GOSHEN, UTAH CO., Dec. 20, 1872.
Editor Deseret News:

This morning I find myself at Goshen, an unpretentious burgh, though with ancient name, situated south-west of Utah Lake, and sometimes called Newton. Many of the citizens now, though anxious a few years since to have the latter name substituted for the former, as being more euphonious, and appropriate too, after the removal of the town a short distance to a new and better site, are now quite as desirous of having it retain its ancient name, in consequence of certain mail matter at sundry times having strayed to Newton, Cache Co., instead of coming direct to this place.

The citizens of Goshen have lately been put in possession of facts sufficient to make up a good romance from, in the actions of a certain erratic and amorous school teacher. A few months since a stranger, a middle aged man, presented himself here as a candidate for the office of preceptor, gave his name as Charles A. Wallace, represented that he had been a member of the Church thirty five years, had lived a number of years at Evanston, was a widower and had a considerable amount of money in a bank in Salt Lake City. Besides this, he produced credentials of character purporting to have been written by a bishop of some place where he had formerly resided. As a result he was readily installed as teacher of the Goshen day and Sabbath school, and with some of the citizens became quite popular. He tired ere long of the monotonous duties of country pedagogy and his amorous heart could no longer brook a life of single blessedness. Among his pupils was a confiding and unsophisticated Danish girl of fourteen years, whom he soon inspired with an idea of his vast wealth, and the pair were soon wending their way to Salt Lake City, with the intention, as he avowed to her parents before starting, of being married there. As they traveled, his amorous propensities became stronger, and on reaching Payson, a Justice of the Peace there was induced to tie the knot. The child was in such blissful ignorance of what the ceremony meant, that she was not aware that she was really married until her more experienced mate afterwards informed her that such was the case. They proceeded on to Salt Lake City, put up at the American Hotel, contracted a bill for board and lodging of upwards of $40, left without paying it, returned to Goshen, fancied the citizens there had not sufficient confidence in him—perhaps that they had learned something of his real character—accounted for his impecunious condition by saying that he had been cheated out of his money deposited in the bank, removed to Ephraim, Sanpete county, obtained the situation of school-teacher there, contracted debts for board, store goods, house furnishings, etc., got wind that his meanness was being found out and suddenly decamped, a short time since, for parts unknown, leaving his wife to shift for herself. His father-in-law, on learning of his last move, went from this place to Ephraim, and brought his daughter back here, a wiser—perhaps a sadder girl. It is very likely this same individual is at present in some settlement of the Territory, imposing upon the incredulous, and making new conquests under a new name. It is not probable that he will return to his old haunts. The public should be on their guard against harboring such a person.

Respectfully,
GEO. C. LAMBERT.

BY TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON, 19.—A committee of five from the New Orleans delegation had four hours consultation with the Attorney General to-day. The delegation will meet the President at three o'clock.

NEW YORK, 19.—The great sensation on Wall street was the settlement of the Erie suits against Jay Gould, who delivers to the company securities of various kinds at par value, nine million dollars worth; at the market price, over seven millions. One condition of the settlement is said to be to have the first market bid for two hundred thousand shares of Erie stock here and in London, which he is believed to control.

The failure of Dimmock, Myers & Co., and Robert Baile was announced in the gold room.

WASHINGTON, 19.—The President has nominated General McArthur postmaster at Chicago.

NEW YORK, 19.—The terms of settlement with Jay Gould include the transfer of 60,000 shares of the Erie stock, the grand opera house, and a number of lots of valuable land, amounting fully to seven millions of dollars at current values. It is stated that before the thing was consummated Gould was allowed to pick up all the Erie shares he possibly could here and at London, and is now owner of something like two hundred thousand shares. He expects to make more money than he surrendered to the company. The statement was confirmed by Gould himself this afternoon, who also said there was an understanding that he was to be consulted on matters of importance in connection with the business of the road. He thinks the arrangements now made will enable the company to lay a third rail on the Erie road, and make an alliance with the Lake Shore railroad. He also stated on other authority that the money derived from the sale of these securities would be used in laying a third rail, whereby the narrow gauge roads of the west may have another outlet to New York without breaking bulk. It is reported that Gould will throw his influence on the northwest company in favor of bringing its traffic over the Erie, when the third rail is laid. There is a large short interest in the Erie shares. It is suspected Gould will work Erie like the northwest common, and eventually twist the operations on the bear side. It is also said that the claim of the Erie railway against Gould was reduced some six hundred and fifty thousand on the discovery that he had turned over that sum, the proceeds of thirty thousand shares of Erie stock, to the company. The entry did not appear in its proper place in the Erie books, but was at length discovered and allowed. S. L. M. Barlow stated that the property surrendered by Gould was estimated to be of an actual cash value from six to seven million, worth to the Erie company the full amount of the claim. The securities were to be delivered to-day. Barlow said Gould received no equivalent whatever, except the abandonment of the claim against him by the company. Various opinions are given as to causes which led to Gould's surrender, some believing he had no other resource, others that it is part of a deeply laid plan to regain some of his lost influence over the Erie road. Friends of the road declare that the semi-annual dividend on preferred stock will be paid as usual.

WASHINGTON, 19.—The Senate has confirmed the following nominations: James H. Burdick, Marshal for Dakota; William Prund, Attorney for Dakota; Chauncey N. Notewea, Coiner branch mint, Carson City, Nevada.

MONTGOMERY.—The Senate yesterday organized permanently, and elected Democratic officers. In the House the Republicans would not permit the journal to be read.

NEW YORK, 19.—Nine jurors have been obtained in the Stokes case.

The foreclosure suit brought against the Grand Opera House is to collect the balances of a hundred thousand dollars due November 1st, with interest from August 7th, and is in the name of Ellen M. Pike, holder of the mortgages. It was brought before the death of S. N. Pike, her husband. The mortgage is not connected with the Pike estate, as the property therein belongs to Mrs. Pike solely.

BOSTON.—The Board of Aldermen have accepted the legislative acts empowering the city to issue fire bonds to the amount of $20,000,000.

BALTIMORE, 19.—In the case of Gen. Stanton, late collector of internal revenue, for embezzlement of Government funds, the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

WASHINGTON.—At an interview between the Louisiana committee and the President, Judge Campbell asked the latter to send to New Orleans three impartial, learned, and just men, to make full inquiry and take testimony. The President said he supposed it was competent for the Supreme Court to designate one of its members to proceed to Louisiana, but he did not think it quite proper for him to make the request of them. Congress had power to investigate facts in the case presented, but he did not propose to interfere with local affairs in that State by putting one set of officers or another in power. No action was taken by the administration until the decree of the United States Court was attempted to be set aside or resisted by the last Governor of the State. Then the marshal was simply instructed to see that the decree of the federal court was sustained and military forces were to be used if necessary in support of federal authority.
