

PECULIAR SUIT IN BOISE COURT

Mother Accuses Her Daughter of Unbecoming Conduct as To a Deed.

ORDER PLACED FOR STATUE.

Late Senator Shoup is Lovingly Remembered by the People of The Gem State.

Special Correspondence.

Boise, Ida., Sept. 26.—It would seem that a certain Bible prophecy was finding at least partial fulfillment in proceedings before the district court now in session in this city. The case in one of mother against daughter, in which the former is seeking the recovery of property said to be valued at over $20,000, the deeds to which, it is alleged, were wrong from her by her daughter, while the mother was critically ill. The case is Sura A. Bowers vs. May Bell Correll.

All the evidence has been introduced and briefs will be submitted to aid the court in rendering a decision, which may not be had for several days yet. According to the testimony introduced, the daughter prevailed upon the mother, after removing her incessantly for a number of days, while she lay critically ill, to sign over the deeds to her property, which the mother claims she did as the only possible resource to escape. She further claims that she did not see the deeds at the time, nor was she aware of the fact that what she did was the signing over of the property to her daughter.

On the other hand, the daughter claims that the action was premeditated upon the part of the mother; that she signed the property over to the daughter in order to defraud the Bank of Commerce out of $1,000. The case has aroused much interest locally.

CITY OF BOISE VS. O. S. L.

A complaint has been formulated and a warrant issued for the arrest of O. S. L. Christman, local agent for the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, in pursuance of an order from the City of Boise directing the railroad company to erect drop gates at its crossings on Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh, Thirteenth and Sixteenth streets. This action is the result of an ordinance passed by the city council early last summer. At that time an order was issued directing the railroad company to provide the necessary gates, or drop bars, giving them 30 days in which to fulfill the order. The company replied that it was perfectly willing to put in the bars, but desired more time, so more time was given; but as yet nothing has been done.

The passing of the ordinance by the city council was prompted by an accident which happened last spring at the crossing on Eighth street, which resulted in the death of the aged Mr. Williams, who was run into by a street engine while crossing the track on his street sprinkler.

JUDGE STEWART RECOVERING.

Word has reached Boise that Judge Stewart, of the Idaho supreme court, has so far recovered from his illness that he will leave Portland soon for Lewiston, where he will join the other judges to sit at the fall opening of the supreme court at that place.

ORDER FOR SHOUT STATUE.

At a meeting of the Shoup statue commission last evening, at which all members were present, including Governor Gooding, Congressman French, General Perrell and Arthur T. Smith, Prof. F. E. Triebel, sculptor of New York, was selected to execute the statue as designed and submitted by him and approved by the committee. It is ordered ready for installation in statutory hall at the national capitol by the opening of Congress in March, 1909.

The legislature appropriated $6,000 for this purpose, one-half of which will be paid the sculptor upon the approval of his clay model and the balance when the work is completed.

The statue will be more than life size and will be made from Italian marble, and not from an Idaho product, as was first contemplated. The local stone is not found to be the best for the purpose.

NO RELIEF IN COAL.

The command: "Store coal for your winter needs," has no meaning to fuelless. It is impossible for the dealers to procure coal enough for the winter needs of the people, much less allow them to store for the winter. The Commercial club is just now considering the proposition of appealing to the president for assistance. The people are becoming much alarmed. When cold spells occur, they flock to the coal dealers, begging for portions of coal some being satisfied with even a bucket full.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Idaho Intermountain State Fair association is working almost day and night in planning and arranging for the 25th to the 28th of October. They have already practically arranged for 200 horses to be represented in the races. The association is attempting to make the coming fair the greatest attraction of the kind ever witnessed in the state.

LAND OPENING AT JEROME.

On the 1st of October the Northside Trip Park company will open a settlement under the Carey act, 150,000 acres of choice land. The opening will take place at Jerome, the new townsite, 15 miles south from the town of Shoshone on the Oregon Short Line railroad. The opening of the lands of the Idaho Irrigation company, which was set for the 1st of this month, has been postponed by the state land board to some time in October.

BOISE PITCHER IN JAIL.

F. A. Campbell, the crack pitcher of the league ball team, is now filling a 30 days' sentence in the city jail for shipping his wife. He pleaded guilty to the charge of battery in the complaint of his wife, and was sentenced without a discussion of the case. It is learned, however, that Mrs. Campbell is the cause of her husband's being in a position as far tender in a local prison, which originated the trouble. Campbell has written a letter to his wife's parents, requesting them to come for the girl, as he will not live with her again.

WILL HOLD REUNION.

Descendants of Abraham Rose to Gather at Farmington on Saturday.

Descendants of Abraham Rose will reunite Saturday, Oct. 5, at the home of E. P. Rose, Farmington. The occasion of this large and interesting gathering was a true patriot, and was well known to the church in its early days. He is well worthy of the following story taken from his biographical sketch. Abraham Rose was born at Utica, Oneida county, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1802; had plous, God-fearing parents. In later years he joined the Church and drove an ox team across the plains. When Abraham was 15 years old, this country was at war with Great Britain—the war of 1812. Napoleon was defeated in Europe and made a prisoner, and England was sending her troops over to this country. They were marching their forces at Niagara to invade the state of New York. Gen. Winfield Scott was sent with a strong force of militia to prevent this invasion. It was during this campaign that the elder Abraham and his oldest son, Samuel, enlisted and marched with Gen. Scott to Niagara. They were both in the three and bloody battle of Lundy's Lane, which took place soon after their arrival. The British were defeated with terrible loss, and it was a dear victory for the American forces. Gen. Scott was severely wounded and many were slain. Rose senior and junior were in several engagements, and served until the end of the year, at the close of which the elder Abraham, with his family, moved from Utica to Howard Steuben county, N. Y., 100 miles west, and settled on a large tract of land.

Here, on a farm, Abraham, Jr., grew to manhood. Being of a religious turn of mind he joined the Methodist church. On a Sabbath morning in January, 1820, the young man, with one of his companions, went to Hornellsville, a distance of 7 miles, to attend a Methodist revival meeting. On this occasion he found his faithful companion for life. It was a case of love at first sight, and the couple were married on the 7th of March, 1820. Several children were born to them. Abraham became a prosperous and well-to-do farmer and also became a minister in the Methodist church, and also a captain of militia.

In the fall of 1826 Abraham Rose heard Apostle Orson Hyde preach, as the latter traveled through the state of New York, and the Rose family was converted and baptized. On the 6th of October, 1829, Abraham and his family left their home in Howard county, and with extensive baggage, the new gathering place of the Latter-day Saints. They journeyed for a time at Carthage, Athens Co., where the head of the household engaged in the manufacture of syrup and maple sugar. It was 1843 before he reached Nauvoo to reside. There the family remained until 1846, when they joined in the exodus from Illinois. They crossed Iowa with one ox and a cow yoked together. They did not arrive in Utah, however, until Sept. 17, 1852. After remaining in Salt Lake 10 days, Mr. Rose bought a farm at Farmington and removed thither. That place was his home until his death. At years later, Abraham Rose was a consistent Latter-day Saint, always ready and willing to respond to every call. As a citizen he was progressive, patriotic and loyal, always proud of his country and of the fact that he was an American citizen. He died Sept. 5, 1884, his wife having passed away three years previously.

Margrett spoke of the integrity and faith of the deceased.

Isabel McGill was born at Miller Hill, Scotland, Feb. 23, 1817, and accepted the gospel and was baptized in the year 1852 and in 1860 she came to Utah with her husband and family. Her husband Adam McGill died 25 years ago and they are now survived by four daughters, Elizabeth Adamson, Jessie Margaret and Isabel Longstreet of this city and Ellen Hunter of Weber, together with a large number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. # FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

This is the year of jubilee for this store, Fifty years have passed since the institution was founded. Its beginning was humble, yet in every way suited to the town and the circumstances. The first building was a rough lumber room, the site was on main street just north of where the McCornick building now stands. Had the stores been numbered then, the Dinwoodey establishment would have been no. 68 so main street The place of business was known as Dinwoodey's Chair shop. The founder toiled with his own hands and made such furniture as was used at that time. Native timber was skilfully converted into Chairs, Tables, Bedsteads, etc. and these were exchanged for raw material, or for farm produce etc; The old time motto of "live and let live" prevailed. From its inception the business grew rapidly until new quarters were sought for. The new site was selected; at the present place of business, forced larger quarters and the old building was replaced by a new one. A disastrous fire wiped out this building which was replaced by the present structure. Then came the erection of a factory in the rear and later warehouses with enormous capacity were added. Until today we have the most modern, best equipped and best stocked furniture store in the city.

Dinwoodey's Chair Shop, the First Place of Business. On the Left is a Blacksmith Shop.

Dinwoodey's Cabinet Shop, Located at the Present Place of Business on First South Street.

It is but natural to suppose that a business the memory of whose inception goes back to the youth or childhood of the oldest inhabitants, would attain some prominence. That this store has not only kept apace with the times but has always anticipated the city's progress is a matter of history. We number among our patrons the sons and daughters of those sturdy folk who were our first customers. They have come to know that this store is not only a leader in fashions and styles, but that value commensurate with price is given every purchaser.

The strangers within our gates have heard the story told by patrons of the place. They too have joined the ranks so that year by year our annual sales increase in a surprising ratio.

For the occasion of our jubilee we have filled the store from top to bottom with good things. We have priced these same good things so that our many friends may rejoice with us. We intend to let the spirit of generosity reign in this store. A fair profit and a pleased customer is our motto. We want you to come expecting something better than you usually get. Especially if you have never before visited the store. Come and see what is the correct thing in Home furnishing. Visit the Wall Paper and Drapery Department where thought is given to interior adornment. Visit the Carpet and Rug section teeming with Oriental and Domestic productions. Then go to the other floors where every conceivable piece of furniture is on display in handsome Oak, Walnut, Mahogany and other woods. The store is a bower of beauty, a most inviting place to spend an hour, to rest—to look around—and without obligation to purchase. In this our Jubilee year—come in and rejoice with us.
