EVENING NEWS.

SOUTH AMERICA. AILROAD IN THE HOME OF THE INCAS-CHOLERA, SMALL-

POX, ETC. The following is from the Panama Star and Herald of June 4:

COLOMBIA. The telephone system came into operation in Panama on June 1st for the first time. At present there are twenty-five telephones in full work in the city, and those was have joined have expressed themselves highly satisfied with the results, as they have at once found the convenience to business to be an advantage, while, as the system extends to the railroads, a saving of time as well as of money for carriage hire is the direct result. It has transpired mat the local government have not concluded the proposed contract with the Electric Ligating Company to illuminate the streets of Coton. The alleged reason is that the citizens should so so. This, at one time a good iaw, is now rather antique, and in view of the importance to which toe city has attained, we hope to shortly see it follow the ex-suple of A merica and most European countries of like importance, and have public lights put up on public thoroughfares for the accommodation

Smallpox continues in Colon, but it is steadly yielding to the wise mea-sures taken for its supression, and is in fact less threatening now than at any previous time since its appearance. During May thirty-nine cases were treated in the hospital. Of these twenty-three have been discharged as oured, whilst sixteen (of new cases) remain. Of the entire number only one has succumbed to the disease. Nor is the disease spreading outside the hos-Dogs are now being polsoned in Bo-

Smallpox has reappeared in Bogota. During 1886 the number of nurders committed in Medellin was eighty-five, making a favorable showing as compared with 1885, during which year 137 pared with 1835, during which year 137 persons were increased.

A letter from Suarta, in the State of Santander, and dated april 25th, says: "Yesterday I visited the crevasses at Suarta, with Colonel Carvajal, and about thirty others. The spectacle is terrifying. The princical opening is about 400 metres in disme "". whilst in other places the opening is fronten to forty metres in with. There are many other crevasses, the bottom of which cannot be seen. The place where these phenomena are in operation is situated between two ravines, and it appears that one of them threatens the town, in which some nouses have already suffered through one of the fistures baving opened in their vicinity, detroving some entirely, and cracking the walls of others."

News from the time states that the cutting at Mindl is going on with great vigor, but that exceeding difficulty is experienced in keeping the loose earth from from falling back as cest out of the trench. This is said to retard the work considerably.

The United States steamship Mohican expects to leave l'anama on Jane Ith for Payts, where she will meet the Vandalet. The Iroquois will remain to post until further orders.

PERU. Our Lima cable message reports that enders for the construction of a railcad between Tarma and Chaucha-majo. Tarma is an island town, most picturesquely situated, and the whole of the valley in which it is located is under cultivation. The idea of building the railroads from the interior, and not from the coast, was first suggested some years ago to Don Manuel Pardo when he was president and he enthusi-astically supported the proposition, although the fear that he would weaken his power among the sugar-growers of the coast impelled him to act very cantional in the matter. The construction of a Tarma-Chanchamayo railroad will be a blessing to the sountry and will tend to dispel much of the internal discord now so much of the internal discord now so prevalent there. If they succeed in building this track, as fron, copper and timber of every description are to be found there is wild profusion, Peru will at once commence to regain her former position. The interior of the republic has been two long allowed to remain desolate. There is no tropical production which does not grow wild in those wast Peruvian, Amazonian provinces, and yet there is no one to rather them. Those territories are as present abandoned and are simply a wilderness of forest and stream. If the Tarmy Religious and proposed, he wilderness of forest and stream. the Tarma Railroad, now proposed, be built, it will not require ten years before graziers will crowd one another in the Pampas del Sacramento, and the will cattie now roving there and the few scattered hands of chuncho in the state of the scattered hands of chuncho in the state of the scattered and the state of the scattered and the state of the state of the state of the scattered and the state of the sta dians will have disappeared, and the greater Peru, which must some day be formed in the interior of that wonderful country, will have suppressed forever the revolutionary ideas which have so long been the bane of the republic bave so long been the bane of the republic.

Railroads are gradually being extended towards Bolivia from the east ern slope of the Andes, although for years past the line built at such vast cost by Peru from the Pacific to Puno nas not passed that lake town toward the Bolivian frontier. The fault that it has not been extended lies entirely with Bolivia. Peru used every exertion and incurred an enormous debt to build one of the most difficult roads yet constructed is the world, and although the engines still climb the steep gradients and pass through the wilds of Cahulntals on their way to Puno, no effort is made by Bolivia to extend the road towards the Desaguadero, and there on to the regions there the Avn ara Indians pass their lives in that happy state which can only lives in that happy state which can only be understood by those who, like them, lives in that happy state which can only be understood by those who, like them, believe that where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise. Peru, through necessity it is true, and not by any means from choice, not being able to assist her neighbor with money to carry a railroad into her territory, the Argentine Republic appears to be about to take an interest in the matter and to make an effort to join the Transandine lines with the central part of Bolivia, where agricultural and mineral riches abound which would well repay transportation to the coast. Referring to the steps which have been taken for this purpose. Buenos agres papers now report that after nineteen months of severe labor the engineers have sent in the preliminary plans for a road to Quinca, out the Bolivian frontier. These plans have been made from the junction at Salta, through the Tore ravine, and up to Quinca. Thence the Humanahusch ravine is followed to Juliui. The distance surveyed amounts to 700 kilometers, of which number 225 are situated in the Juliui line. Atter careful study a selection will be made between the two routes mentioned, and work will be then commenced on the line which will carry Argentine passengers to the Bolivian frontier.

An idea of the direful effects of the cholera is Santiago, Chili, may be obtained from the following account given by a correspondent of the amounts expended in that capital through the cholera invasion up to March 5th: Up to date we have expended in this Santiago department $150,000, of which sam $150,000 has been obtained from the government and $85,000 from the municipality. Os houses and lazarettes $50,000 has been spent, and on furniture, etc., $20,000. The balance of the $190,000 has gone for salaries, provisions, medicines, etc. In the cholera cemetery three immense brickwork receptacies were constructed and lined with Roman cement. Each one was made to contain $,000 bodies, and all are built deep enough to enable a thick covering of lime to be placed over the corpses, and subsequently at least one meter of earth. Each of these sepultures cest $1,500. houses and lazarettes $50,000 has been

Up to a few weeks ago I considered Up to a few weeks ago I considered myself the champion Dyspeptic of America. During the years that I have been sfill cted I have tried almost everything claimed to be a specific for Dyspepsia in the hope of finding something that would afford permanent relief. I had about made up my mind to abandon all medicines when I noticed an endorsement of Simmons Liver Regulator by a prominent Georgian, a jurist whom provincest Georgian, a jurist whom I knew, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bettles, and am satisfied that I have struck the right thing at last. I felt its beneficial effects almost immediately. Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special metroprious are required as to what instructions are required as to what one shall or shall not eat. This fact alone ought to commend it to all troubled with Dyspepsia.
