The fifty-sixth anniversary of the arrival of the Pioneers in the valley of the Great Salt Lake, is being celebrated today. At the stores, business houses and banks remained closed while the employees spent their holiday at the resorts, in the surrounding canyons and other places. The city in consequence has worn a holiday air with the Stars and Stripes flying from the breeze from the flagpoles surrounding a number of big buildings down town.

The veteran artillerists were out bright and early on Capitol hill and fired the customary salute that went booming across the valley.

The most important event of the day was the throwing open of Pioneer square and its dedication as a public park. The spot on which the advance guard of the pioneers camped this morning looked very inviting with its shady trees, neatly trimmed hedge and green lawns.

All the resorts commenced early in the day to do a rushing business while the train to Park City was loaded with pleasure seekers bound for Parley's canyon resorts. The same can be said of Provo and Ogden trains.

The Salt Lake & Los Angeles afternoon hauled big trains out to Saitair and all indications point to an immense crowd at that resort. Owing to the pressure Manager Langford borrowed a number of handsome coaches from the Oregon Short Line so that every one was transported in comfort. The rush at the beach houses was very pronounced this afternoon and the Pioneers were kept working gaily transporting bathers out to deep water.

At Calder's there was another big party that went out this afternoon to witness the horse races and stayed to see the fireworks which take place this evening. Lagoon, too, had all the business of the day and the Pioneers could not get away from the city without a special dedication ceremony today.

The gates were unceremoniously thrown open by the parkkeeper this morning and those who chose to wander through the park were privileged to do so.

Beneath have been provided and are in place so that the weary may have an opportunity to rest. As yet the trees made the park are too small to afford much inducement in the way of shade and the walks, lawns and flowers are not as well kept nor as attractive as they will be after a few weeks of careful attention. At the same time it is a park and is one which should be duly appreciated in years to come, not only for its beauty, but by reason of its historical connection with the Pioneers who made this beautiful city and valley what it is today. It was on Pioneer

PIONEER PARK.

Historic Spot Thrown Open to the Public This Morning.

For the second time within the past five years historical Pioneer square was today set apart as a public park and thrown open to the public as a place of recreation for the citizens in general and particularly those in the western and southwestern parts of the city. Unlike the dedication of the park on July 25, 1888, there were no special dedication ceremonies today. The gates were unceremoniously thrown open by the parkkeeper this morning and those who chose to wander through the park were privileged to do so.

Beneath have been provided and are in place so that the weary may have an opportunity to rest. As yet the trees made the park are too small to afford much inducement in the way of shade and the walks, lawns and flowers are not as well kept nor as attractive as they will be after a few weeks of careful attention. At the same time it is a park and is one which should be duly appreciated in years to come, not only for its beauty, but by reason of its historical connection with the Pioneers who made this beautiful city and valley what it is today. It was on Pioneer square that the "Old Fort" was established in August, 1847, and there the first winter was spent by the Pioneer band.

DEDICATED FIVE YEARS AGO.

At the dedication of Pioneer Park on July 25, 1888, the speakers of the occasion were President Wilford Woodruff, Mayor John Clark, Judge W. H. King and Judge C. C. Goodwin. Dr. T. C. Hiff then made an address and President Woodruff, in the course of his remarks, President Woodruff and Mayor Clark gave some interesting statements concerning the settlement of Pioneer square.

PIONEER HISTORY.

When President Brigham Young and his party arrived in the valley on July 24, 1847, a camp was first established on Washington square, where the city and county building now stands, but on Aug. 1 it was thought advisable to commence the building of a stockade as a protection from the Indians, so logs were hauled from the mountains, adobe were made of sundried clay and on Aug. 10, 1847, the foundations were laid of the first house erected in this valley. The houses extended along the east line of Pioneer square, beginning at the northeast corner. The roofs all slanted inward and the doors and windows were on the inside of the stockade formed by the houses.

PRESIDENT YOUNG'S ADVICE.

President Brigham Young, before leaving on his return to Winter Quarters on Aug. 25, 1847, gave the members of his party some timely advice. He admonished them to live in the stockade until the autumn and to build it up on all four sides so as to have better protection and to have room for the other bands of pioneers who were then on their way to the valley. He also advised them to eat all the grain they could. As winter drew near the pioneers moved into the stockade and the addition of other pioneer bands increased the number of the grain they could. When President Young returned there was such an increase in population that city lots were laid out and people began to settle upon them. In the winter of 1848-49 there was quite a number who remained inside the fort, but gradually from year to year it became a public square.

GRANTED TO RAILROADS.

Several times has the square been granted to railroad corporations to be used as a depot, but the terms of the grants have never been complied with and it has reverted back to the city. About two months ago an ordinance was passed by the city council granting the square as a public park and setting today as the date for it to be thrown open. On last Monday night a resolution was passed by the council authorizing the parkkeeper to open the gates of the park to the public this morning. This was done, and again the city extends a hearty greeting to its citizens and invites them to partake of the pleasures and comfort afforded by another public breathing spot—Pioneer park.

here looking after some private business. To a "News" representative who asked him for an expression as to the western political outlook, Mr. King replied that with such a leader as either of these and with a platform that would appeal to conservative citizens there would be a great chance for victory. In view of late revelations as to the federal departments it is high time that a change of administration ensue and one of the slogans of next year will be "Turn the rascals out."

United Brothers of Friendship.

St. Louis, July 23.—At the final session today of the National convention of the United Brothers of Friendship, a colored organization, the following resolutions were adopted:

FERDINAND OF BULGARIA.

Stories that He Has Left Because of A Revolution. Unfounded.

Belgrade, July 24.—Prince Ferdinand, accompanied by his children, passed through this city on his way to Vienna.

Vienna, July 24.—The reports that a revolution has broken out in Bulgaria, and that Prince Ferdinand has fled are semi-officially characterized here as unfounded. It is recalled that July 25 is the anniversary of the death of Prince Ferdinand's father and it is thought that the immediate object of his present journey is to visit his grave at Coburg, which is his annual custom.

As near as it can be ascertained here the report of Prince Ferdinand's flight from Bulgaria is unfounded.

An official in Vienna said to the Associated Press this afternoon:

"The story published by the Stampa and other delugate papers, that a revolution had broken out in Bulgaria, that Prince Ferdinand is about to flee or had fled to Belgrade, and that there have been 50,000 assassinations, mostly of soldiers on duty at Prince Ferdinand's palace at Sofia, is a malicious political trick designed to compromise Bulgaria and its prince and to direct public attention from the present conditions in Serbia."

If Denmark should conclude to sell the islands to the United States it would be possible to revise the provisions of the treaty which has just failed; meantime the position of the state department is comfortable, for having done its part toward completing the bargain, the American government of course could not sanction the sale of the islands by Denmark to any other government.

London, July 24.—Japan has decided to adopt the policy of waiting and watching Russia, advocated by Great Britain. In the meantime she will urge China to carry out the assurances given to the United States respecting Manchuria and will endeavor to obtain the opening of additional ports.

At the Japanese legation here the following statement was made by an official to the Associated Press:

"I can assure you that the talk of war between Russia and Japan is an invention. Japan has not the least intention of taking that course. She proposes to wait and maintain her attitude of watchfulness. Japan and America are acting on the same lines and it is equally difficult for any other power to withstand the pressure. They and Great Britain could apply."

It is said that Japan intends to do nothing until October, when the first evacuation of Manchuria must occur. The Russian embassy here regards the confusion which has arisen in consequence of the report that Prince Ching, head of the Chinese foreign office, has written to Minister Geng regarding the opening of ports in Manchuria. The Russian officials at Washington believe that the note was sent before China gave her assurances and they assert positively that Russia intends to carry out to the letter the assurances she has given and will not interpose obstacles in the way of Manchuria observing her pledge to Secy. Hay.

The charge struck Mrs. Bailey on the right side of the face, neck and shoulders, cutting her windpipe, tearing away part of her nose and destroying her eye. Many of the bullets penetrated Mrs. Woods's body.

The shooting caused the horse to run away and both women were thrown from the buggy, receiving further serious injuries.

YOUNG MURDERERS EXECUTED.

Claude O'Brien and Earl Whitney Pay Penalty for Their Crime.

Lexington, Ky., July 24.—Claude O'Brien and Earl E. Whitney, boys in years and whose faces indicated nothing of the criminal, were hanged here at 8 o'clock this morning for the murder of A. B. Chinn.

The boys ate hearty breakfasts and at 7:30 were dressed for the scaffold. Both were so calm that they elicited comment from all the officials. The priests at 6 o'clock administered communion. Both the condemned said they felt better and were ready to die.

Whitney smiled from the scaffold at the crowd. They shook hands with the priests. O'Brien's lips moved in prayer as the rope was adjusted. Both replied that they had nothing to say.

Early on the morning of Oct. 12, 1902, O'Brien and Whitney entered the home of A. B. Chinn, a wealthy merchant and an ex-Confederate soldier, and with revolvers in hand, demanded his money. Mrs. Chinn screamed. Asa Chinn, their son, hurried to the door of his parents' room and the burglars began shooting. Asa Chinn also opened fire. The older Chinn, sitting on the side of his bed, was shot through the body. The boys then ran from the room over the form of Asa Chinn, who also had been shot and was lying on the floor, using his revolver as best he could. Whitney was wounded in the left knee. The older Chinn got up out of the bed and went to the door, where he dropped dead.

The boys were captured a few days later near here, but owing to rumors of revolvers in hand, demands for money, safe-keeping, O'Brien was 13 years of age and his home was in Memphis, Tenn. Earl Whitney, one year his senior, has relatives in Nashville, Tenn.

Daring Robbery in Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln, Neb., July 24.—One of the most daring robberies in the history of the city occurred today when a solitary stranger robbed two Lincoln bank employees of $4,000.

The stranger, who was dressed in a suit and tie, entered the bank and demanded the money. He first entered the room over the restaurant of O. E. Hendrick, where the latter was taking a bath. He continued to make no outcry and rifled his pockets of $750. The thief then went to Rehnold's drug store and broke in the rear door and took $1,500. In watching the parade of Ringling's circus, the safe and got $38. A clerk was standing behind the soda water fountain at the time the robbery was in progress. The clerk saw the stranger take the money and he called out. The stranger, however, did not stop and disappeared. The police are baffled.

LEO'S BODY.

Reports that it Shows Signs of Decomposition Are Untrue.

Rome, July 24.—The report generally circulated that the body of Pope Leo XIII. was beginning to show signs of decomposition caused great consternation. It is now contradicted by the doctors. Many people who had decided to visit the chapel of the Sacrament in St. Peter's on the last day of the dying in state, and thus avoiding the crowd, hurried there today, fearing that it would be buried tonight, while many persons in the province took the last trains to Rome which resulted in a gathering at St. Peter's larger than that of yesterday. Otherwise the scene would have been the same. The work of the soldiers and police on duty was more arduous owing to the burning sun and dust and the struggle to enter the cathedral, the fainting of women, screaming of children and the burials of the men. However, no grave incident has so far been reported.

Dr. Lippini, in the face of the doubts as to the efficacy of his process of embalming, went with the other doctors today to examine the body of the pope and found it to be in a perfect state of preservation. The dark color assumed by the face was attributed to the smoke of the many candles burning. A large quantity of ice was put over the body.

Unless the unexpected occurs, the interment will take place Saturday evening as originally arranged.
