SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The High School cadets may well be proud of their initial ball, the affair last night at the N. G. U. hall being a notable success in all details. The hall was decorated with military emblem the national and High School co ors presenting an attractive appear ance, and the music and all details com bined to make the affair a success. Among the guests were Gov. Wells, who led the opening march, a number of of-neers from the fort, and the members of the N. G. U.

At the Ladies' Literary club yester-day Mrs. Caroline Abbout Stanley read an interesting paper on the "Social Life of the Child." and Prof. Morrill of the University gave an address on the "Re-lation of Science to Industry." Watson rendered delightful plano solos.

At Christensen's another successful ball took place, the students of the U. giving one of their delightful ices. The hall was decorated with dances. The hall was decorated with palms, and rugs and divans gave a fin-laning touch to the tasteful arrange-ment. Punch was served throughout the evening. A large number ware present to enjoy the pleasant affair. The chaperons of the evening were Mesdames J. L. Rawlins, Vivian Mc-Cune, J. T. Passing of One More Member of the Famous Five Hundred Who Marched From the Missouri River to the

"MORMON" SOLDIER DEAD.

Pacific Coast.

JEDUTHAN AVERETT.

With ever increasing frequency it be- | the faith of the Latter-day Saints and omes the sad duty of the "News" to chronicle the passing of one of those stalwart sons of toil who participated in the founding of this state or helped to add lustre to its glory. The last hoary headed hero to fall and leave a gap in the rapidly thinning ranks of Utah's pioneer soldiers was Jeduthan Averett, whose picture apears above. As a member of the "Mormon" Battalion he endured the tortures of hunger and peril such as the tongue or pen of man could never depict, yet he attained to the venerable age of 85 years. He had stood in the community so long, and had stood so firmly defying the withering blight of time, that he term ed a part of nature herself and destined to live as long as she. But he fell at last like an ancient patriarch full of years and of honor and surrounded by four generations of his offspring. He died at his home in Springville,

January 7, 1902, after a brief illness passing away as gently as the slumber of a child. He was born in Chester-field county, North Carolina, on June 12, 1816. How interestingly his life links the past to the present, and so wonous have been the changes since the day he was born it would seem that his crade was in one age and his grave in another. His advent was before most of the men who have contributed much moved to Nauvoo. Throughout the dark and murderous days surrounding the assassination of the Prophet Joseph Smith and his devoted brother Hyrum and the subsequent exputsion from the ity at the hands of the cruel mob, the deceased stood staunch and true and when the call for 500 volunteers for the Mexican war came he responded. Join-ing the "Mormon" Battlaion he left his friends and started out upon that im-mortal journey of 2,000 miles across the continent. The biting hunger, and killing thirst made them almost insensible to the other perils that surrounded them and the sufferings endured on that weary trail are only known by hose who passed through them the battalion was disbanded Mr. Aver ett, who was a private in company D, returned to Utah. In 1854 he settled in Springville and remained there ever after. He was as modest as he was brave and he settled down to a quiet hard working life on the farm. He leaves eight children, seventy-one grand children and after short grant grand children and fifty-eight great grandchildren, appropriate music was furnished by the Black Hawk war veterans of Spring-ville comrades. The pieces rendered were, "When the angel calls the rol," the "Memorial Odo,"."Tenting on the

lege men, as their training fits them to enjoy literary pursuits and surround-ings and are very companionable." George L. Moats is at the Cullen hotel from Dugway, where he is working a number of claims of paying galena a number of claims of paying galena properties. He shows a specimen of ga-lena assaying 64 per cent lead and 10 ounces silver, and of this ore he is ship-ping considerable to the smelters south of this city. Mr. Moats says there is plenty of water at Dugway and he is getting from his well enough water to supply the needs of a camp of 100 peo-ple. Everybody out there is looking for the railroad that has been promised for so many years and the bellef is neeva-lent out in the Deep Creek country that the promised time is near at hand.

Malcolm Montereiffe is a guest at the Knutsford on route from the northwest to Grand Junction to buy horses for the British government. He says that his firm has in the last twelve months spent $1,250,000 in this western coun-try for horses for shipment to South Africa, and that of this sum $108,000 has been expended for freights alone. Mr Moncrelffe states that while the Australlan horse is perhaps given the pref erne in choic for cavalry and mount-infantry service, the American porthwest horse is very highly thought of, and he has shipped from 18,000 to 20,000 away in the past year.

Mrs. D. F. Gaines of Colorado Springs, a very original character, has been stoping at the Manitou hotel for a day or two with her husband, leaving for the coast this morning. Mrs. Gaines is the proprietor of a large livery stable at the Springs where she does a good business. She makes it a practice of caring for her own personal team, in-stead of letting here men do it, and as a result, they (the horses-not the men) have coats as shiny as silk. Mrs. Gaines drives to the depot herself for Mrs passengers, and the cab and hackmen always wait until her rigs are loaded before they start in for themselves. Mrs. Gaines was run away with recently at the Springs with a spirited span of blacks which she had been cautioned against, and there were sev-eral lady friends in the carriage with her. But the woman's nerve was such that her guests thought she was merely speeding the animals, and thought it great fun. Mrs. Gaines brought the horses under control after a three mile tear

The report is that the young man is straight in his accounts and the lodge will inquire into his case.

The funeral services over the remains of William G. Jackson were held this afternoon from Evans' undertaking parlors. There were many beautiful floral tributes and a large number of friends and admirers of the young man attended the services. At the close the remains were taken to the Oregon Short Line depot and transported to They were accompanied by Chicago. the heart-broken mother and Georg Mason, an old and true friend of Mr. Jackson.

cointer once reading 'Her Feverish ove' and surcastically suggested that he were on that order of reading, as Lives and Adventures of Cross Eyed Buffalo Bull Calf,' or Three Fingered Pete, the Terror of Massacre Gulch' might be more appropriate. He smiled a weak, sagebrush colored sort of smile, as he replied apologetically: '? government forcing plant on the ison River I had mathematics pumped into me until i felt like a per-ambulating logarithmic secant, or the acarnation of an interminable chem-cal formulae, consequently I am ex-periencing a reaction, and abhorr any ok requiring mental exertion to understand It."

"I wish that the congressional committee on military affairs would re-vise the West Point curriculum; set out a lot of dry mathematics, and get in more literary courses of study. A young man who is not merely fed, but stuffed on mathematics for breakfast, lunch, dinner and late supper, week in, week out, month in, month out for years, is not fitted to get the most out of life.
