After the usual interval they came together again, and Bauer at once seized Christol. A struggle ensued, in which all the powers of the wiry little Frenchman were used to avoid being thrown; but at last Bauer fastened a hold Headache, Biliousness and all diswhich Christol was unable to break. Bauer raised him bodily, and threw Christol over his head, bending him flat upon his back. Time of stitution and by all druggists round, seven minutes.

Bauer in the fourth bout often fastened a hold upon Christol which would be broken. The Frenchman as often retaliated with a crushing clasp, and both would roll on the floor. After wrestling five minutes, Bauer raised Christol, and, holding him, fell backward. Christol fell underneath, and Bauer held colored. him. Christol was unable to stand the weight upon him, and he relaxed his efforts, lying quietly on his back. The referee awarded the fourth fall to Bauer. Time, eight minutes.

They came out for the final struggle, and for a few moments eyed was the first to get a clasp upon Thompson, Supt. Bauer, and they fell side by side. Again they came together, and the spectators were worked up to intense excitement. Bauer threw Christel over his head again, but the Frenchman turned as quickly, caught Bauer, and before he could break the grip, had him or the floor, and with a superhuman effort rolled him upon his back. Bauer strained every nerve to escape a fall, but to no purpose. Christol caused both shoulders to touch the floor and was declared the winner of the fall and match. Time, seven minutes.

The people cheered wildly and called Christol and Bauer before the curtain. - N. Y. Sun, Dec. 30.
