of those which involve the very struc ture of our government, the Republican eaders give new evidence of their abandonment of the earlier ideals of the party and of their complete subserviency to pecuniary considerations.

THE GREAT ISSUE.

But they shall not be permitted to evade the stupendous and far-reaching insue which they have deliberately brought into the arena of politics, When the President, supported by a practi-cally ananimous vote of the House and Sanate, entered upon a war with Spain for the purpose of aiding the strugging patriots of Cuba, the country, without regard to party, applauled. Although the Democrats recognized that the administration would necessarily gain a political advantage from the conduct of i war which, in the very nature of the use must some end in a complete vica war which, in the very nature of the case must scan end in a complete vie, fory, they vied with the Republicans in the support which ther gave to the president.
