PASS TALK.Three Bureaus and Where the Oregon Short Line Stands.

WHAT THE CONDITIONS ARE

The Fare of $1 Plus 23 and How Far
It Reaches—General Railroad
News, and Notes.

It transpires that while not withholding the usual courtesies to clergymen by granting them annual permits to travel at half-rate over their roads, the Oregon Short Line, the Oregon Railroad and Navigation and the Great Northern Railroad companies have refused to join the association which issues these permits for all the other roads in the United States.

Up to the first of this year there were three so-called clergymen's bureaus. These were known as the Western, the Southwestern and the Transcontinental bureaus. Each issued a permit to clergymen which was good over all the lines connected with the association.

At a meeting during the latter portion of the year just past an amalgamation was made of the other bureaus, and one permit issued which covered the entire country.

A fee of $1 was asked when the permit was issued, which made the cost to clergymen $1 per year to cover the entire country. Now, however, the payment of $1 covers the entire cost with the exception of three companies who have so far held out against the arrangement and issue their own permits as was the custom before the bureau were formed.

HEWLETT BROS. CO.

Old friends here today, especially among the Welsh contingent. It is something of a coincidence that Prof. Evans should arrive in Salt Lake today. He will be remembered as one of the adjudicators of the Elsie Alfred held here, when Miss Emma Lucy Gates, then a girl of 15, was one of the contestants. The young lady's voice at that time was entirely immature and she did not succeed in passing the examination. Prof. Evans was much pleased to learn of the success which she had since attained, but said that her voice at that time was little more than that of a child. In the same Elsie Alfred Miss Gates entered for the piano competition and carried off the honors.

Prof. Evans is on his way to the court on private business. He still acts as an adjudicator in many big contests and says the next grand one will be of a national character in Seranton in May. He will remain over to hear Miss Gates tonight.

Mrs. Mortensen and several friends had prepared to meet Mrs. Mortensen but word was sent them that the former was too ill to take the trip. It is not definitely known when she will visit her husband.

Superintendent C. A. Parker of telegraph of the D. & R. G. is a guest at the Knutsford. He is looking into the conditions that produced this great fog as it has affected in a marked degree the telegraph service of the road. He says the fog is so dense that it tends to make all of the wires practically one that messages would be all mixed up if all wires were put into use. There are six wires between Salt Lake and Grand Junction, and the management is using three of these which are the widest separated, leaving three wires dead until the fog lifts.

A QUEER CASE.

Man Fined $5 for Permitting Vinegar To Make Itself.

In Judge Diehl's court this afternoon Clarence H. Cutting was fined $5 for selling vinegar. Merely the bare statement of this fact looks rather strange, for it is not generally conceded that the selling of vinegar constitutes a very grave breach of law and order, but in this case it was a violation of the "Pure Food Law" of that state. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge. He explained, however, that he purchased the vinegar not as vinegar but as sweet cider. When the barrel arrived it was found to contain cider, perhaps, but not sweet cider; it was "sour" cider. It was then the dealer hit upon the happy scheme of selling the cider for vinegar. "We did not make the vinegar," he explained, "it simply made itself."

It was suggested that Cutting could have saved his $5 had he hinted to the court that in his arrest it was a case of mistaken identity, that the barrel should have been hauled up for making vinegar, and then traveled north, but he did not raise this point. The court imposed a fine of $5. Judge Diehl stated that he will not make the fine simply to "make an impression."

SAW THE BALL OF FIRE.

Plainly Visible to President Moses W. Taylor of Summit Stake.

President Moses W. Taylor of Summit Stake, was at Echo when the great meteor flow over the country Tuesday morning, and saw it, only his account differs from other accounts in the direction of the fiery visitor. He says it appeared to him to be going south, from which it might be argued that the meteor afterwards made a Brooklyn-Schley loop and then traveled north again. Mr. Taylor said today:

"At 7:15 a. m. I saw a strange sight, though it was daylight. It was a large ball of fire, over the mountain east of Echo, and the light was so bright that it reflected in the waiting room of the depot so that the men who were there saw the light though they could not see the ball of fire. The strange feature was that the meteor fell with a white streak of cloud-like character along the whole track of its flight. The streak remained for 15 or 20 minutes and gradually changed shape until it appeared as several small clouds floating in space. Walter Cuddeback reported that it appeared to him in the depot as bright as the headlight of an engine flashing past."

LATE LOCALS.

Thomas H. White, of the late firm of White & Sons, had a most perilous experience this afternoon, from which he was fortunate enough to escape with a few scratches and bruises. He was in the act of mounting a horse on First South and Richards streets when the animal became frightened and dashed down the street. White's foot caught in one of the stirrups and he was dragged under the animal, while the latter was making a rapid run towards East Temple. On reaching the corner the horse was stopped and White was rescued from his dangerous position.

Owing to the fog, Warden Dow found it necessary to keep the prisoners at the state prison in their cells again today. The unfortunate have voted that this fog is becoming monotonous. The trees and shrubbery about the city are being slowly covered by frozen particles of fog, giving them a decidedly wintry appearance.

Dr. T. B. Beatty stated this morning that the fog is having a very injurious effect upon the health condition of the city. There is more throat and bronchial trouble in the city than he had ever seen before, which condition he attributes directly to the fog. It is also occasioning considerable suffering on the part of those afflicted with weak lungs. From the physician's standpoint the fog is a very ominous thing and if it is not lifted soon they think serious results will ensue.

The Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company opened today, the exchange at St. Anthony, Idaho, where there are thirty-five subscribers.

Bert Rasmussen of this city was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Mark's hospital today by Dr. Pinkerton. The young man is not regarded as being in a dangerous condition.

James Statham of Wellsville, Cache county, was brought to the city today and taken to the Holy Cross hospital suffering from a severely fractured skull. He met with his injuries in an accident that occurred in the Wellsville canyon. He is in a precarious condition, but Dr. Joseph Richards operated upon him this afternoon and the young man may recover.

State Superintendent of Instruction Nelson will go to Heber tomorrow to attend the Wasatch county teachers' institute.

PEOPLE WHO ARE PASSING

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Continued heavy buying of eggs and consequent high prices on the produce exchange gave rise today to the belief that the egg market is being cornered. South Water merchants said local packing interests had practically gained control over the local market and were pressing prices up. Today fresh eggs were commanding 30 cents. Aside from a large reduction of stocks in storage for local consumption the December cold snap which stopped hens from laying and cut off the country offerings, has seemingly abetted the packers in their manipulations.
