Judge Thurman Home—Judge Sam-uel R. Thurman of Thurman, Wedge-wood & Irvine, is home from Cald-well, Idaho, whither he went to de-fend Warren T. Fenn, charged with murder in the first degree. On Sept. 3 hest, Fern killed, at Narnpa, a man named Robert Klein, with whom he was working at the time. Trouble arose between the two men over Fenn's domestic affairs, and the kill-ing ensued. The trial began Monday morning, and Tuesday evening a vér-dict was roturned exonerating Fenn from the charge that had been pre-ferred against him. Immediately after being released from custody, Fenn rejoined his family at Nampa. . $ 7.50 $1200 JAMES T. The contest will be made by the Duboisites, who take the ground that because Mr. Budge is a Mormon he is not eligible to the office. H. W. Lockhart, chairman of the so-called Democratic party of Idaho, has an-nounced that a protest against Judge Budge will be forthcoming, along the lines of the challenge that was at-tempted to debar Mormons from vot-ing in the recent election. The Duboisites contend that the Church is still teaching and practising polygamy, and that there is a provi-sion in the Idaho state constitution that prohibits members of such an or-gunization from voting or holding of-fice. An injunction will be sought to prevent Judge Budge from occupying the position to which he was duly elected by an overwhelming vote, and the case will be made a test as to the status of all the Mormon voters Lake, Onelda and Bannock comprise LOT 40X107 FT. It is a thing that I hope work happen to none of you; for, gents, and the second of the contrast of the said work the had been rich, and the cere-mony was a costly one, running, well up into the hundreds. Well, gents, in the middle of the ceremony we heard inside the gold-mounted cofin a ripping sound. Scared, we opened the coffin, and there was the man, alive, tearing the white sain upholstery in despair and fear. "He had been in a fit. He hadn't been dead after all. And, if you'll believe me, he refused to pay my funeral bill-said would" pay for none. "I went to the heirs. They, in their disappointment, were sore and churlish. They were poor, they said, and their uncle was rich. It wasn't for them to pay. "In fact, though I sued the man who had come back to life. I lost my money. The judge said it wasn't the furthers, and he need'nt pay for it. There was no use suing the heirs, since they had noth-ing. I thought of suing the doctor, but him and me threw a good deal of trade in certained." SPECIAL STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.
