

WILL COST THE SUM OF $25,000.

Fee Secretary of State's Office
Receives for Filing U. P.
Amendment.

SIMILAR SUM PAID BEFORE.

Benefit of Law Changing Cost of Articles of Incorporation—Starting Figures.

With the filing of the amendment to the articles of incorporation of the Union Pacific Railroad company, made at the directors' meeting yesterday, increasing the capital stock $100,000,000, the secretary of state will have received in fees from the company over $25,000 since the filing of the original articles on July 1, 1897.

It is expected that the amendment will be filed this afternoon or Monday. As fees for filing the same, Secretary of State Tingey will receive for the state the sum of $25,000. When the original articles were filed on the date mentioned above the maximum fee at that time, according to law, was $2,500. The company then paid the $2,500 and also $5 for a certificate and copies.

The original capital stock of the company was $100,000,000. On Jan. 19, 1897, it increased its capital stock to $163,400,000, and for filing that amendment the law only provided for the collection of a fee of $5. Another amendment was made on Oct. 9, 1899, increasing the capital stock to $196,175,000, and for filing that only $5 was paid.

On March 23, 1901, the company increased its capital to $296,175,000, and for filing that amendment, under a new law which was then effective, the state received the largest fee ever collected from one company, namely, $25,000. The amendment which was made yesterday increases the capital to $396,175,000, and the fee for filing the amendment will run just $5 under that paid for the amendment of 1901.

SALT LAKE ENTERPRISE.

This is a true story regarding an enterprising young newspaperman of this city who was bent on securing the country on the Union Pacific meeting here yesterday afternoon.

For three days prior to the meeting every special correspondent, the managers of the various press associations, the local telegraph company managers and several stock brokers and bankers had been inundated with wires for inside tips regarding the $100,000,000 issue of the Union Pacific. The burden of the refrain was "find out how, and for what purpose, the money is to be spent." All kinds of stories were afloat from the church of the Chicago & Northwestern to the floating of a new paper that would disrupt present conditions west of the river. All kinds of tales and schemes were resorted to and in on the inside, but actual Judge Kelly, chief counsel of the Union Pacific, and W. D. Cornish, the dignified and courteous representative of B. H. Hartman, professor of the profound ignorance. To the "News" Mr. Cornish confided when asked that it was "just a little spending money, I guess," and that he smiled at his witless.

SUIT AGAINST RIO GRANDE.

Jane H. Evans Wants Company Rejoined From Laying Another Track.

An injunction suit was filed in the district court this afternoon by Jane Evans against the Rio Grande Western Railway company to restrain said company from constructing another track on South Temple and Sixth West streets. The company has commenced a spur on that corner which will connect its tracks with the Salt Lake and it is alleged that the said spur will run within 20 feet of plaintiff's premises and will destroy the value of her property for residence purposes and will prevent her from having free and unobstructed ingress and egress to the same. She therefore asks for an injunction to prevent the construction of the track. A temporary restraining order was issued in the case this afternoon by Judge Aloraz.

Semblich's Husband Not Dead.

Berlin, May 6.—There is some mystification about the reported death of William Semblich, the husband of Marie Semblich, the singer, who was said to have died here yesterday as the result of an operation. The latter is said to have been a passenger on board the Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland, which left New York April 27 and arrived at Hamburg May 4. Inquiries are being made at Dresden, Saxony, where Alms Semblich is due to arrive today.

lapse of decades the old bitterness had been lost in the historic past; that all causes of difficulty had vanished and that there had emerged slowly but surely a feeling of common brotherhood, the surest prospect, he ventured to think, of international peace and progress. In conclusion Mr. Balfour said that his farewell to Mr. Choate was not formal and official but came from the heart.

On rising Mr. Choate was greeted with rounds of applause. He spoke of his long and pleasant stay in this city, and of the friendly reception which he had received. He said that he was homesick and glad to be returning to his native land, where old friends were waiting for him. He said that he was not leaving without a new sense of having been here.
