THE MISSING EXPLOSION VICTIMS

Up to Noon They Number Thirty-Six—Opinions Differ as to Cause of Accident—Pres. Mayn of Tarrant & Co. Says They Had No Benzoil, Collodion, Nitro-Glycerine or Gunpowder.

New York, Oct. 30.—Although 300 men worked all night on the ruins of the property destroyed by the explosion in Tarrant & Company's drug house, yesterday, and were relieved by more than a thousand men at daylight, the search had not resulted in the discovery of any dead body up to 12:30 today, twenty-four hours after the explosion occurred. The list of missing numbers thirty-eight, but it is believed that many of these will be found during the day. Thos. P. Mayn, president of the Tarrant company, said he felt sure that all of his employees, with the possible exception of two, had been saved.

The search for bodies in the ruins of the building occupied by Tarrant & Co. was kept up all night, but without result. Ten of those reported missing returned to their homes during the night.

The list of missing at noon was as follows:

Armstrong, F. S., employee of J. S. O'Connell.

Bradley, Mary, employed in printing.

Carroll, Joseph.

James, R. C., egg dealer.

James, Francis, egg dealer.

Johnson, John, egg dealer.

Johnson, John, employed on fourth floor of Tarrant & Co.

Clark, Isaac, truck driver.

Clark, Charles, bookkeeper at 192 Duane street.

Golden, Mollie, employed by Tarrant & Co.

Harriet, Thomas, employed by Tarrant & Co.

Hayley, Wm., employed in egg store.

McIntosh, Patrick, employed in commission office.

McIntosh, James, address unknown.

McIntosh, Joseph, address unknown.

McIntosh, Benj., Montclair, N. J.

Clark, Charles, employed in Warren street.

Murphy, Julia, employed in Warren street.

Moore, Harry, an errand boy.

Metzger, Victor Hugo, of the Manhattan Piano company. He was known to have been in the vicinity a few minutes before the explosion took place.

Oppenheimer, Jules, employed in Warren street.

Peters, Frederick, employed at Greenfield street and Park place.

Pottinger, George, salesman elevated railway station, Warren street.

Rusch, Mary, employed by Tarrant & Co.

Smith, E., employed in Chambers street.

Walker, George W., egg dealer.

Wagner, August, employed near Tarrant & Co.

Stein, Abraham.

Schuck, George, employed in the Tarrant & Co. building.

Smith, Mary, employed by Tarrant & Co.

Smith, Jennie, employed by Tarrant & Co.

Tanne, Lawrence.

McIntosh, James, employee street cleaning department.

Swearing, Max, porter, employed by Tarrant & Co.

Sanitary Superintendent Roberts said that between 150 and 200 tons of debris were in the ruins and that some of the offensive odor ascribed to dead bodies was really caused by decaying vegetable matter.

Seven fire engines were still on the ground this morning.

Superintendent of Buildings Dooner had 1,000 men at work as soon as daylight appeared. He declared that a dozen buildings would have to be torn down.

"The force of the explosion has impaled many buildings in the vicinity," he said. "I cannot think of letting men work in them while there is a possibility that they may come down. I believe the buildings along the south side of Duane street, from Greenwich to Washington streets, and on Washington street from Chambers to Warren streets have been made unfit for occupancy. They are now being damaged by the explosion. I place the property loss at $2,000,000."

Dr. Feeney, chief inspector of the health department, was at the scene of the explosion today. "This havoc was never wrought by benzoil or naphtha," he said. "I believe it was nitro-glycerine by physicians as a heart stimulant and Tarrant & Co. as wholesale druggists, would have had to supply it. If Tarrant & Co. had twenty-five pounds of nitro-glycerine in their store, it would have blown a building like theirs into fragments."

George E. Murray, inspector of combustibles, gave out the following statement: "It is also opinion that the explosion was due to chemical action which took place during the compounding of drugs. Just what the exact cause was we cannot say. We have not the formulas used in compounding, and can get the employees on the witness stand before the fire marshal. The company had a permit to store collodion, ether and phosphorus in small quantities, a barrel of alcohol, two gallons of benzoil, one carboy of sulphuric acid and one carboy of nitric acid. If all these should blow up together, I do not think it would make such a terrific explosion. I am of the opinion that the explosion was due to chemical changes."

President Thomas F. Mayn, of Tarrant & Co., said today: "In our own stock we had not more than a few pounds of benzoil and no collodion. When we needed any of these articles to fill orders we bought them from dealers. We had very little alcohol in stock, notwithstanding the fact that we use a considerable quantity in making our perfumes. We had absolutely no nitro-glycerine and no collodion."

Mr. Mayn said in an interview today that Tarrant & Company stored on the third and fourth floors large amounts of drugs for other dealers.

"Among this," said he, "was much chlorate of potash, and this may have caused the explosion. I'm inclined to think it did. While chlorate of potash is not explosive in itself, it is explosive when connected by fire or other means with other drugs or acids, and it is on this very theory that the experts are now working to determine just how the explosion may have been caused."

"All our employees but two have been accounted for. We employed twenty men and fifteen women. William Moorehouse, a shipping clerk, and a boy who was employed on an upper floor, are missing."

The damage to the Ninth Avenue elevated road is largely superficial and can be readily repaired. All but five of the injured who were taken to the Hudson street house of relief, were discharged this morning. Those who remained were reported out of danger.

PERJURY IN GOEBEL CASE.
Finley Anderson Makes Affidavit that His Testimony Was False All the Way Through.

Tells How Attorney Campbell and Goebel's Brothers Paid Him Money to Testify.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 30.—The Louisville Evening Post today prints an affidavit of Finley Anderson, the telegraph operator upon whose testimony Caleb Powers was convicted of complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel, in which Anderson swears his story told on the stand at Georgetown was perjured. After telling of a conversation with Attorney Campbell, at Cincinnati in connection with the Goebel case, the affidavit continues:

"I remained in Cincinnati after this conversation with Mr. Campbell and some time after that Mr. Goebel, in his store up stairs on the fourth floor, where I had gone at his request, asked me if Powers had not in my presence at Barbourville in January, said to me in substance these words, referring to William Goebel: 'They say he wears a coat of mail, but it won't do him any good, or something similar to that. I told Mr. Arthur Goebel that Powers had never said anything of the sort in my presence to the best of my knowledge. He told me to think and see if I could not remember. I could not remember such a remark and I know that Powers never did make such a remark or anything resembling it in my presence, but being urged by Arthur Goebel, I finally concluded to state that he did make such a statement and so swore upon the trial, which testimony was false."

"Before making my statement to Campbell Wharton Golden told me to make it as strong as possible, as they were going to Campbell and Goebel, would take care of me and protect me. I desire now to say that I never had but one conversation with Caleb Powers, and that was in relation to my going in Frankfort with the men on the 25th of January and at no place was the name of William Goebel mentioned or referred to in any way or in any connection with Caleb Powers."

"I desire furthermore to state that either upon the occasion of the first conversation with Campbell or the day after I received from him $10 in cash and since that conversation I have received from him, both before and after I was a witness at Georgetown in the Powers case, various sums of money and I have since such conversation with Campbell and Arthur Goebel received from Arthur Goebel various sums aggregating about $300 and upon one occasion $10 from James Goebel. The last sum I received was on Tuesday, October 23, 1900, which was $5 given to me by Col. Campbell at his office in Cincinnati. Just prior to giving me this $5 Campbell had telephoned to Arthur Goebel to come to his office, which Goebel did, and when he arrived at Campbell's office he went into a private office with Campbell, and Campbell came out and handed me $5."

Anderson further gives alleged dates and details and concludes his affidavit thus:

"I believe my testimony in the trial of Caleb Powers aided in his conviction and I am unwilling longer to suffer in conscience by the thought that the falsity of my statements has aided in convicting Caleb Powers."

DIES BY THE MORPHINE ROUTE

George Petty Takes Deadly Drug at Eureka.

HEAVY DRINKING THE CAUSE

Deceased Had Relatives at Rockport, Ill., Who Have Been Notified of the Act.

(SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.)

Eureka, Utah, Oct. 30.—George Petty, aged 28 years, was found dead in his room in a Main street rooming house here this morning at about 10 o'clock. A bottle which was found on a stand near the bed contained a few grains of morphine, and as the bottle contained when full about sixty grains of the poison, it is reasonable to suppose that Petty took almost fifty grains of the deadly drug. Dr. Field was immediately summoned, but from appearances the man had been dead several hours.

The body running the house said that he did not know at what time Petty went to his room, but thought it must have been early last evening.

An inquest will be held over the remains this afternoon and it is quite certain that a suicidal verdict will be given. The deceased came to Eureka about five months ago from Lamar, Nevada, and during his stay here has worked some at the Elk station, but has never been regularly employed.

Lawrence Justy, a faro dealer at the Elk club rooms, said that Petty had been seen at the saloon yesterday morning, and that he seemed to be feeling all right. His parents and other relatives reside at Rockport, Pike county, Ill., and Deputy Sheriff Dan Cronin has wired them of his death. Excessive drinking and gambling, it is thought, led Petty to suicide.

The members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints are hereby notified that Nathan Tanner Jr. was excommunicated from the Church on June 29th, 1898, for not complying with the decision of the High Council of the Weber Stake of Zion, given in his case. It has come to our notice that he is now claiming a membership in the Church, and on the ground that he had been seen at the Elk club rooms, and that he seemed to be feeling all right. His parents and other relatives reside at Rockport, Pike county, Ill., and Deputy Sheriff Dan Cronin has wired them of his death. Excessive drinking and gambling, it is thought, led Petty to suicide.

JAMES TAYLOR, Clerk.

THE PROUSSE MURDER TRIAL.

The trial of James Lynch and Robert E. King for the murder of Godfrey Prouse at the Sheep Ranch gambling house on the morning of September 11th last, came up in the criminal branch of the Third district court this morning.

It will be remembered that on the morning of the 11th of September two masked men entered the gambling house, which is situated on Commercial street and at the point of revolvers ordered the inmates of the place to hold up their hands.

Prouse, who was the owner of the place, did not comply very readily with the demand, and was shot by one of the robbers. The other victim, a gambler, also received a wound in the head and was captured before leaving the building. The other man escaped. The wound received by Prouse proved fatal.

Judge Booth of Provo occupies the bench in the place of Judge Norrell at the trial. Assistant County Attorney Putnam and Assistant County Attorney Van Cott appeared on the part of the State, while the two defendants were represented by Will F. Wanless and Frank C. Lester.

The two prisoners were brought into the court room promptly at 10 o'clock and they were seated in the dock. Both and while showing the signs of nervousness, appeared to be in the best of health. There was an absence of nervousness on the part of both of the men and though they took deep interest in the proceedings, they said nothing about them to indicate that they were accused of a capital crime.

The morning session of the court was taken up by counsel examining the jurors.

The first call brought for examination Henry Smith, Hall, R. V. McCallister, Winter, L. H. Woolley, Ferguson, Arthur, John B. Shotton, Edward C. Bagley, Thomas Stokes and Wm. Gordon. The work of examining jurors, which is the most tedious part of such cases, took time usually taken in such cases. The jury had been examined and the testimony of each juror was taken up by counsel examining the jurors.

A jury will doubtless be secured this evening.
