

ROBERTS' TRIAL QUICKLY ENDED.

Jury Finds the Defendant Guilty on an Agreed Statement.

LEGAL RIGHTS ARE SAVED.

Validity of Information to be Tested in Supreme Court—Jury Took Three Ballots to Decide.

For the purpose of saving the defendant's legal rights, and in order to test the question as to the validity of the information, charging B. H. Roberts with the offense of unlawful cohabitation, in the State Supreme Court, Attorney James H. Moyle, as counsel for the accused, made no contest today, and the case was again submitted to the jury upon an agreed statement of facts. Fifteen minutes later a verdict of guilty as charged, was returned. Sentence was set for 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The proceedings did not begin until nearly 11 o'clock, and inside of forty minutes had concluded.

For fully an hour after court convened Mr. Moyle and County Attorney Putnam were in consultation with each other in Judge Norrell's private chambers. After the attorneys had emerged from the judge's apartments, the services of stenographer Miller were brought into requisition, and a few minutes later both sides announced to the court that they were ready.

"Call a jury," Mr. Clerk said. Judge Norrell, and Clerk Rawlins called out the following names: Christopher Diehl, Robert Dye, Charles M. Lee, M. Kopp, William Brooker, James Taylor, Reuben Gardner and John M. Redmond. Each juror responded and all were sworn to answer questions touching their competency to sit in the case, with the exception of Mr. Kopp, who objected to being sworn and took advantage of his constitutional right to affirm.

"We waive the examination of the jurors," said Mr. Moyle, when Mr. Putnam asked each of the eight if he would return a verdict of guilty, providing in his judgment the evidence was sufficient to justify the verdict. Each juror answered in the affirmative and the eight were sworn to try the case. Clerk Rawlins then read the information, to which Mr. Moyle objected and the grounds already stated. The objections were overruled and an exception taken, when Mr. Moyle read to the court and jury the following agreed statement of facts.

The defendant married Dr. Margaret Shipp Roberts a number of years ago as a plural wife. The relationship has never been severed and he still recognizes her as such. During the time charged in the information, she has borne his name publicly with his consent and knowledge and has been generally reputed, among their neighbors and acquaintances, to be his wife. He has visited at her house when in Salt Lake City, has eaten meals there, and has introduced her on at least three occasions either as his wife or as Mrs. Roberts to different persons. Two of these occasions were on railroad trains. They have gone to places of amusement and resort together and have associated together in public. When ill in bed on one occasion, he stayed at her house and was nursed and treated by her. During the time charged in the information, he was also living and cohabiting with his legal wife, Sarah Louisa Roberts, in Davis county. Dr. Margaret Shipp Roberts, during all the time charged in the information, resided in Salt Lake county and the facts above stated as to Mr. Roberts' relations with her all occurred in Salt Lake county except the two introductions on the railroad train.

NO ARGUMENTS.

After the reading of the statement both sides rested. Mr. Putnam said he did not care to make any arguments. Mr. Moyle, however, briefly addressed the jury and in conclusion said, "Without waiving any of our rights in this case, gentlemen we don't exact from you a verdict of acquittal."

CHARGES THE JURY.

At 11:15 the court charged the jury. In exactly the same language used at the former trial, when the jurors disagreed, and at 11:25 they were taken in charge of by Deputy Sheriff Dwyer. Mr. Moyle said so far as he was concerned the jury could return its verdict without leaving the box. The court had no objections, neither had Mr. Putnam, and the majority of the jurors acted as though they preferred to remain where they were. Juror Kopp, however, was seen to shake his head when spoken to by Juror Diehl, and then the next thing the jurors were seen to leave the box. They were out about fifteen minutes. The verdict, signed by Christopher Diehl, foreman, read as follows: "We, the jurors, find the defendant, Brigham H. Roberts, guilty of unlawful cohabitation as charged."

"Is that the verdict you all, gentlemen?" asked Clerk Rawlins.

"Yes sir," was the reply of all.

SENTENCED SATURDAY.

The court then discharged the jurors, and ordered the defendant to appear in court at 10 o'clock Saturday morning for sentence.

THREE BALLOTS TAKEN.

It was learned that three ballots were taken by the jury, the first of which stood six for conviction and two for acquittal. The two standing out for acquittal are understood to be Messrs. Redmond and Kopp, a "Mormon" and non-Mormon. The second ballot stood seven to one for conviction, Mr. Kopp being the odd one. Before the third ballot was taken there was considerable talk indulged in, and the next vote was unanimous for conviction.

ARRAY OF WITNESSES.

Following were the witnesses in attendance: John A. Grossbeck Jr., Mrs. John A. Grossbeck Jr., H. S. Beattie, Mrs. H. S. Beattie, Dr. Margaret C. Shipp Roberts, Mrs. Julie H. Allen, Milton Allen, Miss Allen, Mrs. May Snell, H. B. Clawson, Mrs. Margaret Clawson, F. D. Taylor, Mrs. F. D. Taylor, Thomas J. Brandon, E. A. McDaniel, and Rev. S. E. Wishard. Mrs. Detta Neville was wanted by the prosecution, but Mr. Putnam informed the court the witness could not be found.

ALL GET THEIR FEES.

A number of the witnesses were fearful they would not get their fees, so they had not been sworn to testify in the case. Mr. Putnam was appealed to and assured them that they would get just as much for saying nothing, as for telling all they knew.

Clerk Miller then made out the witnesses' certificates, and court adjourned until Saturday morning.

The jury was composed of four "Mormons" and four non-Mormons.

WARM JUNE WEATHER.

Today Came Near Being a Regular Record Breaker.

Twenty-Three Degrees Warmer Than a Year Ago—Cooler Weather Predicted by Director Murdoch.

The heat during the past three days has been almost unprecedented for this time of the year, and this afternoon it was well high protruding, the thermometer standing at 94 in the shade, with scarcely a breeze during the whole day. Last night was exceedingly warm, too, the lowest point reached by the mercury being 68 at 6 o'clock this morning. It was somewhat cooler this morning, the government thermometer registering 91 at 11:30.

This afternoon the thermometer took a sudden jump, going up to 98, which is within two degrees of the highest point ever reached here in June.

Director Murdoch predicts colder weather tomorrow.

The highest temperature ever recorded in Utah in June was in 1889, when it reached 100. In 1883 it reached 98, which was the second highest, so it will be seen that yesterday's mark was well along towards the record.

This hot weather is bringing the average up with a jump and the excess of temperature since January 1st is now 782 degrees, or more than 4.5 degrees excess for each day of 1900.

A year ago today the thermometer registered 73, fully 25 degrees lower than it has been this afternoon.

AT THE SAUCER TRACK.

Great Program Has Been Arranged for Tomorrow Night.

The Salt Palace management has arranged a program of unusual merit for tomorrow night at the saucer track. Among the events will be a mile tandem handicap for professionals, with prizes of $50, $30, $15 and $5. The entries are J. M. Chapman and Iver Lawson; Clem Turville and Gus Lawson; Wm. Vaughn and John Lawson; J. W. Ensign and J. H. Edmonds; O. E. Emery and George Chaffee; W. W. Caine, Jr., and Ben Green.

The professionals will also run a half mile open for prizes of $25, $15, $10 and $5, the entries including A. W. Smith, Samuelsen, Luther Woolley, Monklin, Liddy Hegran, Conner, Guthrie, Munson, Allen, Graves, King, Cope, Williams, Bambridge, Morris, Beck, Hodgson and Parkes.

UTAH DELEGATES PROUD.

Say the Philadelphia Presidential Ticket is Inevitable.

(SPECIAL TO THE "NEWS.")

Convention Hall, Philadelphia, June 21.—Governor Wells marched with New Jersey about the convention when McKinley was nominated, and Senators Shoup and Carter of Montana went up and down the aisle arm in arm.

The Utah delegates are proud of the ticket and agree that it will be inevitable in the Intermountain region. McKinley for the prosperity he has produced and Roosevelt because the splendid manhood and Americanism which found expression at San Juan hill and in the State of New York were developed in the West.

State Chairman Walton has gone to Maine, and many of the Utah people will leave on evening trains for home and for New York.

BIG BANQUET OF ALUMNIS.

Pleasant Commingling of Beauty,
Brilliance and Festival Feeling.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

Happy Toasts and Responses—Governor Wells' Address Read by Vice-President Ann Cannon.

Few evenings in the history of the University have been more brilliant than the scene at the annual banquet of the Alumni association held there last night.

The committee in charge had provided seats for 320 at the banquet tables, but the rush of people who came in at night without having previously notified the committee of their acceptance of the invitation, threatened for a time to overwhelm the arrangements, but finally by making the utmost of the space all were seated, and at 10 o'clock the big banquet began. The tables were spread in the largest room in the building on the top floor. There were five long tables running the entire length of the room.

Overhead was spread a huge canopy made up of the national colors, while the white flag of the class of 1900 stood at the head of the hall, over the position occupied by the president of the association and the toastmaster. In various parts of the room were big bouquets and flags designating the location of many of the old classes which attended the banquet in a body. It was the fourteenth annual reunion, but it was estimated by the committee that there were representatives from the classes of 35 years in attendance. Among other guests noted were Miss Sadie American, accompanied by Mrs. Bamberger; Bishop and Mrs. Leonard, Judge Booth, from Provo, and Judge Hart from Logan. President Kingsbury and all the faculty were present, and the guests were represented by Hon. W. E. Ritter, Waldemar Van Cott, Mrs. R. E. Little and Mrs. McVicker. From 20 to 30 young ladies attired in white, attended to the wants of the guests.

The scene was a picture of beauty, when the vice president, Miss Ann Cannon, called the assemblage to order and asked Bishop Leonard to say grace. The bishop responded in a feeling manner, asking the divine blessing upon the University and upon all similar institutions of learning. Miss Cannon then read the address of Gov. Wells, president of the association, which had been mailed from Chicago, also a telegram forwarded from Philadelphia in which he sent greetings to the Alumni. The governor's address was written in his usual happy vein and was heartily applauded at the conclusion. The closing paragraph introduced the toastmaster, Mr. Horace G. Whitely, who was referred to as being as good a newspaper man as "his old man-sake, Horace Greeley." Mr. Whitely followed with a brief address, which was warmly applauded, and he then introduced the various speakers in their order.

Mrs. Sarah Vincent Stewart responded to the toast on "The Old Home," her effort being written entirely in rhyme. It was an admirable recollection of the old days of the University with many feeling and humorous references to the professors and prominent pupils of the old days.

Judge Kingsbury followed with a reminiscence of the old days of the University with many feeling and humorous references to the professors and prominent pupils of the old days.

William M. Allison, of Ogden, spoke on the toast of "The Ladies in Happy and Gallant Fashion."

Hon. D. C. Dunbar made a feeling and thoughtful address on the subject of "The Regents," referring to the arduous work of the officers of the University had performed in the past, and to the high condition to which they have brought the University today.

Thos. McKay of Huntsville, spoke on "Our Athletics," and made a donation in favor of the subject of "The Paucity of the University." He read an appeal for financial aid from the Athletic association.

The toastmaster gave an elaborate introduction to R. W. Sloan, who was also the subject of "The Paucity of the University." It turned out, however, that the gentleman was not present, and the toastmaster called on another old alumnus, Mr. Brigham S. Young, who handled the subject in a highly humorous manner, especially to Mr. Park, the mention of whose name was applauded.

Prof. J. B. Toronto, whom he described as the link connecting the University of old days to the institution of today.

After the banquet, which did not end till near midnight, the assemblage adjourned out of doors, where dancing was indulged in until a late hour. The arrangement of the banquet was the hands of Miss Lucy Van Cott, Miss Rachel Edwards and Miss Edna Sloan, and the admirable way in which it went off, reflected great credit upon those ladies and the others of the business committee.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

A delightful lake party was given yesterday in honor of Miss Sadie American and the Council of Jewish Women of Salt Lake by Mrs. Minnie J. Snow, Mrs. E. B. Wells, Mrs. Susan Y. Gates and others. Besides these a number of prominent local club women were present as guests.

The party went out at 2:15 in a special car tendered by Mrs. Minnie J. Snow, and after enjoying a bath in the lake, a delicious luncheon was served, the repast being enlivened with a number of happy speeches in response to toasts. Mrs. Susan Y. Gates filled the position of toastmaster, and her performance of her part of the pleasant function elicited the admiration of all present.

Mrs. E. B. Wells was the first speaker, responding to the toast, "Women of the Far West." Miss American followed with "Women of the Far East," Miss Rose Golding, "Old Hopes, Old Friends and Old Ties," Mrs. Simon Bamberger, "Friendship's Ties," Mrs. W. C. Jennings, "Hopes Realized," Mrs. Emmet J. McVicker, "The Link Between the Home and the World," Mrs. Almee Schiller, "The Twentieth Century Woman," Mrs. Minnie J. Snow, "Speed the Parting Guest."

SUPERIOR MERIT. Remarkable Curative Properties of a Remedy for Indigestion and Stomach Weakness.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a preparation for the cure of dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion and stomach trouble, owes its great success as a cure for these troubles to the fact that it is prepared for disease and weakness of the stomach and digestive organs only, and is not recommended or advised for any other disease.

It is not a cure-all, but for any stomach trouble it is undoubtedly the safest, thereby resting and invigorating the weak stomach, rest is nature's cure for any disease, but you cannot rest the stomach unless you put into it something that will do its work or assist in the digestion of food.

That is exactly what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do. One grain of the digestive principle contained in them will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs or similar wholesome foods, they will digest the food whether the stomach is working order or not, thereby nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time and rest and nourishment is nature's cure for any weakness.

In persons run down in flesh and appetite these tablets build up the strength and increase flesh, because they digest flesh-forming food which the weak stomach cannot do, they increase the flow of gastric juice and prevent fermentation, acidity and sour watery risings.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found at all drug stores at 50 cents per package.

M. Bamberger attended the alumni banquet at the University.

Miss American left this morning for San Rafael, Cal., where she will spend the summer.

In the fall she will go on a lecturing tour under the auspices of Dr. Rudolph's Lyceum Bureau.

CULMER-JENNINGS CASE

Paving Suit Against City Called for Trial Today.

Hard Work Experienced in Securing a Jury—Claim and Counter-Claim.

The case of the Culmer-Jennings Paving company against Salt Lake City was called for trial in the law department of the Third district court today.

The action is to recover the sum of $4,644.13, representing the ten per cent withheld by the city, on the ground that the laying of the pavement on East Temple and First and Second South streets, was not of a satisfactory nature and was not kept in good repair according to the terms of the contract.

The city has a counter-claim of $15,000 against the plaintiffs.

Quite a little trouble is being experienced in securing a jury satisfactory to both sides, necessitating the issuance of a special venire this afternoon calling for ten more jurors.

Judge Howatt appears for plaintiffs and City Attorney Stephens and his assistant, Mr. C. B. Stewart, represent the city.

Will Held to be Good.

Hearing on the petition of Kate Woodmansee for the removal of the will of her mother, Sarah Jane Woodmansee, on the ground of undue influence having been brought to bear upon the deceased, during her life time by David L. Woodmansee, was concluded before Judge Hiles yesterday afternoon, the court deciding the will should stand. John H. Woodmansee was accordingly appointed administrator of his deceased mother's estate.

Blown Up With Giant Powder.

Gunnison, Colo., June 21.—The Colorado and Southern Railroad Co.'s iron bridge across the Gunnison river, two and one half miles above this town, was wrecked by an explosion of giant powder early this morning. The explosion is believed to have been caused by sympathizers with the strikers at the coal mines to prevent the running of trains to the mines.

WAS A CYCLONE OF ENTHUSIASM AT PHILADELPHIA.

not second to that accorded to the President's train.

The vast assemblage sprang to its feet, and State emblems, plumes, handkerchiefs and hats fairly filled the air. The band in the main gallery began to play "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight," and to the inspiring strains the delegates began marching around the hall, filing past Gov. Roosevelt as he sat in the New York delegation, and extending to him their congratulations.

ROSES FROM UTAH'S WOMAN DELEGATE.

In the procession of standard bearers who filed past Gov. Roosevelt was one woman from the Utah delegation who presented him with a big bunch of roses, for which Gov. Roosevelt returned a profound bow.

Several of the Kansas delegates removed their beautiful silk sunflower badges and threw them upon Gov. Roosevelt during the march of the delegates. It was an inspiring demonstration. Mrs. Roosevelt looked down upon it from her position of vantage in the side gallery. She was pale as paper but appeared smiling and happy. The demonstration continued for six minutes and forty seconds, during which time Gov. Roosevelt received the congratulations of his friends, looking the while like a bronze statue, so imperturbable was he.

RECORDING SPEECHES.

The delegates still choked the aisles, grasping the governor's hands and with difficulty the chairman restored quiet and recognized Butler Murray, of Massachusetts, for a speech seconding the nomination of Roosevelt. He spoke in behalf of "Old New England," and his vigorous sentences elicited another demonstration of the Rough Rider candidates.

After the speech of Mr. Murray of Massachusetts Gen. James M. Ashton, of Washington, was recognized, and he also seconded the nomination of Roosevelt.

"Depew, Depew," demanded the delegates in tumultuous chorus, and as they called, the well known face and figure of the New York senator emerged from his delegation. Governor Roosevelt himself, taking him by the arm and urging him forward to the platform.

DEPEW AND TEDDY.

The benign face of the post prandial orator looked down and with his musical voice he began a magnificent and impromptu tribute to the hero of the hour. He was in good humor as well as good voice, and his touch of jocosity in referring to "Teddy" and the "Get there" qualities of young America, brought out a storm of mingled laughter and applause. He pictured "Teddy" as the child of the Avenue, the cultured product of Harvard, the cowboy of the plains, the vitalizing force in marshaling the American ships to overwhelm the Spaniards, the impetuous leader at Santiago and San Juan, and the idealized governor of the Empire state. He referred to the "Dude" becoming a "Cowboy," the "Cowboy" becoming a soldier, the soldier becoming a hero and the hero, blade in hand, in the press of battle shouting: "Give 'em hell, boys."

CHAUNCEY PAINTS BRYAN.

When Depew sought to close there were demands to "go on" and yielding to the clamor, he proceeded, dealing with the glorious record of the party. His sarcastic reference to the Kansas City convention and to George Washington Aquilino brought him round after round of applause. He spoke of the "trust oratory," sure to be heard from the Bryan cohorts at Kansas City, and declared that when the hurrahs for the trust orators died away in the convention it would be found that the ice pitchers had broken through the force of the ice trust ingredients within them.

Mr. Depew told a story, a good one, he said, which had for its moral the fact that Bryan had been "Body snatching," reviving the corpse of free silver at 16 to 1.

Turning from humorous to serious themes the orator recounted the glories of the admirable administration of the two such incomparable leaders, McKinley and Roosevelt.
