

SEWERS MENACE PUBLIC HEALTH

Residents in Southwestern Section of the City Enter Strong Complaint.

EXTENDS OVER TWO YEARS.

Clogged Condition, It Is Believed by Those Suffering from the Situation, Is Responsible.

The residents in the neighborhood of Fifth South and Eighth West streets are making complaints on account of the condition of the sewers at that place. For the past two years the sewers have been clogged up, it is stated, and the stench is now so bad that it is a menace to the public health. There are several cases of typhoid fever and other contagious diseases in that section which it is believed were caused by the sewer.

A. F. Denney, who lives at Fifth South and Eighth West streets, reported the matter to the city board of health yesterday afternoon. He said: "Citizens in the vicinity of my home have made numerous complaints about the condition of the sewer along there for the last year and a half or two years. The pipe must be clogged. The stench has at times been dreadful and just now it is many times worse than ever before. We have been told that the trouble is caused by water backing up there, but I know that cannot be the difficulty. The pipe is clogged and should be attended to. It has been a serious menace to the health of the community. There has been a great deal of sickness in that neighborhood, and there are cases of typhoid and diphtheria there now. My home is right where the stench is the worst, and I am right next to the Riverside school, where 40 children every day have to breathe the foul air."

Names Were Mixed Before the Altar

When Moses Garvish, an interpreter, better known as Moses Howard, led John Otte and Sara Gages, two Assyrians, into the county clerk's office Monday to secure a marriage license, the interpreter's name was substituted for that of the prospective bridegroom. The mistake was not discovered until Tuesday when the couple went before a priest to be married. The priest started to marry Howard, and the young girl, Otte, objected and so did Miss Gages. The ceremony was postponed until today, when another marriage license will be issued.

This incident followed a refusal at first to issue them a license on account of the girl's age. Judge Lewis came to their rescue, however, when he appointed a guardian for the girl who gave his consent to the marriage.

LYDIA THATCHER CALLED BY DEATH

Following Operation Two Weeks Ago, Well Known Church Worker Is Summoned.

Lydia Ann Thatcher, wife of Moses Thatcher, died at noon today at the Dr. Groves L. D. hospital, following an operation about two weeks ago for kidney trouble, from which she has been a sufferer for some time past.

Mrs. Thatcher was the daughter of William and Ruth Clayton, and was born in Salt Lake City in 1854. For the past few years she has lived in Granite street, 672 east Eleventh South. She was a member of the Granite Stake Relief society board at the time of her death, and has always been a worker in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, of which she was a faithful member.

Mrs. Thatcher is survived by four children, all of whom are living in this country. They are Charles, Karna, Clayton R., and Floyd Thatcher.

The body will be taken from the hospital to the home of her sister, Mrs. Howard, 201 Fifth avenue. The funeral will be announced later.

SIX CYLINDER CAR STOLEN FROM BARN

While it is acknowledged that the attractions of motor cars have in many cases proven irresistible, and many a machine has been appropriated by the chauffeur to indulge in a little "joy ride" occasionally, yet the stealing, removing bodily and carrying away of a big six-cylinder motor car, so that no sign of it was left, remained for accomplishment for the first time in Salt Lake until last night. As a result, J. H. Brown, member of the firm of Brown, Terry & Woodruff, is today mourning the loss of his fine Stevens-Duryea machine, the same having been surreptitiously removed from its moorings in the barn at his premises, at 825 Lincoln avenue, some time between the hours of midnight last night and 5 o'clock this morning.

When Mr. Brown drove the machine into the barn yesterday afternoon he observed the usual care to lock it up. When he awakened this morning and went to take his morning spin, he was dumfounded to find the car gone, robes and all. The machine was a big six-cylinder car, with green and red running gear and top. The number on the auto was 110, and it has seat covers and a glass front. It was almost certain that the thief or thieves did not start the engine before reaching Ninth East street, as no noise was heard by any of the neighbors or by Mr. Brown. The fact remains that the big automobile was stolen, and Mr. Brown is busy trying to get some trace of it. He has notified the police and the sheriff's office, and these officers have detailed men to search for the motor car, but without result up to the present.

The insurance company yesterday filed suit against the Travelers' insurance company, yesterday in Third district court to recover $5,000 indemnity in the case of William J. Cooper, who recently recovered $11,221.56 damages from the railroad company for injuries sustained by Cooper while in the employ of the company, Jan. 20, 1902.

The insurance company under an agreement, it is alleged, entered into with the company Sept. 3, 1902, agreed on an employer's liability policy on which the railroad company paid it $2,500, as a premium to indemnify its employees. The insurance company conducted the defense against Cooper's case and when the verdict was returned, it did not elect to appeal and the case allowing the judgment to become final. The railway company settled the judgment on May 15 and are now suing the insurance company for its indemnity to the railroad company.

JOB LYON WINS FIRST VICTORY

Demurrer of County Commissioners Is Overruled by Judge George Armstrong.

TWENTY DAYS TO ANSWER.

County Board Must Meet Charge of Illegally Awarding Tax List in Inter-Mountain Republican.

Judge George C. Armstrong overruled the demurrer this morning which was argued yesterday in the case of Salt Lake county against the county commissioners to compel them to refund the $5,727.50 paid to the Inter-Mountain Republican for advertising the delinquent tax lists. This is the first round of the legal battle between County Atty. Job P. Lyon and the commissioners, the former winning.

The defendants were granted 20 days in which to file an answer to the complaint. This step, however, is said to be a dangerous one for the defendants. The complaint sets forth what the county commissioners' minutes show and they cannot go behind their records to deny the allegations. If they admit the allegations, the case is practically decided against them. In the opinion of a lawyer who has watched the case with interest.

The demurrer, which was filed some time ago stated that facts alleged in the complaint were not sufficient to constitute a cause of action. It was argued at length by Hiram E. Booth, United States district attorney, for the county commissioners. His argument was that the amount was not excessive and that the amount paid had nothing to do with the case. He showed by the statutes that the commissioners are compelled to advertise for bids and he went to the minutes of the commissioners which showed that they had not advertised or even ordered the treasurer to publish a notice for bids.

County Atty. Lyon, who appeared in behalf of the county, declared that he had not alleged that the amount was excessive, and that the amount paid had nothing to do with the case. He showed by the statutes that the commissioners are compelled to advertise for bids and he went to the minutes of the commissioners which showed that they had not advertised or even ordered the treasurer to publish a notice for bids.

TO APPEAL WILSON CASE.

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Violating Liquor Ordinances.

D. M. Wilson, who as manager of the theatrical club, occupying rooms No. 227 1/2 south Main street, was arrested May 23 for a violation of the liquor ordinance, was tried before a jury in Judge Bowman's court and found guilty of having sold liquor without a license.

The defense relied upon the fact that the "club" was a social organization and the various social and lodge clubs of the city. Wilson, it was argued, served only in the capacity of manager and had had nothing to do with the actual sale or giving away of liquor at the rooms of the club.

The jury took the view of the prosecuting attorney, summed up in his argument, that Wilson, as manager, was responsible for the acts of the bartender or other employees in the service of the club.

Sentence in the case was postponed until Saturday, when it is likely that an immediate appeal to the district court will be made.

INSURANCE COMPANY SUE.

Utah Light & Railway Company Sues To Recover on Liability Policy.
