Unlawful co Nov. 5, 1885 500 172 00 rear these old towns were first laid out, but it must have been shortly siter the close of the revolutionary war, for in the old graveyards are seen monuments dating back a century. These three dead towns have always been an interesting study to me, and during a visit to that locality I tried to earn something about their early his tory. One gentleman told me that six-ty odd years ago an old lady friend of his said she attended a grand ball in Petersburg. Then there were thirtythree stores in the place, and it was then on the decline. But I found it very difficult to glean authentic infor-mation in regard to the early history of the town, for the oldest citizens can only remember the place after its de-sertion, and when only a few scattered ...do..... families inhabited it. The town was built on a strip of al-luvial bottom land, surrounded by an amphitheatre of hills. All the busi-ness was transacted on a single street that passed through the centre of the place. The surrounding heights were chosen the sites of residences, and I was shown an old red knoll that once sold for $15,000 in gold. Lisbon out-lived both Petersburg and Vienna, doubtless, owing to the fact that it was built on a more elevated and healthy site. Viesna boasted several very handsome blocks of brick buildings, but was the first of the three to decay. The desertion of Petersburg is at tributed to two causes. One that rev-olutionized the trade of this country. and it could not compete with Augus-ta. The principal business of Peters-burg had been tobacco, which was packed in stort hogsheads, a set of shafts attached thereto, and the same 262 Jeseph Dover..... 30 00 pulled to market by a pony or steer. With the introduction of cotton, the bales were easier transported, and hence more distant markets sought. Another reason for the abandonment of the town, and for which there is doubtless some ground, is that the place was very sickly, and visited every sammer by an epidemic of malarial diseases. To-day there is no sign left of what were once three flourishing towns, except the half-filled cellars and wells surrounded by a thicket of china and mulberry trees. What was once the fourishing city of Petersburg is now occupied by Capt. Cade as a cotton field and stock farm. Lands that once

SATISFIED AT LAST. Geo. A. Smith of Salt Lake City is a young man favorably known through-out Utah. He has been troubled with a bad case of cross-eyes all his life. Several years ago he had an operation performed by an oculist, but it was not successful and did no good. conse-quently his faith was very much shaken about its ever being made straight. But at the Continental Hotel on Mon-day of this week Dr. Prentice made it straight in less than half a minute. Mr. Smith is delighted with the result and his friends astonished. Mr. Smith said it caused him practically no pain. it caused him practically no pain.
