

Goldsmit

CREATE A STUPENDOUS SALE

The running two words will tell a tale of a (new) amazingly wonderful western-style apparel produced; one which is the latest in the clothing establishment. Every garment of our selected HIGH ART AND CUSTOM MADE Clothing, as well as every garment of our worth of clothing that can be had at any price. Here and there are separate stocks of such, light overcoats and trousers, intended for an immediate fit, for the regular customer. All made of the best materials and workmanship. All made to order. All made to measure. PROPORTIONAL FITTING CLOTHING are made of the finest materials and class of garments, manufactured for our own trade exclusively. For the next week we will give away every dollar in our inventory in Clothing, and send our progress to other the following:

DOLLARS 8.00, 10.00, 12.00 DOLLARS

Wall mounters have sold personally at $12.00, $14.00, and $16.00, made of all-wood materials; because each is a fine picture, hand-brushed, and well made up.

FOR THE MECHANIC AND THE WAGE WORKER.

DOLLARS 15.00, 18.00, 20.00 DOLLARS

We assure a solid Business or Interest, applied personally to this day to men and women. A spring of business appears to be the most rapid and successful ever known. We have no equal in the market.

FOR A BUSINESS MAN OR BANKER.

Dollars 22.00, 25.00, 27.00 Dollars

All we ask for these beautiful colors made from genuine, which retail across the country at $10.00, $12.00 and $14.00. Made exclusively by talents and cut by custom cutters. We are the only ones of garments made entirely by the hands of cutters.

FOR THE MOST FASHIONABLE OF DRESSERS.

Dollars 30.00, 30.00, 30.00 Dollars

We buy "Gowns de la Chambre" of well-known stock of "High Art Clothing". Allow us to assure you that such a garment cannot be described for "Love or Money" in any Clothing House in our country. No matter what your taste may be, we can supply you with the latest in the market. Our prices are very reasonable, and we can offer better material or a superior fitting garment than we do at the above quoted figure. Address to us for details and you will be greatly pleased.

FOR THE HIGH ART DRESSER.

15 TO 25 PER CENT OFF
BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING.
TROUSERS.

Studebaker Bros. Manfg Co.

CARRIAGE REPOSITORY.

62 & 65 Main Street, & Branch House Corner State Road & 2d South St.

THE FINEST CARRIAGE DISPLAY in the TERRITORIES!

LIGHT AND HEAVY WAGONS IN EVERY STYLE THAT IS MADE.

Vehicles for Public and Private Use in All Varieties and Prices.

ACROSS ADVERTISING.

The Whitley, Champion and Piano Harvesting Machines and Extras.

J. I. Case Threshers, Horse-Powers, Engines and Mills.

Weir, Morrison, Melki & South Bend Plows, Hay Rakes,

—TRADE ROAD CARTS AND HAYRACKS OF ALL KINDS.

We invite You to Call and See Us.

FIREWORKS and FLAGS:
Wholesale and Retail.

Books, Toys,
Stationery,
Fancy Goods,
Base Ball Masks,
Base Balls,
Ball Bats,
Pens, Inks,
Pencils.

CHEAPEST AND BEST PLACE IN TOWN!
MARGETTS BROS., 76 S. Main St., Salt Lake City.

"Early Breakfast"

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

Above cut represents our "EARLY BREAKFAST" with Six Holes and Portable Enamelled Copper Reservoir.

Heavier than the Heaviest. Better than the Best.

THE MOST COMPLETE STOVE OF THE AGE.

FAULTLESS IN EVERY RESPECT.

The Utah Stove & Hardware Co., 39 & 41 E. First South St.

Boots! Shoes! Slippers!
NO BOOM PRICES
At Solomon Bros.,
70 MAIN STREET.

Our Goods are Reduced from 10 to 15 per cent.
Don't Fail to Come and be convinced.
Call and examine the various Styles of Our Own Make and Imported.

Honest Goods! Fair Prices! Always Reliable! None Better in the Market

HOME INDUSTRY IN THE BEST OF POLICY.

A Choice Line of GROCERIES and CONFECTIONERY at 64

Main Street, as Cheap as the Cheapest. Goods Delivered Free

DESERET EVENING NEWS

Saturday, June 26, 1886.

The Old Man Changed His Views

When I was a boy I went to visit an austere old uncle of mine, who kept a country store in town. He was never known to leave his old shop to take amusement out of anything. There was a greatumbleness not in the eastward of the old store, however, but in the westward, where the old man's sons had a great time in it. It is not uncommon to see it up occasionally to make fun. When a strange darkie would come around who did not know of the town, the sons would get him into the shop, and the old man would hiss, and then quickly get out of harm's way, and watch the strange jump when the teaing him.

This trick, when successfully performed, was the very first thing that tickled old Uncle Ben, and he would watch its performance with anxiety lest it should fail, and when they return to the back part of the shop, he would exclaim that pertaining to the administration of justice. An English paper, in calling attention to the circumstances that judges in that country still wear wigs in trying cases, said that the reason for this is less ingenuity in law than in any pursuit to which men of intelligence and learning devote themselves. A hundred years ago the men of all professions were very much outside a court room. Our judges do not wear wigs, but they hold fast to practices that have long been abandoned in Great Britain. Trials here are more longer than there, and many more agreeable, though courts is not always now only self-sustaining, but sources of revenue, while the maintenance of our courts imposes a heavy burden on the people.—Olcott.

Old Uncle Ben retired to the old house, as usual, without giving any sign of his smart, and followed him to see his wife shake with laughter. There was no shade this time, however. The old man's sons had a great time, too, you can see it out into the back yard and get me a lump of cold, wet clay from the well." I did so, and he sent me away again, saying that he wanted me to stay up till the old man's sons came home, and when they did, he would tell them all about his shiner.

That day the boys found a man prancing about, and were preparing to play the trick on him when Uncle Ben shouted, "Now then, you lazy rascals, I won't have you driving my son crazy any more. The first boy touches that nose! but will give a kick over his back!" And the boys never could understand what caused the old man to change his mind so suddenly about a trick that had annoyed him so many times.—Chicago Herald.

A Problem in Shoe Blacking.

Around on Washington Street, near the last house, stood a small wooden shiner and shone a brilliant and artistic manner. Yesterday morning his chair was approached by two men who wore wooden legs also. One of them took a position in front of the shiner, and the other sat behind him. Then the shiner put up his single shoe and had it polished. Between the two subjects these were but two shins, and when the second man gained his立足点, he said, "I will give it to you for this; it is on me." The one-legged shiner took the coin and regarded the other two ones legged not magnificently. "Well," said the man who had volunteered to pay the bill, "you are a good shiner. You charge a nickel for a shine and here are two of us with one shoe each. You should know how it is yourself." The one-legged shiner pocketed the nickel, kissed his hand to the other two cripples, and they went their way.—Chicago Herald.

3 Man with a Lariat.

The regulation Turkish women consist of twenty or thirty wool quilts laid on top of each other on the floor, covered with silken sheets. The bed rooms have three divans, and the female servants sleep on these. Between the two divans, a few large campion wood trucks shodded with brass balls fall all the furniture. The bedding is put in closets during the day.

In the morning they rise early and dull from the bed and from the floor even though their hair certainly not if they are going to the bath. They lounge about, eat, smoke, gaze, quaff a little sometimes and embroil; nothing to pass the time.

What's the master with that? What are you going to do next? said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of place, considering the occasion; "maybe it would take a dozen men such as we are, it will only take one hour, and they will be off."

As hard as this he pointed to his steel, which had hitherto stood motionless, watching the movements of his master with evident interest. Without more ado he sprang forward, and clutching both ends of the lariat, he flung it over the shoulder. Having accomplished this the dragoon paused, and looked up at the astonished major official as much as he could.

"What's the master with that?"

What are you going to do next?" said the thoughtless.

"Do, Why, I'm going to pull him out."

Well, you might as well give it that life," returned the deputy, "I would take half a dozen men like to pull that man out."

"Man, I'll pull him out," replied the dragoon, with a chuckle that was certainly a little out of