New York, Feb. 10.-Mrs. Elwood P. Pkhenon, of Morristown, N. J., took ier H-year-old daughter Mabel and Alerta Collins, a neighbor's child, to freen Pond to see the forest fires on Copperas mountain. They climbed a steep hill to get a better view, and stood edge of a cliff with a sheer drop of 200 feet.

The wind was blowing a gale, and Mabei walked toward the edge of the cliff. The child's skirts were caught by a violent gust of wind and she was carried along, despite all her efforts to vanish.

Mrs. Fichenon saw her daughter's peril and ran after her. Mabel was blown over the edge of the precipice just as her mother grasped at her skirts. Mrs. Fichenon could not recov-er her balance and both fell to the rocks here. rocks below

Mr. Post obtained the abstract through having purchased eighty acres of land in Stone county, Missouri. The land was part of a tract of 405,000 acres Franted by the Spanish government to Dr. Jose Valliere, captain of the Eighth regiment of Louisiana in an early Cu-regiment of Louislana in an early Cuweather. Valliere died in New Orleans in 1788.

Congress of the National Trotting Association-To Amend Rules. WILL BE A LIVELY SESSION

To Cooks and Waiters.

New York, Feb. 10 .- The blennial congress of the National Trotting association will be held at the Murray Hill Hotel next Wednesday for the purpose of electing officers and amending the rules which will govern harness racing on eastern tracks for two years. Until the grand circuit stewards, at their recent meeting in Detroit, threw a bomb into the camp of the N. T. A., by virtualy voting to withdraw from that organization unless certain reforms were brought about, this year's congress promised to be without incident, the new rules having been tentatively agreed upon a month ago, and the re-ection of all the old officers being regarded as a foregone conclusion. Now that the grand circuit track manag-ers have issued an ultimatum demand ing that the system of voting by proxy at the congress be done away with and have appointed a committee to attend the congress and state their grievances the session bids fair to be one of the most important and interesting in the history of the National Trotting association. The chief complaint of the Grand circuit managers is that under the proxy system the most important tracks in the country virtually have no voice in framing the rules or choosing the officers, three or four men usually holding the proxies of hundreds of minor fair associations and controlling the action of the congress. The committee appointed by the grand circuit stewards will ask that hereafter only those members present at the congress be permitted to vote. That this request cannot be granted is apparently plain, for the bylaws of the N. T. A. expressly provide that "each corporator shall be entitled to one vote, and may vote by a delegate duly authorized, who shall have the power of substitution." It is out of the power of the congress to change the by-laws in this respect, as all proposed amendments thereto must be submitted work. to the board of review at least two months before the blennial congress, and nothing of the kind has been done. Unless the members take the bit in

Unless the members take the bit in their teeth and override the bylaws, therefore, it will be impossible to com-ply with the demands of the grand circuit tracks, even if those who now control the N. T. A., desire to do so. Major P. P. Joghson of Lexington, Ky, president of the N. T. A. has ar-rived and expresses the opinion that the proxy system will not be done away with. He believes, however, that a compromise may be reached. The rule committee will meet today to consider the proposed amendment to

LOCAL EVENTS.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

Local Men Training Faithfully for Coming Events.

The air is full of prize fight talk these days. Yesterday afternoon there were about fifteen boxers, self-styled and otherwise, at the local Athletic club "training" for coming bouts. Among those who are really trying to do some thing in the "business" were Christy, who hopes to meet Willard Bean on the th of next month; Mexican Pete, who has issued another challenge to Jimmy Burns; George Condie, who is matched to meet Kid Smith on the 21st; Phil Green, who meets "Silent" Rowan next Friday night, Kid Flynn, Dusty Brown, Sammy Clark and Roy Condle, The Manager McNamee announced that Jack Wade, the "Little Demon," of Montana, was coming to this city in the near future, and that a match would very likely be made between him and Roy Condie. Wade is conling here to look over the situation and Condie has already expressed his willingness to go against the Montana man. ceally settled down to steady work with a view to getting another match with Jimmy Burns. The latter declared he would not meet the Mexican again un-less he could put up $500. The Mexican's manager, Billy Sauer, has come up with the money and now the question is: Can Burns cover it? There are many here who saw the last fight between these heavyweights who were disgusted but who are willing to wager that Pete can defeat Burns. In the event they meet again Pete will go after his man in a little different style than hereto-

The bout that is attracting the most attention is the one proposed between young Jack Christy and Willard Bean to take place on the 7th of March. Bean is expected here within ten days. He is now in Eureks. California, and the articles of agreement have been sent to him. Yesterday afternoon Christy said that he had signed up and was now patiently waiting for the Provo man to do likewise. Christy is training faith-fully for the meeting and if the two do likewise. His work con-sists of several rounds with men heavier than himself, sprinting, bag punching and two rounds on the mat with a wrestler.

the praise it gets. In today's paper I notice J. Pierpont Morgan has made purchases of some very valuable paintings; $500,000 was paid for one. The price of others was not given, but it was no small amount. This speaks well for art, but where is the encouragement for the artist. He is where he can gain no benefit. Why pay uch fabulous sums for some old rel and allow the real artist to toil and struggle and get along as best he can and allow the taking as best he can while bassing through all sorts of trials and disappointments. Many sell their paintings for a mere song, so to speak, simply to keep body and soul together. Disappointed, disheartened and dis-couraged many look with hope for re-lief in death. With such a couragement as art usually gets the money goes to the dealers and connoiseurs. How much more would art be encouraged and cherished if some of these fancy prices were paid to modern rate because of the merit in their work. How much more inspiration the artist would have if he knew that his worthy work would be recognized and appreciated. But he goes around any to keep them looking respectable and yet trying to work at his life's calling His success is thereby hampered. Then with all this worry he must approach a man of means who will say, "Well, a man of means who will say, "Well if you are fool enough to follow such a profession as that and lack the neces-sities of life, you ought to starve." One who chooses the profession as an artist must make up his taind to meet such rebuffs. He must endure and stand firm. If he then succeeds he is
