ed by the Real Estate association for exhibition for the visiting Knights Templar is now about complete and is ertainly a creditable display notwithstanding the fact that only three days has been spent in its collection. The exhibit is at Utahna park, where it occupies a large tent. It contains fine specimens of Utah minerals, fruits, vegetables and manufactured products and tells in a forcible, manner of Utah'a wonderful resources. The exhibit will certainly accomplish the purpose of impressing upon the tourist the re-sources of Utah better than any print-ed matter could do. When it is moved ed matter could do. "A SOLDIER ON DUTY."

Was the Theme of Rev. Benjamin Young of First Methodist Church.

Rev. Benjamin Young of the First Methodist church preached last eveing from the theme, "A soldier on iuty will not entangle himself with the affairs of this life." A soldier must become used to the hardships of life. The speaker further said, in part:

"During the Spanish-American war a number of wealthy young men enlisted under Roosevelt. The rendezvous was to be Galveston. When they were ready to start, these young fellows naturally bought themselves tickets on the Pull-man sleeper. The Irishman who was in command over them heard of this and his 'Irish' was raised. He had them routed out, and they role the rest of the way with the other solders. them routed out, and they rode the rest of the way with the other soldiers. A soldier on duty must become used to the hardships of this life. A newspaper the hardships of this life. A newspaper correspondent once said that the dif-ference between the Japs and the Russians in battle was about 30 pounds of baggage. The Russians had too much baggage. The Russians had too much impedimenta. The entanglements of life are like this foolish excess of bag-gage. Some people seem to think that heaven is a junk shop. They seem to think that you can take anything to heaven. The truth is, you can take only one thing to heaven, and that is character. The entanglements of life ruin character. We grasp after those things in life which are of no use. Dickens has drawn a terrible example of a map so entangled with the affate. of a man so entangled with the affairs of this life that his home is broken, his children and wife are sacrificed.

"When Stanley was sent into darkest Africa for the second time, hundreds of the natives wished to return with him. He almost gnashed his teeth when he saw their preparations for the trip. LECTURE ON CROMWELL.

LECTURE ON CROMWELL. Rev. Dr. T. W. Pinkerton of the Christian church lectured last evening on Cronwell, in which he said: "In an age when kings, priests and preachers were intolerant he was the most toler-ant of men and declared that man was to answer to God alone for his faith. Cromwell was a man of power rather than of knowledge. He was a student of one book, the Bible. He thought, spoke and wrote in the language of the Bible. He was always brave in the presence of men and always.humble in the presence of God."

PROSPECTING GOLD MOUNT'N.

Rich Shipments of Gold Ore from the Zinn Lease on the Jumbo Claim.

A letter from J. F. Parsons of Reno. Nev., formerly well known in Salt Lake as manager of Tuscarora properties, brings the information that he has just returned to Goldfield, Nev., after a lengthy prospecting trip in the vicintty of Gold mountain, 50 miles south of Goldfield. He reports that the coun-try is a very difficult one to travel in on account of the extreme heat and the sogarcity of water. It is only a short day's journey from Gold mountain to the famous Death valley. While at Gold mountain Mr. Parsons examined several properties having big ledges of low grade ore. With better railroad facilities this part of Nevada would attract a great deal of attention, but the nearness to Goldfield, with its igh grade ore, is now against it. A letter received from P. L. Griffin, the well known oll and asphaltum pro-moter of Ogden, indicates that he has abandoned the pursuit of riches abandoned the pursuit of riches through the medium of the oil fields, and will locate permanently at Gold-field. He reports that the country south of this big Nevada camp is drawing to it a perfect stream of pros-pectors. Every day some one is quiet-ly outfitting for Gold mountain, and the adjacent country. He thinks that in the next 30 days, when cooler weath-er comes, the country will be thorough-ly prospected clear to the Colorado riv-er.

er. Among the most successful leases on the big Jumbo ledge is an Ogden crowd, led by J. M. Zinn and Dacy Zinn. Two shipments have already been made, and the third has been made ready. The first car netted $4.000, and the sec-ond $8.000. The company has lately installed a gasoline holst. The 50 shares of stock in this company are now val-ued at $2,000 each. Another Ogden company, composed 11%

ued at $2,000 each. Another Ogden company, composed of about 20 investors, has lately tak-en up a lease secured by O. A. Moyer on a part of the Algae claim, which adjoins the St. Ives and Clarmont. W. B. Gray of Ogden left yesterday to be-j gin work on the lease.
