THE CHINESE QUESTION.

Sargent's speech on the Chinese question, to-day, occupied about two hours in the delivery, and not withstanding its great length, was listened to with interest by a considerable number of the most prominent senators. His object was to place in a comprehensive form and argument which should thoroughly cover the whole subject as it was a new question and at the same time furnish a complete revelation of the Chinese people.

His speech was a complete
