TERRITORIAL FAIR.

THIRD DAY, SATURDAY.

The attendance, to-day, is large, and great interest is manifested in examining the various parts of the exhibition. The attractions of the Fair are also increased by the beautiful music of Professors Careless and Pratt, and Mr. J. Chambers-lain.

The sewing machines, the "Singer" and "Elias Howe," the only two worked in the Fair, the former operated by Miss Clara Decker, the latter by Mrs. Hugh Anderson, attract many spectators, and no wonder, for it is surprising to see the beauty of the work done and the celerity of the operators. Both are standard machines, and each may have points of excellence that the other has not. The "Singer" has just received an attachment, patented in August last, called the "Coming Fred Trimmer," by which it is claimed it performs seventeen different kinds of work can be done. It is quite a simple looking thing, and as simple in operation as in appearance. The "Singer," with all this added to its numerous attachments, is undoubtedly one of the most complete machines in the world—in fact as near perfection as human ingenuity can make it, and improvements are continually being made; an excellent feature in connection with the trimmers being that they can be used on nearly every other first-class sewing machine, and they can be obtained at or through the Z. C. M. I. sewing machine department. No description can do justice to this machine, the best way is to call at Z. C. M. I. and see it operated.

The "Elias Howe" sewing machine exhibits splendid specimens of work, and has very fine attachments for the various kinds of fancy work. Its operator claims for it a superiority in several points over all other machines. Operators will appreciate the following: it will hem wide or narrow with the same hemmer; it gathers on woollen as well as the finest Swiss goods, in the centre, or leaves a heading for dress ruffling; its embroidering attachments are capital, and one marked improvement is said to be the arrangement of the under extension; the table of the machine is entirely clear of wheels or thumbscrews, and it is not interfered with in the least in winding bobbins, &c.

In relation to the merits and capabilities of sewing machines operators must be the judges, Elias Howe was the inventor of the sewing machine, and the principle he invented has never been improved, but is that upon which all first-class lock-stitch machines are still constructed, and for which they have to pay him a royalty; and it is but fair to presume that the Elias Howe machine is at least equal to any other. At any rate it can be seen on a short examination by the non-expert, that the machine is very strong, and durable, has very little machinery, no cogwheel gearing and runs almost without noise.

In the ladies' department of the Fair the millinery of Mrs. Wilkinson's manufacture—ladies' and childrens' fancy hats and bonnets, and fancy needle work, are worthy of special notice. They are of splendid material and the workmanship is of such excellence that it will compare in every respect with anything imported.

Desiring to give praise wherever it is due, as far as we can learn, we must not omit to mention the articles exhibited by Mrs. Lydia McClellan, of Santa Clara, Washington County, now between sixty and seventy years of age. Last year she obtained some young mulberry trees from J. E Johnson, Esq., of St. George, and this year has fed on their leaves some silk worms, spun the silk, and sends to the fair a large and beautiful crotchetwork lady's shawl, to which the first prize is awarded; besides these are some collars, and mittens, a hair net, several specimens of colored sewing silk, twist for buttonholes, and three cases of very fine fancy straw work.

No exhibitor in the fair is more entitled to honorable praise than this aged lady; she has set an example and performed labor which for skill and beauty and enterprise would reflect the highest credit on any young lady in the Territory.

Among the prizes awarded were the following:

TAKE CARE OF YOUR FUR CAPES.—A lady resident of the 13th Ward, who attended the Theatre last night, and sat in the 2nd Circle, pulled off her fur cape, on account of the heat of the place, and on looking for it some time after, she found it not, and she supposes that some member of the "light-fingered" profession appropriated it.

FROM DWYER'S NEWS AND BOOK DEPOT.—Frank Leslie's "Budget of Fun," the "Galaxy," the "American Agriculturist" and "Harper's Bazar" for November, and the "Chimney Corner" for October 12, each well filled with its characteristic literary matter, and all but the "Galaxy" liberally illustrated. Give James a call this Conference time.

DRAMATIC.—We are informed that F. M. Bates, Esq., has been re-engaged by the management of the Theatre, and will shortly appear, bringing with him a full budget of the latest dramatic novelties.

We understand the spectacular play of Alladdin, or the Wonderful Lamp, is to be reproduced shortly, the scenic effects for it having been in active preparation for the past two weeks.

THE ROLLER WASHERS, Colby's, Rickers', and the Telegraph, are in full blast to-day at the Fair. Nobody will have any dirty linen after this, because you have only to put it through the rollers and behold the purity of the driven snow.

HEAVY PULLING.—This morning a span of draft horses, the property of T. R. Jones, Esq., lumber merchant of this city, hauled a load—103 pieces—of green timber, weighing five tons, from the depot to the Fair grounds. The animals did not seem the least fatigued or put about by their job, but looked as though they could have continued a much longer distance.

DIED.

In the 14th Ward, Oct. 5th, of teething, GEORGE EDWARD DAVIS, son of David and Elizabeth Day, aged 1 year, 8 months and 27 days.

Funeral services will take place at the residence of parents at 10 a. m. Oct. 6th. Friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend.
