DEFENDING BRODERICK.

London Daily Mail Continues to Work Its Advertising Graft.

Na York, July 31 .- Discussing the the Ladon Daily Mail, the London adent of the Tribune says: Ther is no new phase in Mr. Brode-ticks singular attempt to discipline spapers suspected of obtaining the sents of the war office by improper The law arms him with full sources for punishing not only clerks straying the confidence of the departant but also those who hire them to It Those conversant with the or-my procedure of the war office are nused by Mr. Broderick's disingenious dert to discredit his own staff by during certain newspapers with corthing clerks with moderate incomes. The real source of leakage is well Mown.Whenever important dispatches he held over in the war office for 24 t # hours, there is gossip among militry men who receive their cues from high officials. Confidential matters which are whispered in the military clubs soon reach the ears of the jour-nalists and find their way into print. This is the natural explanation many disclosures which Mr. Broderick autibutes to bribery on the part of the newspapers. The best safeguard trainst leakage would be the immediate publication of the buileting received South Africa before the higher efficials themselves have a chance of talking about them. It is one of the ements of red tape that nothing, shall be published from the war office without the direct sanction of the secstary of war. This is a common cause delay, since he cannot be consulted readily at all times. Mr. Broderick has brought himself into ridicule by his credulous and irrational conduct seeking to discredit the Daily Mail, d the clerks in the war office. The Mail, however, disclaims any intenon to imply that Mr. Broderick had been guilty of falsehood and merely onsiders the secretary of war to have een misinformed in supposing that it had used any improper methods of ob-taining official information.

Between 800,000 and 900,000 tons of sugar were raised this year and the next crop will be larger than any Cuba has ever gathered. We cannot do business, however, without a reduction on sugar.'

Even Shingles Are Sympathetic.

Seattle, Wash., July 31 .- There is a general uncasiness among the shingle manufacturers that may lead to a general shut down of the 271 shingle mills in Washington. There are four dangers staring the manufacturers in the face, a threatened shortage of cars; a crop failure in Missouri and portions of Kansas; a threatened advance in freight rates; a shortage of steel bands due to the strike trouble in the eastern steel mills.

In the matter of a car shortage the manufacturers in Whatcom county have already registered a complaint of account of their inability to get cars. Secy, Beckman of the Manufacturers' ssociation has sent out circulars to all of the shingle manufacturers of the state to make an expression upon the matter of closing down in case prices weaken. It is believed that most of the manufacturers will vote to close.

Prematurely Crossing the Bridge

Seattle, Wash., July 21.-Seattle is vitally affected by the strike of the longshoremen and sallors which was ordered in San Francisco this morning. As a result all freight traffic between this city and the California metropolis, which forms one of the heaviest vol-umes of business in Seattle's marine traffic, is stopped entirely. The loss to this city and to the numerous steamship companies operating between here and San Francisco will mean thousands of dollars a month.

The merchants are affected similarly Thousands of tons of fruit, which seek consumption through Seattle, will be allowed to lie on the San Francisco docks to rot. Fruit locally will ad-vance rapidly. A reporter visited the steamshipmen, the merchants and oth ers who would be affected by the strike today, and the general concensus of opinionwas that Seattle would lose thou-sands of dollars a month be the tu-at San Francisco. The merchants here, are already heavy losers on acount of the teamsters' strike there, and the load strike and the met. the local strike, and the sudden stop-page of all supplies via the water route from California greatly complicates the situation.

DIET FOR THIN PEOPLE.

It is a logical deduction that the foods rom which the fleshy person must ab-stain are the ones which are beneficial to the thin one. An authority gives this regimen: "If possible, have a cup of coccoa or chocolate before rising. For your breakfast have eggs, poached or bolled, cutlets, chops or steak, a cup of offee and some fruit; but do not negect the eggs.
