

RELATIONS WITH
CUBAN REPUBLICConstitutional Convention Adopts Resolutions.

FAVOR THE UNITED STATES.

No Treaty to be Made Compromising
Independence—Island Not to be Used for Operations Against America.

Havana, Feb. 27.—The constitutional convention remained in session until 1 o'clock this morning, completing the work in the constitution referring to relations between Cuba and the United States. A public session was held this evening to sign the following resolutions, which have been adopted:

First—The government of Cuba will not make treaty or agreement with any foreign power which may compromise or limit the independence of Cuba or which may permit or authorize any power to obtain by means of colonization or for military or naval purposes, or in any other, any foothold or authority, or right over any portion of Cuba.

Second—The government will not permit its territory to be used as a base of operations for war against the United States or against any foreign power.

Third—The government of Cuba will not in its entirety affirm the rights of Cuba to the extent of the obligations which are explicitly indicated in the international law imposed for the protection of life and property, and respect for the United States executive in the pledge which it assumed in the treaty according to articles 12 and 13 of the treaty of Paris.

Fourth—The government of Cuba will not in its entirety affirm the rights of Cuba to the extent of the obligations which are explicitly indicated in the international law imposed for the protection of life and property, and respect for the United States executive in the pledge which it assumed in the treaty according to articles 12 and 13 of the treaty of Paris.

Fourth—The government of Cuba will not in its entirety affirm the rights of Cuba to the extent of the obligations which are explicitly indicated in the international law imposed for the protection of life and property, and respect for the United States executive in the pledge which it assumed in the treaty according to articles 12 and 13 of the treaty of Paris.

Fifth—The government of the United States and Cuba ought to regulate their relations towards free trade in natural and manufactured products, mutually assuring ample special advantages in their respective markets.

The scheme of relations was published this afternoon by the convention. The preamble, which is lengthy, sets forth the feeling of the letters from Gen. Wood outlining the wishes of the Washington executive and the national status was made on those lines. "But this in itself," the preamble goes on to say, "would militate against the independence which both parties desire to preserve."

Regarding future relations, it states that the convention understood the desire of the executive to be to bring about the specified relations with the object of securing the independence of Cuba and that the suggestion of the national status was made on those lines. "But this in itself," the preamble goes on to say, "would militate against the independence which both parties desire to preserve."

Regarding the sanitary question, the preamble declares that the future government should make arrangements with the United States to protect that country as well as Cuba.

The convention clearly implies that its aim was not to bind the future government for the last part of the preamble. "The convention understands that relations might exist in the future between the republic and the United States."

Pan Germans and Czechs Fight.

Vienna, Feb. 27.—There was a free fight today between Pan-Germans and Czechs on the floor of the reichsrath. The session opened with a promise of storm. Herr Schoenerer was especially prominent in creating disturbance, making speeches in their own tongue. The Pan-Germans protested against the abuse of freedom of speech, and a party of them invaded the Czech benches. The result was a fierce fistfight.

A Pan-German named Stim attempted to chastise a Czech named Fresl, whereupon the radical Czechs surrounded him. Stim's friends rushed to his rescue and the various groups became mixed up in a free fight, during which the president's bell and voice were drowned in the uproar. Eventually the president succeeded in making it known that the session was suspended. Before the house could be cleared, however, the rival members again clinched and fierce blows were exchanged.

CASE OF PROF. ROSS.

Vice Pres. Branner of Stanford on the Cause of His Removal.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—At a banquet given tonight by the University club of Chicago, Vice President John C. Branner of Leland Stanford, Jr., university, spoke on "Freedom of Speech in the United States." "I wish to say," said the speaker, "that the statement that the founder of our university ever demanded the removal of any one is absolutely false. Her opinion that Prof. Ross was not a fit person to hold the position of an instructor was shared by fully four-fifths of the faculty."

ALBERT COWAN'S VICTIMS.

Two of Those He Is Suspected of Assaulting Are Already Dead.

Denver, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Josephine Unterbrunner, one of the three women struck down by a heavy blow on the head last Friday night on Capitol hill, died this afternoon in St. Joseph's hospital. One of the others, Mrs. Mary Short, died on Saturday. The third victim, Miss Emma Johnson, may recover from her injuries.

Albert Cowan, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Short, and suspected of being the highwayman who has attacked many women in this city during the past year, was identified today by Bartholomew Juti, foreman of the Union Pacific car inspectors, as the man whom he saw running away from the place where Miss Annie McAtes was knocked down and seriously injured on the night of October 4th last.

When confronted with Jullen and Albert Frederick, who says he saw Cowan knock down Mrs. Short, the prisoner accused them of lying.

Dr. H. T. Pershing, an insanity specialist, said today that he treated Cowan for paranoia six years ago at the county hospital.

A COLORADO TRAGEDY.

Two Young Lovers Are Found Dead in Each Other's Arms.

La Junta, Colo., Feb. 27.—A sad tragedy came to light here today. The bodies of Louis Burch and Addie Taylor, both about 18 years of age, were found in a deserted house about a mile south of town. They were locked in each other's arms, and a revolver lying between them told the story. The girl was dead, but the boy was still breathing when found. He died without regaining consciousness.

The two had become lovers while quarantined in the Burch residence on account of a case of smallpox in the family. Young Burch's father forbade their marriage, and it is supposed this was the cause of the double suicide. They disappeared Monday night, and it was supposed they had eloped until their bodies were discovered today.

NAVAL APPRENTICE PROMOTION

Ex Sec'y Whitney Sees No Reason Why They Should Not Be Promoted.

New York, Feb. 28.—William C. Whitney, ex-secretary of the navy, when questioned last night, said that he saw no good reason why men who have served as apprentices in the navy should not be promoted to the regular ranks. "When I was secretary of the navy," he explained, "we could not find places for all the men who graduated from Annapolis. Now things have changed and there are not men enough from the academy to fill the places. Then, why are not the enlisted men a good field to pick from? Why not give them a chance? They are made of the same material as the officers."

In my opinion the apprentice system of the United States navy is the best in the world. It fits men to fill positions in every part of the ship and there is no reason, if the academy cannot supply officers, why men who have come into the navy through the door of enlistment should be kept out of the ward room.

Nothing adds more to vigor of body and cheerfulness of mind, or aids so well in chasing away the lines of worry and care from the weary brow, as good, sound, refreshing sleep. But when the gray matter of the brain has been robbed of its vitality and constructive strength by weak, worn-out and exhausted nerves, sleep gives way to restless tossing and long hours of feverish distress. Do you want a good sleep? You can get it if you go about it right.

IN INTEREST OF UNION PACIFIC.

Harriman's Recent Big Deals All
Tend in That Direction.

MOST GIGANTIC MOVEMENT.

Harriman Declared to be the Boldest
Railroad Manipulator in the World's History.

A well known railroad man in speaking of the late Harriman deals said this morning that the scheme was one of the deepest laid that ever came to public notice. He declared that all of these roads were to be purchased and come under the controls of the Union Pacific directors and yet it would not cost that company one farthing. The object of the increased capital stock of the Overland which were to be voted on at the forthcoming annual meeting of the Union Pacific stockholders in this city was to dispose of the stock to outside parties to raise money to float the scheme. He declared Harriman to be the boldest railroad operator in a century, which means the boldest that ever lived.

Wreck on the U. P.

A small wreck occurred on the Union Pacific at Peterson yesterday morning. An engine coming down the track light ran into the rear end of a freight train standing on the track, demolishing the caboose and the car directly in front of it. The freight car, which was loaded with matches, became ignited. The two cars were burned up. Fortunately no one was injured.

Burlington After Coal.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 27.—An agent of the Burlington today made twenty-two filings in the local land office on coal lands situated along the Platte river near the Seminoles mountains in Carbon county. The filings cover a tract of 2,529 acres, and the land borders the route of the proposed Guernsey-Salt Lake line of the Burlington.

Big Tunnel Nearly Done.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 27.—Tracklaying on the Sherman Hill cut-off from Buford to the Sliding was completed to the portals of the big tunnel at sundown tonight. The tunnel itself will be completed and made ready for the rails in a few days. It is now possible to use the cut-off by March 10th.

New Railroad Incorporated.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 27.—The Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific Railway company filed articles of incorporation today with a capital stock of $40,000. The company will construct a narrow-gauge railway southwest from Laramie city, ninety-six miles, tapping the Centennial and Gold Hill mining districts of Wyoming and North Park and Hahn's Peak sections of Colorado. The incorporators are Boston capitalists, Isaac Van Horn being at the head, with headquarters at Laramie city. The construction of the road will be begun as soon as the season permits.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

The Southern Pacific is borrowing engines and crews from the U. P. in Ogden.

E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, will spend a short holiday in Florida.

Car Accountant Hickey, of the Oregon Short Line came home from his eastern trip today.

James Jack and family leave this evening for Los Angeles over the Rio Grande Western and Southern Pacific roads.

The Raymond and Whitcomb excursion train which reached the city last evening leaves by special train for the East tonight at 7:30.

F. H. Knickerbocker is seeing after the duties of chief clerk in Supt. Calvin's office until the appointment of a successor to Mr. Jenkinson.

The Oregon Railroad and Navigation company has placed an order for eight engines and twenty steel ballast cars. Six of the engines are for the passenger service.

The theater excursions of the Rio Grande Western are proving very popular with Utah and Utah county people. This morning a trainload of excursionists came in from points at and between Eureka. Between 400 and 500 people were on the train.

J. O. Reber, the traveling freight and passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad, came in from an extended trip to Omaha and the East this morning.

Mr. Reber looks well after his trip, and child, a free trial of his famous home cure. It is a marvelous method, curing cases that defied hospitals, doctors, trusses, electricity and all else. Merely send your name and address and the free trial will be sent without any cost to you whatever. R. W. Yorex, a well known commercial traveler, was ruptured ten years, tried every truss on the market, partly made up his mind to undergo the danger of an operation, when by the greatest of good luck, he tried the Dr. Rice method. He is now cured.

Mr. Yorex says: "I tried Dr. Rice's method and it cured me. I did not lose a day on the road. Hundreds of merchants and friends in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa know the wonderful fact that this remarkable method cured me and I certainly feel thankful enough to tell other ruptured people how they may profit by my experience." Mr. Yorex lives in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, at 323 1/2 First Avenue.

Every ruptured person ought to send at once and make a trial of this method. It cures without pain, danger, operation or an hour's loss of time. Begin now and in a short time you will never know you had been ruptured. Write today sure.

William and Samuel Baugh, of Pocatello, Idaho, have just over the west as the Baugh Brothers are in the city. The brothers are among the heaviest cattle owners in the state. They are superintending the shipment of a trainload of stock cattle to their Idaho ranch.

Vice President Dodge, of the Rio Grande Western, accompanied by a number of railroad officials, is making a trip of inspection of the system. The party was expected in Salt Lake this morning but they will not reach the city until this evening, or perhaps tomorrow.

ARIZONA OSTRICH FARM.

Largest in the World and the Prettiest in America.

Extends Over a Square Mile of Territory and Has Six Hundred Birds.

Special Correspondence.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 22.—Ten miles westward out of the capital, is the site of the prettiest ostrich farm in the world. A square mile is divided up in pastures of four or five acres each and in runways and small pens, sunshades and plucking yards. The birds are of all ages, and in size all the way from the tiny baby birds about the size of an Aurora goat to some that can lay their heads over a three-foot fence. In color the ostriches are mostly drab, many of the males are black except some white feathers under their wings. They travel as fast as a horse, we could see them running and down a wide trodden path at a gallop that would weary an ordinary horse. As we entered the gates of the farm, Superintendent Clarmont met us and demanded 50 cents entrance fee, and a number of men with guns, claiming to be a member of the Legislature and a correspondent for the best paper in the West, all this was in vain, for said he, we don't want to be advertised, we have a corner on feathers. We saw all but a few of the birds, and produce them, in this country, and have control of all others in the United States not on this farm. It was information the writer was after and of course was not budged by so small a thing as a silly dollar. The gentleman remarked: "Do you? These birds will produce four or five settings of about fifteen eggs each year, and hatch a corresponding number of baby birds, each of immense value, aside from the two birds will produce about $50 worth of feathers, making about 30 per cent on the investment. It costs about $5 a year to keep one, they feed on green alfalfa and on hay, barley and grain. There is no expense for taking care of them, short of a sunshade in the pasture. They scratch a hole in the ground for their nest, the male sits on the eggs at night and the female during the day. The birds are plucked and clipped one pound to each bird, of choice feathers at a plucking, all of which are already sold in New York. They will sell one or two feathers to visitors, and watch carefully that you don't pick up any valuable ones. Eggs, shells, those spoiled are relieved of their contents and sold at $1 each, while you will pay from 25 cents to $1.50 for one feather. The keepers don't wait for the slow process of natural hatching, incubators are employed to hasten the increase. It is not safe to be caught in these pens, unless it is the regular keeper, we were informed that one bird would kill a man in five minutes, when angry they don't know fear, will jump and strike a man with both feet and tramp him to death.

The feather houses are divided into partitions and men are employed in separating the feathers. The large, whiter plumes bring as high as $1.50 here, and are sold in the large cities as high as $2 each. Enroute to the farm we passed by continuous succession of farms and fields, extending back on either side of the road for miles. There are many pretty farming countries about Phoenix and throughout this section is one of the prettiest countries that lies out of doors.

street. Yesterday, she said, the boxes were returned to her, but when she made an examination of them she found many articles missing. Among the things that are gone are two cases of spectacles valued at $40, two volumes of Encyclopedia and one overcoat, amounting in all to about $60.

The police have a clue as to the thieves and they are working on the case, and hope soon to recover the property.

THE FLOUR SITUATION.

Two Committeemen Agree, but Other Interests Are Still Out.

At the meeting of the Salt Lake County Millers' association last Saturday it was proposed that a committeeman from Salt Lake meet one representing the Weber county millers, and also one representing the Cache county millers, to see if some arrangement could not be suggested that would be satisfactory to all the dealers in flour. This was done this week; a committeeman representing the local association met the Ogden man and together they went to Logan. It is said by one of the most prominent local dealers when seen today that he had received advice from the Salt Lake committeeman to the effect that the Ogden representative was agreeable to several propositions that would tend to put an end to the war in prices, but that when they got to Logan the Thatcher interests would not consent to the proposals.

This local dealer further said that an agreement could be very readily arrived at if it were not for the fact that some of the dealers want to sell Cache county flour on this market, and have to undersell in order to get a foothold; consequently, will not join the others in a fixed schedule. There are three grades of flour made by all mills, and all that is necessary is to agree on a certain price for each grade and maintain that price. A settlement seems to be just as far off as ever.

VARIOUS COURT CASES.

Yesterday afternoon Edward McQueen filed a petition in the probate division of the district court, asking that William Keyting be appointed guardian of the estate of his father, ex-Sheriff William McQueen, who, on last Monday, was examined and adjudged to be insane, and later committed to the asylum at Provo. The petition sets up that Mr. McQueen has an estate valued at $1,575, consisting of the following: Fifteen thousand shares of the Ben Butler mining stock, $500 in the hands of various parties at Bingham, a lot in Ophir, $50, and some household effects. The ex-sheriff is a widower, but has three children, two daughters and a son, the latter filing the petition. The hearing was set for March 9th.

In the contest proceedings in the estate of William Turner, deceased, the widow, Jane Turner, and John M. Turner, have been appointed administrators. It will be remembered that some time ago Eda Turner Webb, a daughter, petitioned the court to be appointed administrator, but later withdrew her petition, and filed another one asking that her husband, Edward Webb, be appointed. The grounds of the petitions were that the widow did not wish to act, and the time having elapsed for her to make prior application, she had waived her right. The widow and John M. Turner filed counter petitions, protesting against Mr. Webb being appointed administrator, and asking that the widow be given first consideration. Mrs. Turner said the reason she had not acted sooner, she was informed and believed it was not necessary to prosecute the estate, as the widow had decided to let her children all of his real property. Judge Hall heard both sides in their objections, and some weeks ago took the case under advisement. Mrs. Webb and her husband yesterday withdrew their objections and consented to the widow and John M. Turner being appointed administrators, which settles the contest. The estate is valued at about $35,000 or $40,000.

INTERSTATE SHEEP WAR.

Western Range Flock Masters Build Legislative Barriers.

Utah and Idaho sheepmen are at war over the division of range territory. It looks like a movement of sheep between the two states would have to stop. A short time ago the governor of Idaho issued a proclamation excluding all Utah sheep from that State on the plea that the show of sheep were afflicted with the scab. Utah sheepmen claim that there is no scab in this State and declare that the Idaho proclamation was issued for the purpose of saving the Idaho ranges for Idaho sheepmen. The Utah Legislature will now enact a law authorizing the Governor to exclude Idaho sheep from this State, and the Governor will promptly exercise the authority. Many thousands of sheep are driven back and forth between the states, as Utah has the best winter ranges and Idaho the best summer ranges. Hereafter each State must feed its own muttons.—Denver Stockman.
