only by good luck and a cool head that he got out with his light vehicle. As it was, the drivers of the teams got into the street in time to prevent serious damage. Out of about thirty teams that were within a block at the time, not more than half were hitched or had anybody to take care of them. Will the City Marshal have an eye on this business?

RAILROAD PROJECTIONS.

Editor Deseret News:

The complaisance with which the people of Salt Lake receive tidings that railroads are pushing in this direction is commendable. Experience has taught that they are not unmixed blessings. In almost any other place than here the people, when one considers the efforts making to work up a "boom," would be nearly beside themselves at the prospect of another railroad through Salt Lake or to it. There is reason to believe that a third rail will be laid over the D. & R. G.—in fact, the fast growing competition will force such a step to be taken unless the little road is to be crushed between the contending standard guages. That the Colorado Midland is coming soon has become a settled conviction. Yet there are to be seen no signs of unusual stir over the event. Railroads which open up new country and offer fresh avenues for exportation are always desirable; but it is a question if the benefit to Utah from these roads will be in proportion to what she might expect under reasonably favorable circumstances. Competition, which is said to be the life of trade, but which a great philosopher declares to be its death, is, by the system of pooling and agreements, practically a dead thing among railroads.

What Utah has reason to complain of is not the rates given into her borders, but the rates out of her territory. If the coming of the Midland, or any other road will afford Utah a permanent outlet everywhere at figures equal to those by which merchants in other sections are allowed to enter her domain, it will do a good work for the people of this section, and they will have cause to be grateful. There is the trouble in a nutshell.

The incoming of any railroad here will bring money, and for a time create a temporary business increase. But such are not always healthy. It will probably create one of those periods of unusual demand which now beguile the vain and unwary under the title of "boom." It will also create a permanent business growth and that far will be desirable. If there were good reason to believe that the policy of the Midland will be to encourage exportation from Utah, it may be assured of a welcome and an encouragement that no road can get here without such a policy. Why should not merchants and capitalists here ask for Utah generally such consideration as will enable her to reach out and begin the exportation of those articles of which she can produce more than is necessary for consumption? A guarantee than the people will aid that road which will befriend them, would perhaps have a good effect and would receive very careful consideration. The coming of the Midland will be a benefit. And we believe if permanent interests were held in view by merchants and capitalists and a proposal made to the projected road to assist in a good work that will build up Utah rather than keep her in the background, that road would be apt to afford some relief.

Yours, SCRANTON.

From a recent dispatch we learn that one of the almond-eyed disciples of Confucius is about to graduate as a full-fledged Chinese lawyer. His name is Hong Yen Cheng and he will hang out his shingle in New York.

A class of Mongols has been discovered in the north and west of China, who have ten commandments, observe one day in seven, and in other respects resemble the early Christians. Their system of morals is said to be unexceptionable.

It has been thought that booms were peculiar to the United States, but it seems that this is a great mistake. One of the effete monarchies of Europe can trot out a city that has a first-class boom and one that sticks. The ancient, classical city of Athens has increased its population from 10,000 to 100,000 in the last century, and the shriek of the locomotive is heard in the land.

DEATHS.

HAFEN—In Payson City, Utah County, April 9th, 1887, of asthma, Father John Hafen, aged 73 years, 2 months and 11 days.

Brother Hafen embraced the Gospel in 1859, at his birthplace, Scherzingen, Cantor. Thurgan, Switzerland; emigrated to Utah in 1862. His honest and industrious character won the respect and esteem of all who made his acquaintance. Shortly before his demise he bore a faithful testimony to the truth and divinity of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He held the office of a High Priest in the latter period of his life. His wife and the remaining two of eight children are called to mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and father.

IRVINE.—At 9:30 a.m., May 11, in the Sixth Ward, Sister Agnes Irvine. Deceased was born May 25, 1819, at Berry Hill, Reagond, Airdrie, Scotland. She was baptized in 1844 and gathered to Utah with a sick husband in 1855. In the fall of the same year he died, leaving a family of 7 children, all of whom, save one, survive to mourn the loss of a good mother, a true friend, and a devoted Latter-day Saint.

Notice of funeral service will be given hereafter.

On collars, ties and canes;
But buy some fish from Freeman's store
And cultivate your brains.

Let Edmunds work and Tucker talk
While all the others read;
But when it comes to selling fish
You bet I take the lead.
