Experiences of the Harrison-Whitehouse Expedition in Africa.

MAKING A CAREFUL SURVEY

Expedition Has a Battle With Elephants -No Hostilities from the Natives.

[Early Dispatches.] London, March 29 .- (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)-The Assoclated Press has received the following account of the expedition under James J. Harrison and W. Fitzhugh Whitehouse, of Newport, R. L. who, according to intest telegraphic adivces, have arrived at Menelik's capital and have started into the far interior of Abys. sinia. The last news comes from Zuquata on the Hawash river, a point about 70 miles southwest of Adis Aboba, and report all well. It is not expected that any further intelligence will be had until the party, after having reached and left Lake Rudolf, about 500 miles further southwest, come out at a point on the Sobat river or the Nile, near Fort Nassa, an old fort south of Fashoda, and about 500 miles from Khartoum. From this point they would proceed by water to the latter place. The distance from Lake Rudolf to the Nile is about 560 miles, through a country largely unexplored, and the route extremely difficult on account of natural obstacles and the probable lack of both water and supplies, as the country both water and supplies, as the country has been so frequently ravaged by na-tive raiding tribes. The party, which consists of J. J. Harrison, W. F. Whitehouse, Powell Cotton and A. Butter, left Zeila on the Red Sea early in November, with a caravan consisting of a large number of natives, a portion of them well armed, and about 80 camels. They were accompanied by a competent surveyor. armed, and about 80 camels. They were accompanied by a competent surveyor, who has had eighteen years' experi-ence in Africa, and a taxidermist, while the bead man, A. Somall, is the one who recently traveled with Captain Wellby to Lake Rudolf. On leaving the coast the party proceeded by an entirely new route to Adis Aboba, the capital of the Evenetic Menelik, about 300 miles dis-Emperor Menelik, about 300 miles dis-tant, arriving on January 7th. The rate of progress was necessarily very slow. About ten miles a day was a good average, the march being largely made be-fore daylight when it was bitterly cold, to avoid the intense heat which prealled later.

This route has been carefully sur-veyed, and is likely to be of large advantage. Four days after leaving the coast, the party fell in with abundant game and some very rare specimens were fortunately secured, while deer, antelope and hippopotami were found in abundance. About four days before reaching Menelik's capital, a herd of about 100 elephants were encountered. Twenty large bulls fell to the rifles of the party, after an exciting and some-what dangerous sport, as the elephants had been recently hunted by the natives and were exceedingly wary. Hundreds and were exceedingly wary. Fundateds of natives flocked to the spot to enjoy a feast and many insisted upon shaking hands with the white hunters, in appre-dation of a generous meal. The valua-ble ivory was carried forward and presented to the Negus, who, however, courieously begged Mr. Butter and Mr. Whitehouse to retain each a pair of their first elephant spoils. The caravan was left about 15 miles from the capital, to which the party proceeded, and were most courteously received by Captain Harrington, the British resident, and his secretary, Mr. Baird. The residence of King Menelik is a two story building, with extensive court yards in the centre of a large plain, through which are scattered an immense number of crude huts, con-taining probably 20,000 people. The par-ty attired in faultless dress suits, but riding sorry mules into the court yard, received in audience the next day The king is described as a man of about 58 years of age, of dark com-plexion, marked with smallpox, with a slight gray beard, and brilliant dark eyes. He has a boar He has a keen and thoughtful face, and through an interpreter conversed intelligently with his guests. He inquired particularly from what part of America Mr. Whitehouse had come, and remarking on the very great dis-tance, expressed the hope that they would have a successful trip and carry away a good account of his dominions, promising them guides and a safe con-duct. The king invited the party to dine with him on Christmas day, style, January 8, when he entertained them right royally with cooked meats, raw meats, however, being served to several thousand natives assem-

I have been told that the item referred to calls attention to the fearfully injurious effect upon the public a consolidation of the two systems would have. Were the two lines to become one passengers could transfer from one to the other, without paying two fares as they do now. If such a state of affairs should prove harmful to the people, then the Tribune man is right in his calamitous statement." #### The Champion will Remain Under the Management of Brady, Reports to the Contrary Notwithstanding.

The Denver Post of Wednesday has the following interview with J. J. Jeffries:

Champion Jim Jeffries, accompanied by Tommy Ryan and his brother Jack. arrived in Denver this morning on their way East. The champion is looking in excellent condition, and all the talk about his not being in shape is the merest rot. They will lay over for a train or so and then continue their journey on to Chicago. Jeffries said this pourney on to Chicago, services and the morning: "I am on my way East to get into shape for my contest with Cor-bett, but, as you know, I am to meet three men at Chicago on next Thurs-day night. I see by the papers this morning where Mayor Harrison has objected to my meeting three men and says one is enough. Of course, he is the boss, and we will have to abide by his decision. But really I can see no dif-

. That old sore or ulter, which has been a source of pain, worry and anxiety to you for five or ten years — maybe longer — doesn't heal because you are not using the proper treatment, but are trying to cure it with salves and withes While these are soothing and relieve pain to some extent, no real, permanent mod can come from their per because the delive pain to some extent, no real, permanent good can come from their use, because the disease is in the blood and far beyond the reach of external applications.

A sore heals promptly when the blood is in good condition, but never if it is diseased. The A sore nears promptly when the blood is in good condition, but never it it is diseased. The tendency of these old sores and ulcers is to grow worse, spreading and eating deeper into the flesh. They are a constant drain upon the system, gradually but surely ruin the health and sap the very life. A person's capacity for work or pleasure is soon lost in the great desire and search for something to cure.

S. S. S. makes a rapid and permanent cure of old sores and ulcers, and is the only medicine that does, because no other can reach deep-seated blood troubles. Ordinary Sarsaparilla and potash mixtures are too weak and watery to overcome a deadly poison that has taken possession of the blood. Do not waste valuable time experimenting with them.

"Some years ago I was shot in the left leg, receiving what I considered only a slight wound. It developed into a running sore and gave me a great deal of pain. I was treated by many doctors and took a number of blood remedies, but aone did me any good. I had heard s. S. highly recommended and concluded to give it a trial. The result was truly graiffying. S. S. seemed to get right at the trouble, and forced the poison out of my blood; soon afterwards the sore healed up and was cured sound and well. I now have perfect use of the leg, which was swollen and very stiff for a long time. J. H. McBRAVER, Lawrenceburg, Ky."

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known ; is made of roots and herbs of wonderful purifying properties, which no poison can resist. S. S. quickly and effectually clears the blood of all morbid, unhealthy humors, and the old, troublesome sore heals. At the same time the general health is invigorated and built up. When a little scratch or hurt fails to heal readily, you may be sure your blood is bad. S. S. S. will soon put it in order and keep it so. Our Medical Department is in charge of experienced physicians, who have made blood diseases a life study. If you will write them about your case, they will gladly bled at the feast. The Negus, who at the audience was seated cross-legged on a divan with pink satin cushions, was dressed like an eastern potentate.

The party later returned to the caravan, when they marched south about fifty miles, and after a halt for a day eeded to Zuquata. The caravan, which then consisted of sixty-two cam-els and sixty natives, with the original party (except Captain Powell Cotton,) will proceed by the chain of lakes towards the Walato country, whose chief has been advised of their coming. Along this route there will be serious work for the camels, as the country is very hilly, but Lake Stephanie should be reached without difficulty. The entire route is being surveyed, including important hills as landmarks.

On the top of one of these was discovered the ruins of a city, which had been well and closely built, with narrow streets about three quarters of a mile in length, probably constructed by Arabs many hundreds of years ago. length.

It is possible that a runner may bing in later news to Adis Aboba, otherwise no further intelligence may be expected before the middle of May.

MADE HIM HOMESICK.

A tramp went along a dusty road and sat down on the steps of a house in a quiet village street. Through the windows the voices of a man and a woman in violent altercation were heard, and he tramp listened intently. Augry words, and occasionally the sound of something thrown, reached his ears, and he could hardly sit still. At last, evidently, the wife had taken a broom, and the blows fell fast and furious.

The tramp could stand it no longer. but, rushing to the side door, he darted in, and, stepping between the pair, he cried, with a husky voice:

Give us a clip or two with the broom, old woman; it seems just like old times!"-Collier's Weekly.

refitz is a good enough feilow, out he has the unhappy faculty of getting in-to trouble all the time. He can fight a bit yet, and any of those aspiring heavyweights who think he cannot had better let him alone. I will fight him again as soon as my present arrange-ments are completed, but I will only telerate one match at a time. At present I am watched to meet Corbett, and that is enough. After I get through with him I will talk business with the
