LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY

A PRETTY PET.-The Chicago Times peaks of the smallpox as "our pet conta gion." There is no accounting for tastes.

WHAT THEY WISH.-One of the pieces of sensationalism recently sent from this city over the wires runs as follows-

"As they wish the laws sustained, Bates" removal would be particularly gratifying to the loyal citizens."

MCKEAN'S COURTS.-The following came among our dispatches from the East this appointed Secretary. morning-

"CHICAGO, 15 .- The Tribune's Washington special has the following items-

"The President has suspended the removal of District Attorney Bates till the result of the case now pending in the Supreme Court regarding the courts in Utah is known. It is now believed that the decision of the court will virtually declare that for a year, under McKean, no defendant has been brought into a court legally formed."

EXPEDITION TO DEATH VALLEY.-An expedition started a few days ago for Death valley in search of the rich silver ledges discovered there, but which were abandoned on account of the dying of the stock accompanying the discoverers. The party is headed by Captain Frink, of San Bernardino, well known as the business manager of the Vulture mine, at Wickenburg, a man of indomitable energy. Captain Frink has in his possession a diary kept by a member of the original party that discovered the ledge, on which is given a detailed description of the route thither. The diary was sent to him from Maine for the special purpose of being used in finding traces of the old mine, the ore that was obtained from it being of fabulous richness. There is every reason to believe that the present expedition will succeed in its object .- Los Angeles News February 18th. MEETING OF ELECTORS .- We have received the following report from Mr. W. H. Dusenberry, Provo, under date of the simply to avoid a paraphrase-when a 12th inst: A meeting of the electors of Utah County, convened in the Court House at 5 p.m. to-day, agreeable to public notice, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the coming election. A WIDE DIFFERENCE .- While pluralism is the common law of the Latter day Saints, the proportion of practical pluralists among them is said to be not more than one in three or four. While pluralism is outlawed among us of the earlier dispensation, the proportion of practical pluralists is a thing we shall be compelled to permit every one to estimate for himself. THE RELIGIOUS ELEMENT. -- The Cincinnati Times has the following-

"WASHINGTON, March 11.-Utah District Attorney Bates declines to tender his resignation, as requested. He alleges that the Attorney-General and all the members of the Senate Committee on Judiciary support his course, and that the President has yielded to the solicitations of Rev. Dr. Newman, who charges that he (Bates) is not working in the interests of the religious element of the country on the Mormon resist temptation, the world has lived long spectators present: enough to have learned that the most potent things in their dominion over men are their "weaknesses."

When a Latter-day Saint becomes erotically inclined toward one of the other sex, he marries her; takes her to his bosom and his household; gives her a local habitation and a name; insures-as far as is consistent with transitory human things-her fortune, and places her upon equal terms among the reputable matrons of the land. Ought not these have had the impudence to put themselves and their customs in such inconvenient contrast with us Christians-and ours; ought they not to be exterminated? We have grown indignant and ferocious towards dogs judicial and legislative upon them; and if he can find a meaner man than the one he has now got to do the worrying let him be dispatched at once, with an army to clear away the snow before him, and an accident insurance policy sealed to his commission.-Washington Capital.
